Yes, CLOTH window shades save you money every time! Only a CLOTH window shade — with a backbone of tough, firmly woven cotton fabric — can withstand countless thousands of rollings and unrollings through the years without stretching, curling, shrinking or sagging out of shape. Window shades of substitute materials get shabby and misshapen in just a few short months. Come in soon and we'll show you why — with our Quality Demonstrator that tears window shades "inside out."

Water Accidents Cause 156 Deaths During Past Year

Water accidents caused 156 deaths in Minnesota last year, according to the section of vital statistics, state department of health. Ninety-one of these deaths resulted from swimming accidents and such mishaps as falling from docks into the water. The remainder were caused by boating accidents. Almost two out of every five of these fatalities occurred among children less than 15 years old

"Each summer, accidents of all kinds claim the lives of many children in the state," Dr. A. B. Rosenfield, chief of the section of maternal and child health, said. "The prevention of water accidents includes the use of soundly constructed boats, the use of lights when boating after dark, and the avoidance of unnecessary moving about in boats, and overloading boats. Other preventive measures are learning to swim properly under instruction, waiting at least an hour after eating before swimming, and never diving in the dark."

The National Safety Council pointed out the dangers to children of playing in unauthorized areas. Among such areas the Council listed mines and open pits, construction work and industrial property, empty houses, quarries, dumps and junk yards, highways and streets, waterfronts, and railroad property. Every year in the U. S. approximately 150 children are killed while trespassing on railroad property.

Sales of Savings Bonds Increasing

Sales Total $7,000,000 in State During April

Sales of U. S. Savings Bonds in Minnesota in April continued to show gains over a year ago. Sales of Series E and H bonds during the month amounted to more than $7 million, bringing the total for 1954 to date up to $32 million as compared to $25½ million for the same period a year ago, an increase of 25 per cent.

Minnesota has now reached 34.3 per cent of its $93,800,000 quota.

Forty-seven counties and seven of the ten districts in the state have reached or exceeded one-third of their sales goal with one-third of the year gone.

Chisago county continued to lead all counties in sales performance with 64.6 per cent attainment. Kittson county with 59.7 per cent and Rock county with 56.1 per cent were in second and third positions. District 8 made up of Blue Earth, Brown, Cottonwood, Faribault, Jackson, Martin, Redwood and Watonwan counties led all other districts with 51 per cent attainment.

J. M. Roche, county bond committee chairman, reports April sales of $18,715 for Pennington county. The total for 1954 to date amounts to $65,568 or 21.2 per cent of quota. Sales for the same period last year were $61,140.

At a state conference of district and county savings bonds chairmen held in Minneapolis earlier this month, Henry S. Kingman, president of the Farmers & Mechanics Savings Bank of Minneapolis, was introduced as chairman of the Minnesota advisory committee succeeding J. C. Cornelius who served in that capacity since 1950. In his remarks, Mr. Kingman called upon all county committees to put forth extra effort in order to make all quotas by December 1, a month ahead of schedule.

More Farmers For Supports for Hogs, Cattle and Feed

A significant shift of opinion in favor of price supports on feed grains, cattle, and hogs, was revealed in recent suveys of Iowa and Northern Illinois farmers, results of which have just been released. Opinions favoring supports increased substantially between April, 1953, and January, 1954.

The surveys were conducted by Iowa State College in cooperation with the Chicago Union Stock Yards.

The number of farmers favoring supports for feed grains rose from 44 per cent to 68 percent in the nine-month interim. A majority of the farmers surveyed in January opposed price supports for hogs. However, 42 percent favored supports in January while only 30 percent were in favor nine months earlier.

Farmers were evenly divided on the question of cattle price supports in January, 1954. However, only 38 percent favored price supports at the time of the first survey, while 48 percent were in favor nine months later.

The correct mileage was 1,994.

THE THRESHOLD!

The Baccalaureate speaker was right. This was the threshold of life. Beyond today, spanning the years, were many paths each leading to a different goal. Someone in Bob Adams' position need only to choose his path.

Bob wasn't frightened. The choice would not be difficult. In fact, it had already been made. .

Not that anyone had told Bob which profession to follow . . which opportunity would be most rewarding. No! Those decisions were not yet final. . . .

But one decision was final. He had made it some years before —on the day he had become a member of the Church.

Bob had decided to build his life on faith . . . on the principles the Church had instilled in his conscience . . . on the truth and the power and the love of JESUS CHRIST. Bob Adams had chosen HIS Path!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Costs hundreds of dollars less!

The surprise of a lifetime! That's the New Holland Twine-Tie "66"! We'll wager you've never seen a baler so compact in design . . . so completely new!

50 YEARS AGO

Everybody Happy?

Important coming events received merely routine treatment in the pages of the Thief River Falls News of June 9, 1904. There was no viewing-with-alarm. The Soo Line was making progress in the building of its line northward from Glenwood and was now approaching Detroit Lakes. The Great Northern was making progress in the building of its line northward from Thief River Falls to Greenbush. It had been decided that the land sale to be held on the 20th would be conducted in the new school. A contract for the removal of the bodies of Indians buried in the Eleven Township area had been let.

Didn't Like Dunn

June was a political month that year and Editor Eastman was interested in the coming party conventions. All offices, state and county, were filled under a system of party designation and the party convention was an important event. Editor Eastman pointed out in three editorials and one comment clipped from the Minneapolis Tribune why Bob Dunn had "beat up" a reporter and that certainly was no way for a candidate for such a high office to act. Congressman Steenerson had settled the Crookston postoffice fight by having his brother, Elias Steenerson, appointed. Through all of which the News remained calm.

There were 19 bids for the contract to remove approximately 100 bodies of Indians buried in the eleven township area and they ranged from a low of $14.49 per body to $75.00. The low bidder backed out, however, and the job was awarded to the second low bidder at a price of $14.50. The work was to be completed by June 20.

There was a rumor to the effect that the Great Northern might build right on to Warroad. "It is reported", stated the News, "upon authority of one of the Great Northern railroad contractors making headquarters here, that it has been almost decided to build the extension through to Warroad this year instead of stopping at Greenbush as was decided some time ago. Enough railroad, iron and ties are on the ground to build the extension to Warroad and the contractors feel confident it will be completed this year."

Middle River Named

It was also noted in the issue of the 9th that, "The name of the second town on the Great Northern extension will not be Ingalls and it is now decided to call it Middle River. This change has been made owing to the fact that there was objection to the removal of the Ingalls postoffice, to the location of the townsite. The town of Middle River will be a good one."

Land Commissioner Richards had been designated by the secretary of the interior to have charge of the land sale. He was expected to arrive about June 17. It had also been decided definitely to use the high school building as the place to conduct the sale. "A platform will be erected in front of the building and one room on the first floor will be converted into a land office. Col O'Brien has made these arrangements during the past few days."

First Graduates

Exercises had been held the previous Friday evening for the first class to graduate from the Thief River Falls high school. It was a small class and the story as told by the News was short. "The graduation exercises held last Friday evening in the Odd Fellows hall were quite well attended," it reported. The graduates were Melvin Evenson and Emma Backe (Mrs. Gaston Ward), the two first to graduate from the high school in Thief River Falls. Next year there will be a class of about seven."

All of the members of this first graduating class are still living in the community.

A class reunion certainly would be in order on the occasion of this fiftieth anniversary and we suggest that either valedictorian or the salutatorian issue the call.

Jim Hill Said "No"

There evidently was considerable dissatisfaction with the location of the Great Northern depot, on the main tracks west of the city. At a meeting held "last night" a petition was sent to the authorities in St. Paul asking that a new depot "which would be located in a more central portion of the city than the present one" be built.

"Jim Hill Says No" was the headline over a story published the following week reproducing the letter signed personally by James J. Hill in which he regretted it would not be possible to make the requested change at that time. Maybe it would be done later if it appeared that moving the depot would be advantageous to the company. And of course Mr. Eastman ran a temperature because Mr. Hill had apparently considered the matter only from the standpoint of the company's interest and not the city's. But a short time later the depot was moved to its present location so perhaps the petitioners should be credited with accomplishing their purpose.

Coffee 8 lbs. for $1

Week-end specials at the A. I. Anderson & Co store included tea and coffee at prices that would have lots of appeal today. Uncolored Japan tea, the regular 50c variety, was offered for 30c a pound. Regular 15c coffee could be bought eight pounds for a dollar and the 18c quality at seven pounds for a dollar. The market quotations that week listed wheat at 82c; oats 45c; barley 40c; butter 15c; eggs 12½c and potatoes $1.25.

Many people didn't get rich running restaurants in those days too.

Summer had not yet arrived for Memorial Day 50 years ago either. The program was impressive, according to the News, but "The exercises were held in the afternoon on account of the inclement weather."

NORDEN . . .

Community Club was held at the Prairie View Hall on Wednesday evening. A skit "Joint Owners In Spain" was given by Wanda Pederson, Mrs. Dunne Vatsaas and Doris and Janice Armstrong. Musical numbers were given by several different people. Pot luck lunch was served after the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. George Joyce and Mrs. Gerhard Hanson were Monday evening supper guests at the Frank Armstrong home.

Sandwiches taste BETTER

when you make them with BUTTER

EVERY GOOD SANDWICH begins with butter. Butter, and only butter, has the full, natural flavor that enhances the taste of the rest of the sandwich—the bread and the filling. Soften the butter first . . . spread lightly but thoroughly from edge to edge of the bread . . . then go ahead. When you start with butter, your sandwich will be better. That's a promise.

State Parks Ready: Stickers Being Sold

Although the Minnesota State Parks are actually never closed for seasonal use, the official spring opening came May 30 when water systems and facilities were ready and park personnel on the job to serve the public, U. W. Hella, director, division of state parks, said today.

Automobile admittance stickers are on sale now in each park and at county auditors. They sell for one dollar and admit the car and all occupants to enter all Minnesota state parks during 1954. Attractive new day-glo lettered signs at the entrance of each park call attention to the sticker requirements.

Douglas Lodge and Itasca Park was ready for visitors on Memorial Day when rooms were available in the lodge, cabins were rented, boats hired and the Lake Itasca launch made the first of its daily trips.

A considerable amount of the remodeling work on Douglas Lodge has been completed or will be soon. The building has not only been made more attractive, but more efficient and structurally sound.

One of the attractions which has been increasingly popular each year is the conservation education work centered at the lodge. Several nature trails start at the lodge and regular evening and on special occasions illustrated lectures and talks are given at Forest Inn. A natural resource museum is maintained at the picnic grounds on Lake Itasca near the source of the Mississippi river. Don Lewis member of the University Museum of Natural History, is in charge of the conservation education during the entire summer in cooperation with park officials.

The public camp grounds, picnic grounds and bathing beach will be opened for use as weather conditions govern. As usual, life guards will be on duty at the bathing beach when it is officially open.

School Patrol Camp Is Extended Additional Week

Increased enrollment of young school patrol officers for the annual summer school safety patrol training camp has necessitated the extension of this year's camp session by one week, it is announced by Horace Henty, St. Cloud, camp committee chairman.

The training camp, held at the Crow Wing county fairgrounds near Brainerd, will include the week beginning July 11 for boys, in addition to the three weeks for boys and two weeks for girls originally scheduled.

The camp enrolled 562 youngsters for a week of training in school patrol operation during the term last summer. To date, the enrollment has exceeded 600, and with the additional week added, the 1954 camp should have the highest attendance of the 17-year history of the camp.

The school patrol camp will open on Sunday, June 6, when 110 boys from all over Minnesota will converge on Brainerd for a week of training in safety, Americanism and citizenship.

11 Million Trees Planted in State

More Than Any Previous Year, Forester Reports

Ray Clement, forester in charge of nurseries and planting for the state Division of Forestry, reported today that the 1954 reforestation season is practically completed, and an estimated 11,000,000 trees have been planted on private and public lands to date.

During the last two weeks most planting has been on state forests, parks and other public lands. All requisitions for trees to plant on private lands were filled before the general public land planting was started.

The number of plantings is expected to be more than in any previous year, but exact totals will not be known until records of shipments from the two state forest nurseries have been completed.

The trees grow in the nurseries from two to four years, Clement said, and as the nurseries have been recently expanded, increased numbers of trees will be available for some years in the future. One of the limiting factors in tree production is seed, which is required in large quantities for millions of trees.

Although it is now impossible to secure trees this spring, Clement suggested that those who have been disappointed this spring should make a note to contact the forestry offices early next fall to be assured of planting stock in 1955.

Baccalaureate at Minnesota 'U' Sunday, June 6th

Approximately 2,560 graduating students will hear Dr. Theodore Wedel of the College of Preachers, Washington Cathedral, Washington, D. C., at the University of Minnesota's annual baccalaureate services Sunday June 6, at 3 p. m. in Northrop auditorium.

Title of the address will be "God and the American Dream." The speaker, before becoming director of studies at the College of Preachers in 1939, had taught English at Carleton college, Yale and the University of Texas.

Awards Presented at Dairy Day Banquet

Serving as a climax to Dairy Day activities Tuesday was the annual banquet served in St. Bernards dining hall to more than 300 4-H calf exhibitors, princess contestants, creamery operators, county agents and other guests.

Following the invocation by the Rev. Walter M. Pedersen, Toastmaster W. E. Dahlquist called on Ralph Luhman, vice president of the Civic and Commerce association, to welcome the group. A response was given by James Emanuelsin, Red Lake county 4-H member.

Rudy Mehlhoff, princess contest chairman, presented all of the 29 attractive Dairy Princess candidates as well as the four former holders of the title. He then introduced Sonja Sharpe of Shelly as the 1954 princess, and presented her with a gift set of luggage. Also introduced were her two attendants, Carol Nicholls of Warren and Beulah Tveten of Waubun.

Myron W. Clark, state commissioner of agriculture, dairy and food, spoke briefly, complimenting the area on the success of Northwest Dairy Day and adding that it is a great boost for the dairy industry.

Showmanship plaques were presented by C. L. McNelley, former state 4-H club agent, and blankets were presented by Harley Shurson, East Polk county agent, to winners of the breed championships, as listed elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

Harold Elseth of Argyle presented Kenneth Anderson of Hallock, who placed second in the grade championship class, but who will receive a purebred calf in 1955 due to the fact that Andy Erickson of Badger, relinquished the award won by his son Jerry Tuesday, members of his family having won the award on two previous occasions.

Walter Scholn of Fosston presented Dale Svendsgaard of Goodridge as the exhibitor of the grand champion purebred, a six-year-old Holstein cow. He will receive a free trip to the Waterloo Dairy Cattle Congress in Iowa next fall, and also received a token at the banquet from Hugo Albrecht of New Ulm, president of the Minnesota Holstein Breeders association.

Another local young man was honored when Lew Conlon presented James Muzzy with a plaque for placing first in the adult DHIA class in a field of 13 contestants.

Guest speaker at the banquet was Ralph Wayne, who has served as a judge of the calf show each of the past five years. He pointed out that the Dairy Day contests develop the competitive spirit for which the American people are noted.

Wayne urged those who didn't win prizes this time to keep on trying, saying that they should look into the future. He closed by saying that boys and girls should appreciate the help given them by their parents and others, and that they should also be grateful for the privilege of living in this nation.

S. D. 18 Residents to Vote on $230,000 Bond Issue Tuesday Night

Voters of Thief River Falls Independent School District 18 will go to the polls in the Auditorium next Monday evening, June 14, between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock to express their wishes on the question of authorizing a bond issue of $230,000 to finance an addition to the Knox school and the development of the recently acquired site of the Lincoln high school athletic field.

The local school board today released the following statement in support of the bond issue:

"The board of education of Independent School District No. 18 is submitting for your consideration on Monday evening, June 14 a bond issue in the amount of $230,000. The money to be raised is to be used primarily for the purpose of adding needed facilities to the Knox school and to develop the new athletic field.

"We feel that in order to give the children of our district equal educational opportunities, the facilities in our school buildings should be comparable in all respects.

"The recent addition to the Northrop school provided needed space such as additional classrooms, kindergarten room, auditorium, gymnasium, lunch room, and dressing rooms.

"The Knox school urgently needs facilities of like nature, and it is proposed to modernize this building by adding a kindergarten room, auditorium—gymnasium, lunch room, health room, and dressing rooms. This addition will give the children in the Knox area the same facilities as are provided in the Northrop area and will give the district two elementary schools

Lincoln Senior Class Advised by Dr. Parish

132 Seniors and 15 in Teacher Training Dept. Are Graduated

Members of the Lincoln high school graduating class of 1954, numbering 132, made their final appearance as a group at commencement exercises last Friday evening. The spacious school gymnasium was filled to capacity with relatives and friends of the graduates.

The address to the class was delivered by Dr. Earnest O. Parish of Milwaukee, Wisc., executive secretary of the United Temperance Movement of Wisconsin, who proved himself to be an inspiring and entertaining speaker.

Discussing the theme, "Earning the Right to Lead," Dr. Parish pointed out four factors in achieving leadership — inspiration, consecration, preparation and perspiration. He counseled his hearers to develop and use the powers that God has given them, and said that to succeed takes good hard work in addition to ability.

He said that young people today are assured of opportunities for careers in such fields as industry, politics, science, social betterment and the ministry.

The exercises opened with the processional march played by the Lincoln band, directed by Tuovi Salo, followed by a talk by Carol Ulshafer, co-salutatorian and two selections by the high school chorus directed by Miss Marlys Carlander. The valedictory was given by Gene Bratsch, who spoke on "The Will to Win," followed by the address by Dr. Parish.

Kalmer Ostby, principal, presented the class to Elmer Bratsch, president of the board of education, who conferred the diplomas, after which Supt. W. G. Clasfy presented teacher certificates to 15 graduates of the teacher training department, and also awarded scholarships to Gene Bratsch and Beverly Hornseth, top-ranking students in the class.

Pair of Runaway G. N. Stock Cars Blown 45 Miles

The Great Northern railway hasn't yet developed atomic power to move its trains, but two empty stock cars in Thief River Falls demonstrated a still cheaper form of energy, windpower, during the fierce gale from the south that prevailed here Monday.

Impelled by the wind, the two cars moved from a siding onto the main line, and gradually developed a speed of 30 miles an hour or more as they moved merrily along to the north. And they kept on moving for a distance of 45 miles until they were brought to a halt four miles north of Greenbush by Bob Wollin and Don Rinowski, who managed to climb aboard and set the brakes.

Fortunately no other trains were on the line at the time of the runaway, Randy Holmgren, Great Northern agent here, stated.

Wind Monday Causes Heavy Losses in Area

Fair Grounds Bleachers Wrecked; Buildings on Nearby Farms Are Razed

Terrific winds, with gusts attaining a velocity reported as high as 80 miles per hour, hit Northwestern Minnesota Monday, and caused a large amount of damage in Thief River Falls and other communities.

Perhaps the biggest single piece of damage in this city was the wrecking by the gale of the greater part of the old bleachers portion of the grandstand at the county fair grounds.

Another heavy loss sustained on the Harvey Woods farm southeast of this city on Highway 59, where a large barn 34 by 72 feet was razed and a pig was killed.

A silo was badly damaged on the Vivian Copp farm in North township and a corn crib and double garage also were damaged. The roof and upper side-walls of a barn at the Sophie Howick farm in Norden township west of Thief River Falls blew away Monday at 6 p. m.

The wind blew away a large part of the roofing material on the south section of the Auditorium roof. Two large plate glass windows were blown out on the Third st. side of the Montgomery Ward store late Monday morning, and a block west, one of many trees that blew down landed on the car of Arthur Lund, Tunberg Motor Co. employe, damaging the vehicle to the extent of about $100.

A large number of television aerials were blown down or badly twisted by the wind, and patches of shingles were blown off the roofs of numerous buildings. City streets were littered with broken branches.

Bleachers in the Crookston baseball park blew down, as did several farm buildings in the Fosston area and a wall collapsed on the gymnasium section of the new $600,000 school building under construction at Kennedy.

Dale Svendsgaard Shows Champion Purebred Cow; Shelly Girl Is Princess

The fifth annual Northwest Dairy Day held Tuesday in Thief River Falls further strengthened its reputation as the biggest event of its kind in the nation by attracting a record entry list of 301 handsome grade and purebred dairy animals.

A difficult task confronted the judges, including Ralph Wayne of the University extension service, Ben Salmela of North Central school at Grand Rapids, and C. L. McNelly, former county agent supervisor in this section of the state.

Awarded the grand championship in the purebred division was Dale Svendsgaard, 20, of the Goodridge community, who showed a fine Holstein cow. He will receive a trip next fall to the Waterloo, Iowa, Dairy Cattle Congress. Last year also, a Pennington county youth, Richard Burtness, won the grand championship in this division.

An unusual situation developed in the award for the grand champion grade animal. Jerry Erickson, age 10, of Badger, who showed a Holstein calf, was chosen for the honor, which had been won twice before by two of his brothers. The boys' father, Andy Erickson, however, relinquished the prize purebred calf which accompanies the award, and said he himself would buy Jerry a calf. Stuart McLeod, president of the N. W. Dairy Improvement association, praised Mr. Erickson for his generous action.

The prize calf then was designated to be awarded in 1955 to the reserve grade champion, Kenneth Anderson of Hallock, who showed a Holstein yearling.

Thirteen cows were entered in the adult class, limited to Dairy Herd Improvement association members. Winner in the event was James Muzzy, whose entry had produced 538 pounds of butterfat as a four-year-old.

Robert Brinkman of Wannaska won the grand championship in the showmanship contest, while Melva Mattson of Fertile won the reserve championship and Alden Pederson of Kennedy placed third. Robert Brinkman, who had won the grade grand championship at the 1953 show, was presented by McLeod with a purebred Holstein calf from the Minnesota state prison herd.

Lew Conlon of Minneapolis for the fifth straight year performed the arduous task of keeping the show moving on schedule and serving as announcer thruout the day.

One of his pleasant duties was to present to the huge crowd the 29 candidates for the title of Northwest Dairy Prin-

Marilyn Nelson Marries Marvin Johnson June 5

A pretty wedding took place in a double ring ceremony solemnized at Immanuel Lutheran church in Plummer, Saturday evening, June 5, when Marilyn Ann Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alving Nelson of Red Lake Falls, became the bride of Marvin Harold Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson of Sherak. Rev. O. N. Simundson performed the ceremony in the presence of 200 guests.

Arrangements of painted daisies and white gladioli formed the background for the candle light service. Gladiolus marked the pews. A bouquet of tulips were on the organ.

Preceding the ceremony a melody of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Dave Ostby, friend of the bride. She also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Kenneth Haaven, who sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a white gown of chantilly lace and satin. The fitted bodice featured a lace top, with tiny covered buttons down the back and lace sleeves extending to points at the wrists. A lace peplum extended into a full train of satin. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a flowered carnationed crown cap. She carried a bouquet of red roses and carnations.

Miss Joan Lee Nelson, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a fashioned ballerina length gown of pink nylon net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of red roses and pink and blue carnations. Miss Karen Von Nelson, another sister of the bride was bridesmaid. Her dress was identical to that of the maid of honor. Her bouquet was also of red roses and pink and blue carnations. Both wore tiny, gold earrings, a gift of the bride. Eldon Burstad of Red Lake Falls and friend of the groom was best man. Earl Steffen, brother-in-law of the groom was the other attendant.

Dianna Rae Nelson, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a full length satin gown trimmed in net and pink velvet. Dianna carried a basket of rose petals which she scattered as she walked up the aisle. Her jewelry was a bracelet and necklace set, gift of the bride. Brother of the bride, Mark Nelson, was ring bearer. He wore a white suit and carried the rings on a satin pillow.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother chose a fashioned white suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow tea roses and white carnations. The groom's mother picked a dress of navy with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses and white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, during which time two musical selections were rendered by Mrs. Kenneth Haaven, "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Acting as master of ceremonies for the occasion was Rev. Simundson. He introduced Rev. Winthrop, who spoke on "The Bonds of Marriage." He also called upon the fathers of the bride and groom.

Miss Idora Nelson, aunt of the bride cut and served the three tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Norval Swenson, aunt of the groom, poured. Miss Beverly Burstad had charge of the guest book and the Elaine Norton and Miss Jeanne Nelson. Acting as hostess for the occasion was Mrs. Lowell Rife. Waitresses were Althea Burstad, Lynor Halvorson, and Grace Johanneck, in pastel colored ballerina length formals. In charge of serving from the kitchen were Mrs. W. Ydsti, Mrs. Ludwig Halvorson and Mrs. Ed Burstad.

The bride is a graduate of the 1954 class of Pershing high school in this city and has been serving in the Air Force for the past three and one half years.

Two Thrill-packed Shows Pleasing to Rodeo Spectators

A total of $2,185 was paid out in prize money to contestants in Melvin Joppru's second annual rodeo staged here Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Of this amount $835 represented entry fees paid by the contestants for the right to compete and which was offered as added money to the $1,350 put up by Mr. Joppru.

Sunday attendance was good but the Saturday afternoon crowd was light. The total represented a substantial increase over last year's attendance and while the rodeo failed again to pay out Mr. Joppru was encouraged by the increase and is making plans for another contest next year.

A large field of contestants provided two thrilling performances. The Teacher brothers of Sentinel Butte, North Dakota, rated high as performers. Tom Teacher came through in the fastest time in steer wrestling event in a fast 5.1 second fall, and won the saddle bronc riding contest based on the two day average with 195 points to his credit. His brother Jim came through with the bareback riding championship with 192 points to his credit and also was tops in the Brahma bull riding event with 183 points. The calf roping honor went to Ray Kilgore of Seneca, Nebraska, who also had the best two day average for steer wrestling.

June 28 Deadline to Check Surplus Wheat Plantings

Wheat on Farms Exceeding Acreage Allotments Not Eligible for Price Props

Wheat growers in the county who have overplanted their wheat acreage allotment may get in compliance with the 1954 wheat allotment program if they turn under for green manure, pasture off, or cut for hay or silage their excess acreage while it is still green, advised Oscar J. Houske, chairman of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

Wheat still standing after June 28 will be counted as "wheat" under the program and will be checked against the wheat acreage allotment of the farm. Wheat from any farm on which the wheat acreage allotment is exceeded will not be eligible for price support; all of the "excess" wheat from a farm with a wheat allotment of more than 15 acres will be subject to a penalty of $1.12 per bushel, said Houske.

Farmers with an acreage allotment of 15 acres or less may produce as much as 15 acres of wheat without incurring marketing penalties.

Chairman Houske explains that producers who desire to use excess acres of wheat for green manure, pasture, hay or silage must notify the county office of their intentions, and furnish a sketch of the field on which the practice will be carried out no later than June 28.

"Undoubtedly there are farms in the county where no allotments were established for 1954," he said. Operators on these farms are requested to notify the county office if they intend to secure a marketing card for wheat produced on the non-allotment farms in 1954 because these farms must be inspected and the acreage determined prior to the marketing season.

Garden Valley Co. Stockholders In Annual Meeting

Carl M. Ostby, General Manager, Reports on Status of Federal Loan

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Garden Valley Telephone company was held at Erskine Tuesday of last week. In his report to the stockholders, C. M. Ostby, general manager, gave a picture of the financial condition of the Company and the status of the rebuilding and conversion program.

He stated that there were confusing statements being circulated about Garden Valley having borrowed $8,000,000 and that half of this amount had already been spent. He put that straight by referring to the company's books which show that the money actually drawn from the REA for plant construction up to date was $1,033,038.89 of which $960,731.25 has actually been spent.

Drawing on the company's records, the manager showed by comparing with the actual cost of operation and actual receipts for 1952 and 1953 that the estimated operations under the new set up of complete dial operation will very nicely carry the financial load of repayment of the government loan. Present estimates of the complete cost of the conversion program for Garden Valley indicate that the amount will run in the neighborhood of $2,500,000.

The terms of three directors expired, and in the election Melvin Petterson of Mentor and John Berg of Gully were re-elected, while Ole Sannes of McIntosh was elected to fill the place of retiring director, Willie Beckstrom of Fosston.

At a meeting of the directors held after the stockholders' meeting the board was organized for the coming year with the following officers elected: President, Walter E. Day; vice-president, Melvin Petterson; secretary, Albert Anderson; treasurer, Walter Johnson. An executive board was appointed made up of the president, secretary and treasurer. Carl M. Ostby was reelected as general manager for the coming year.

Why Grass Silage?

If you cannot make the first cutting of hay without getting rain on it, maybe you should think about putting up grass silage. Here are a few advantages of good grass silage:

1. Preserves nutrients better than field cured hay.
2. Is a good source of protein, thereby saving on expensive protein concentrates.
3. Puts more color and vitamins in milk.
4. Provides feed during midsummer pasture slumps.

There are some advantages in making grass silage too, but if you put the crop in the silo at the right time, chop the crop to the right length, and pack the silage very well your worries should be small ones.

If because of adverse conditions you feel a preservative is necessary there are many good preservatives that can be used. One type of preservative used are those that stimulate fermentation such as, molasses, ground grain or corn and cob meal. Other types used to good advantage are those that stop fermentation such as, sulfur dioxide and sodium metabisulfite.

I know that if you have questions on making grass silage this article won't answer all of them, but there is a new bulletin available from the Extension Office. This bulletin is written by Rodney Briggs and Harold Searles from the University of Minnesota. The bulletin is called Grass Silage. Come in and get one.

Four 4-H'ers to State Club Week

Four 4-H'ers from Pennington county are among the 1,200 Minnesota club members attending state 4-H club week on the St. Paul Campus of the University of Minnesota this week, June 8-11. Those attending are Arlene Malberg of the Steiner 4-H club, Betty Mae Olson and Donald Breiland of the Kratka club, and Loren Engelstad of the Rockabury club.

Tours, classes in agriculture and homemaking, special assembly program and contests will highlight the state club week.

June is Dairy Month

Don't forget to drink that extra glass of milk every day this month, folks. Not only will this habit help the dairy farmer, who is an important cog in Minnesota economy, but it will provide you with necessary vitamins and minerals.

Airport News

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Goodmonson from Pasadena, California, who are visiting her brother E. N. Twedt and family in Thief River Falls, were airport callers last Tuesday.

John Lind and daughter, Jennifer, from Santa Fe, New Mexico, arrived Saturday in his Beech Bonanza, to spend a few days visiting friends.

Max Jensen and Walter Kinghorn flew the Cessna to Waskish on Saturday.

Ray Brown and C. C. Hanson of the state department of aeronautics were here Wednesday to inspect the airport. They went from here to Karlstad where a new airstrip is being constructed.

Monday's severe windstorm took its toll at the airport, but fortunately there was no damage to any aircraft. Three hangar doors were ripped from the metal hanger building and the windsock was blown down. Shingles were torn from the administration building and shop. Wind velocity reached 80 miles per hour before the velocity indicator was blown off the roof of the airline office. John Lind's Beech Bonanza, which was tied down on the field, suffered no damage from the buffeting it took during the storm.

CHATTING with your HOME AGENT

Marge Olsen

Have you ever been confused by the large display of classes in meat stores? Do you wonder how to tell the difference between the different cheeses? If you do, then here are descriptions of cheeses that are generally available in this area, with suggestions for using them:

American Cheddar—A colored or white domestic cheese often called "store" cheese. Mild to sharp in flavor, firm to crumbly in texture Outside comes natural or colored. Also sold in packaged, 3-oz. rolls. Uses—A favorite to serve with crackers, pies cobblers, in sandwiches, etc.

Blue — A blue green, mottle cheese, with a sharp, salty flavor, made in this country and Argentina. It's an American cousin to imported Roquefort. Uses — Popular in salads, salad dressings, canape spreads, on dessert cheese tray, for snacks, etc.

Brick—A domestic cheese, creamy white in color, mild to sharp flavor, with small eyes and an elastic texture. Uses— Lends itself to use in cracker or bread sandwiches, or on the cheese tray.

Camembert — Originally imported from France, but now made in this country. It has a soft, creamy, yellowish interior and a thin, whitish crust, which should be eaten. Be sure to soften at room temperature until interior is almost fluid, before serving. Uses — University favored as a dessert or salad cheese, with crackers. Also try spreading it between thin apple slices.

Cottage. White and mild. There are two types. Pot type is the plain curd of skimmed milk. Cottage type has cream added. Uses —Tasty served plain or with chives, pickle relish, diced fruit, nuts, etc., added. Or use in salads.

Cream — A delicately flavored white cheese with a smooth creamy consistency. It is made in this country. Packed plain as well as with added chives, pimiento relish, etc. Uses—Delicious as a filling or nut, date, and other breads. Or thin it with cream to top fruit salads, gingerbreads, etc.

Swiss — Originally imported from Switzerland but now made in Emmenthaler type in this country. This pale-yellow, hard cheese, with round, even holes, has a nutlike, sweet flavor. Uses —A "must" sliced thin on a cold meat platter. Delicious on rye bread, as an appetizer, or added to fruit or vegetable salad.

Planting Warm-Season Crops

Warm-season vegetables are those that have difficulty germinating when the soil is still cold in the spring or are so tender they don't stand cool air temperatures. They include corn, beans, cucumbers, melon, squash and pumpkin. Generally they should not be planted until after the middle of May.

* * *

Paper or plastic hot caps are often used to warm up the soil and air temperatures around these tender crops. Earlier planting is possible when they are used.

* * *

Don't plant your sweet corn in just one or two long rows along the edge of your garden. By planting short adjacent rows in a block, you'll get better pollination and better developed ears. Make several plantings at 10-day intervals beginning with the middle of May to assure a continuous harvest of good quality.

* * *

Succession plantings of green and wax beans are also desirable. The new disease-resistant varieties Wade or Topcrop are far superior to the older varieties.

* * *

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

Filings for Minnesota elections open next Wednesday (June 16), thus providing the formal curtain-raiser on the 1954 campaign season.

This should serve to quicken statewide interest in this year's elections, and it will soon be clear what state and congressional offices will offer primary contests. Primaries will be on September 14, with the general election November 2.

There are at least three primary contests in the offing for the Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party and perhaps as many for the Republican column, although the exact lineup will not, of course, be known until filings close on July 25.

RRWC Contest Assured

The one primary contest that is definitely assured is the clash between Clifford C. Peterson, of Minneapolis, the incumbent DFL Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner who is up for re-election, and former Governor Hjalmar Petersen, of Askov, who has the endorsement of the state DFL convention.

As this contest warms up, it is likely to produce a good deal of interest, at least among DFL'ers, and may be the only spot on the state ticket that has serious competition.

The Republican side promises to produce a lively fight for this contest, too. At least three GOP'ers have indicated interest in the nomination, and all of them may file. They are Robert F. (Bob) Lee, 55, of Annandale, a livestock raiser and hauler, who prior to the 1950 election had served 16 years in the state house of representatives; H. C. (Henry) Van Auken, 41, sales manager of Fruehauf Trailer Co., St. Paul, who sought nomination for the commission in 1950, and State Representative Roy Schultz, of Mankato.

Rasmussen v. Freeman

There is a good deal of speculation over whether Paul A. Rasmussen, the other DFL member of the RRWC, will decide to oppose Orville L. Freeman, the DFL endorsed candidate for Governor.

Rasmussen has been critical of the state convention's endorsement of Freeman, and he has indicated his interest in entering the primary. He said recently he is giving the matter "careful consideration." A Freeman-Rasmussen contest, combined with the Peterson-Petersen clash for the RRWC, could give the DFL primary some lively campaign excitement.

On the Republican side, Governor C. Elmer Anderson will unquestionably be unopposed, at least there has been no mention of any prospective opponent.

Contest for Treasurer

It is a good guess that at least the Republican side will produce a contest for the nomination for state treasurer. Val Bjornson's decision to seek the Senatorial nomination vacates the treasurer's spot, and at least four Republicans have been mentioned as possible successors.

State Representative Moppy Anderson, of Preston, who has completed two terms in the house, has announced his candidacy. Others who may file include Duane Lund, of Staples, chairman of the Minnesota Young Republican League; State Representative John H. Nordin, of Columbia Heights, and State Representative Roy Schultz, of Mankato (also mentioned for RRWC).

Hartle vs. Petersen?

The vacancy in the lieutenant-governorship, caused by the resignation of Anchor Nelsen, has attracted considerable interest. State Representative P. Kenneth Peterson, of Minneapolis, has declared his candidacy for this position, but in recent weeks there has been speculation concerning whether his colleague and Speaker of the House, John A. Hartle, of Owatonna, may also enter this race.

On the DFL side, former DFL State Chairman Karl F. Rolvaag has the Party's endorsement, and he may be opposed by State Representative Leonard A. Johnson, of Minneapolis, who has indicated his interest in this office. Johnson has moved out of his legislative district, and will not seek re-election.

Incumbents To File

Attorney-General J. A. A. Burnquist, who for some time had been considering entering the Republican Senatorial nomination against Bjornson, is reported ready to seek re-election to the attorney-general position. Secretary of State Virginia Holm and State Auditor Stafford King are also set to file for the positions they now hold.

The DFL has endorsed Miles W. Lord, of Minneapolis, for attorney-general, and Koscie Marsh, of St. Paul, for secretary of state. John Kearns, the endorsed DFL candidate for auditor, has announced his withdrawal. As of now no contests have developed in either party's primary for these three positions.

All nine of the state's incumbent Congressmen are expected to seek reelection. Ninth District Congressman Harold Hagen, of Crookston, led the field with his announcement that he would file. No contests in the primaries of serious import seems likely for any of the nine, and, as of now, both Senator Hubert H. Humphrey and his likely Republican opponent, Val Bjornson, appeared unopposed in their primaries.

The Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party's endorsed candidate for Secretary of State has kicked up quite a fuss by his open campaigning for legalized pari-mutuel betting on horse-racing in Minnesota.

The candidate, Koscie H. Marsh, a retired St. Paul druggist, faces the prospect of being repudiated by the Party's state central and executive committees when they meet on Saturday, in St. Paul, in conjunction with the ~~Jefferson-Jackson Day~~ observance.

The fracas could conceivably have wider ramifications than just the question of Marsh's endorsement, because there is some talk of an opposition slate to the endorsed ticket, and action on Marsh's statements on legalizing betting could precipitate an open fight. The issue also raises the question again concerning the power of the Party to endorse and to discipline endorsed candidates.

Prowlers Lose 12 to 7 to Karlstad in Second Round of Region Play

With the Prowlers at bat in the top half of the 6th inning, with one out, umpire Bud Berg and Pike Jones called the regional semi-finals high school baseball game at Bagley on Monday afternoon, giving the Karlstad Rabbits a 12 to 7 decision over the locals and the right to enter the regional championship finals game against Cass Lake on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. at Bagley.

The Prowlers vs. Rabbits game, which was played under difficult weather conditions, was finally called when the playing field became too soggy to provide adequate footing for the players.

In a first-round game regional game, on Monday morning, Cass Lake, by a 1 to 0 score eliminated McIntosh in a thrilling right-handed duel between Ron Gangelhoff of Cass Lake and Lynn Aasen of McIntosh, with each hurler giving up but two hits.

The Prowlers, getting a pair of walks, singles by Jack Hoppe and Bob Helgeland, and a double by Hank Hallstrom, and helped along by a three Karlstad errors, tallied four runs in the top half of the 1st inning.

Karlstad bounced back in their half of the 1st inning to score three runs, with a pair of Prowler errors looming large and providing Carl Grandstrand, Owen Germundson, and Nate Folland with the opportunity to punch out run-scoring base-hits.

A walk to Sid Vraa, an error, and Larry Jorgenson's single to center plated another Prowler run in the 2nd inning, giving the Prowlers a 5 to 3 lead as the Rabbits were blanked in their half of the 2nd.

A double by Bob Olstad, a single by Grandstrand, and a single by Folland sent a pair of Karlstad runs across the plate, and brought Sid Vraa in from shortstop to take over the Prowler hurling duties. Vraa retired Jerry Lysford and Paul Spilde to end the Karlstad rally with the game tied at 5-all.

The Prowlers moved into the lead in the 4th when Vraa gained a "life" on an error and came around to score when Hoppe poled a double into right-field. But the Prowler lead was short-lived for in the Karlstad half of the 4th inning, the Rabbits sent four runs across the plate, with Blomquist connecting for a double and Olstad driving out a single. A pair of Prowler errors contributed to the Karlstad four-run cluster. The Rabbits added some "insurance" in the fifth inning when they sent three scores across the plate.

With Jorgenson retired at the top of the 6th inning, the umpires decided that playing conditions were becoming hazardous and "called" the game.

A bases-loaded homerun by southpaw-swinging Hubert Torkelson, in the 8th inning, provided the Alvarado Farmers with the runs that gave manager Charley Picken's team a 7 to 3 win over the Viking Oilers in a game played at Alvarado on Sunday. By their win, the Farmers continued to perch on the top rung in the league standings, sharing first place with Argyle. The defeat was the first of the year for Viking, and dropped Bill Peterson's Oilers into a third place tie with the Thieves.

In other games played on Sunday, Argyle tripped Red Lake Falls, 8 to 4, at Red Lake Falls; and, in a night game at Crookston, Swede Lund's Thieves defeated the Crookston Pirates, 12 to 6.

From all indications, the feature game of this week's schedule will be the game at Alvarado on Sunday between the Thieves and the Farmers. The game was originally slated for the Fair Grounds diamond here, but Monday's storm, which razed the grandstand, forced the transfer of the game to the Alvarado diamond.

Swede Lund Stars as Thieves Score 12-6 Win over Crookston

Sparked by the tremendous homerun wallop over the right field fence by Swede Lund in the 2nd inning, the Thieves scored a convincing 12 to 6 win over the Crookston Pirates in a Red River Valley loop game played at Crookston on Sunday night. The victory boosted the locals into a two-way tie, with Viking, for third place in the league standings.

Sunday's game, which had been slated for the Fair Grounds diamond, with Alvarado providing the opposition, has been transferred to the Alvarado diamond. Monday's windstorm, which demolished the old grandstand, forced the change in the playing schedule.

Sunday night's tussle on Crookston's Highland Park diamond was pretty much of a Swede Lund affair. In the top half of the 2nd inning, with the singling Gene Leslie on first base, Lund poled one of Dominic Palmisano's right-handed slants over the right-field fence for a homerun. A walk to Larry Perkins, a single by Darrell Wegner, and Al Williamson's triple down the right-field foul-line added another pair of runs, and brought Loren Hegland in from shortstop to take over the Pirates' hurling job.

Lund, getting on base on a force-out in the 3rd inning, went around to third base on Perkins' safety, and scored a run on Wegner's double. In the 5th, Lund sent a sacrifice fly to center-field, scoring Sid Vraa with a marker; and in the 6th frame, Swede sent a towering infield fly up beyond the range of the lights, and which was misjudged by shortstop John Bakke and fell safely. With two men out, Al Williamson and Sid Vraa, the Thieves' baserunners, were on the move when Lund hit the lofter, and they scored easily, giving Lund five RBI's for the night.

Except for the 2nd and 3rd innings, when the Pirates pushed across two runs in each frame, right-hander Gene Leslie held the Crookston batters pretty well in hand. Veteran Bun Holz, the Pirates' manager, proved to be Crookston's most dangerous hitter, the right-handed swinger raked Leslie's offerings for three hits in four trips to the plate.

A Youth Movement

The fans that were in attendance at the Thieves vs. Pirates game at Crookston's Highland Park on Sunday night, and which was won by the Thieves, 12 to 6, were surprised by the lineup that appeared on the field for the Pirates. It did seem strange, too, for the Pirates were without the services of such players as Glen Gumlia, Johnny Mercil, Toddy Johnson, Bud Schraeder, Kenny Dupuis, Andy Carey, and Les Gullickson. About the only familiar faces on the Crookston squad that we recognized were Bun Holz, who manages the club this year, and Loren Hegland. Andy Carey was on hand, though, for he was the plate umpire.

On their play against the Thieves on Sunday night, it's evident that the Pirates miss the power that such players as Gumlia, Mercil, and Schraeder brought to the Crookston lineup. It is reported that Gumlia may join the club, and his presence at first base would surely bolster the Pirates, both defensively and offensively.

It's apparently a "new deal" all around at Crookston, for the Pirates have a new manager, new players, new uniforms, and new warm-up jackets.

Quite a Prospect

Lynn Aasen, the young and strong-armed right-hander that nearly pitched McIntosh to a win over the defending regional champion Cass Lake team on Monday morning, losing a 1 to 0 decision after giving up but two hits, comes by his pitching skill naturally.

Lynn's dad is Harold 'Hal' Aasen of Winger, and those of us who can recall independent baseball around here in the middle 1920's can remember when Hal Aasen pitched for the East Grand Forks and Neche-Gretna teams. Harold was a nifty performer on the mound, and his pitching duels with Oslo's famed Merle "Smokey" Robinson were classics.

Hal had a comparatively short pitching career, for he developed a sore arm, due to over-work, while hurling for Neche-Gretna and the result was that he lost much of his "stuff." We imagine, though, that Hal is reliving his pitching days by watching his youngsters perform. If Lynn had been giving some hitting support by his mates, it's probable that McIntosh would have beaten Cass Lake, and then gone on to win the regional.

The Prowlers, in losing their first-round game to Karlstad on Monday afternoon, appeared to be dispirited and lack-lustre and, perhaps, a bit over-confident. The fact that the Prowlers romped away to a four-run cluster in their first time at bat, opening the game, may have added to the Prowlers belief that the Rabbits were an "easy" club.

Of course, the miserable playing conditions, the wind and the rain, were factors that affected the game. It's true the weather and playing conditions were the same for both teams, but it's also true that poor playing conditions serve an an "evener" between teams. The Prowlers are, undoubtedly, a better all-round ball team than Karlstad, but they lacked the spirit and will-to-win that the Rabbits possessed, and the result was a 12 to 7 victory for Karlstad.

We'll be pulling for Karlstad to defeat Cass Lake on Wednesday afternoon, but it's probable that Cass Lake's Ronnie Gangelhoff will handcuff the Rabbits with his speed.

Still a Power

We drove down to St. Hilaire on Sunday afternoon and watched Klem Gigstad's St. Hilaire Saints in their Northern Minnesota league game against Fosston. The Saints lost the game, 7 to 5, but that loss wasn't through the fault of St. Hilaire's Woody Almquist.

Woody, who has been Mr. St. Hilaire Baseball for more years than we care to remember, was the best all-round player on the field on Sunday. St. Hilaire started a young left-hander, Lonny Rolland, on the mound, and the 15-year old southpaw was troubled by his control, and he gave up five runs in the early innings. Almquist took over the hurling duties in the 4th inning, and he checked the Fosston attack.

And Woody continues to be a long-ball threat at the plate. In the 2nd inning, with a runner on second base, Almquist, against a cross-wind, poled a towering fly ball over the highway in right-field. Ground rules held that hit to a double, but it was a legitimate homerun clout in any ball park.

They Ain't What They Used to Be

It may be a symptom of hardening of the arteries, but we believe that the traveling ball teams that play exhibition games in these parts nowadays do not begin to compare with the teams that played here in the 1920's.

That Iowa Colored Ghosts team that played here on Wednesday evening, and which scored a 11 to 8 win over the Thieves in a six-inning game, would have looked pretty bad playing against such clubs as the House of David, or the Colored House of David, teams that were "powers" in the early days.

It was common knowledge that several of the players that were with the whiskered House of David club were capable of playing double-A organized baseball. And the Colored House of David club was managed by the legendary John Donaldson, a player who would have been in the Big Leagues in those days if he had not been a Negro.

Humphrey, Bjornson Speak This Weekend at Winger Festival

Final plans are now completed for the staging of Winger's three-day Golden Jubilee on June 11-12-13. All three days are filled with entertainment and interesting historical features.

Friday morning, June 11, will see the opening of the Jubilee museum, and picture gallery which is being set up in the old Winger Town Hall and presided over by John Jensen, Winger's first school teacher and postmaster for twenty years, and P. E. Krogstad, one of the earliest residents of the village. An old-fashioned coffee party and get-together for old timers will be held in this building in the afternoon. At 3:00 o'clock Friday the Winger American Legion junior baseball team will play Erskine at the Winger ball park.

At 8:00 o'clock Friday evening the outdoor free acts will begin, an hour and a half of entertainment by professional talent from "Entertainment Unlimited." This will be followed by judging of an old-time dress contest for women, with cash prizes of $15, $10 and $5 offered to the women who best recreate the fashions of olden days. Following the free acts, Thorstein Skarning & his orchestra, will play for an old-time dance in the Winger Auditorium.

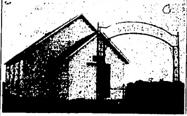
Choir That Sang in Oldest Church 50 Years Ago

In Sanders township the old Landstand church still stands and the claim that it was the first church to be built in what is now Pennington County is unchallenged. Two years ago the congregation celebrated the 70th anniversary of the building of the church and while none of the original organizers was present there; were many children, grand-children and great grand-children of the organizers in the crowd of 300 people who assembled for that occasion. August N. K. Anderson is the son of one of the founders and has supplied the information and pictures herewith.



The church is eight miles west of Thief River Falls on No. 1 and one mile south. It is well maintained and preserved for its historic value.

Civil Defense Tests in State June 14-15

The great importance of civil defense units in smaller communities and rural areas will be emphasized on June 14th and 15th during test exercises planned for Minnesota and the entire country.

In a preview of the two-day tests, Colonel E. B. Miller, state civil defense director, revealed that Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth will be targets of mock bombing raids, while Civil Defense units from the state's smaller communities will be responsible for furnishing the necessary aid and equipment to the state's three largest metropolitan centers.

In addition to mobile aid, communities must be prepared to receive and care for "casualties and homeless." While the public will not be involved in the exercise, state mobile support unit headquarters at Alexandria, Bemidji, Hibbing, Faribault and Mankato will coordinate requests for "aid" from the state control center in St. Paul.

The test is primarily a staff exercise and estimates will be made at the state control center as to the extent of damage and the amount of help required. State mobile support unit headquarters will review their plans to determine capacities of communities in their areas for the reception of homeless and the wounded.

The June 14th and 15th tests, which are part of a nationwide civil defense exercise named "Operation Alert," will be carried out without interruption of the normal-work routine of Minnesotans. It is designed as a careful measure of the abilities and methods of the state's civil defense units in communications, engineering, fire fighting, medical service, police supply, transportation, welfare and public information, according to the preview announcement released at state civil defense headquarters in St. Paul.

"Because of the increased destructiveness of atomic and hydrogen weapons, an increased need for alertness on the part of every American is essential. Alertness is the key to protection and interception of a possible enemy attack against Minnesota," Colonel Miller concluded.

Coal provides, and is plentiful enough to continue to provide for centuries, an almost unlimited source of organic chemicals.

Aide to Hoffman Quits after Six Years of Service

The state highway department has a new administrative assistant and director of personnel as a result of the resignation June 1 of Robert C. Ferderer, well known staff member who has served as Commissioner M. J. Hoffman's assistant since 1948.

The new administrative assistant is Kermit Bergstralh, who came to the highway department from the civil service department in December, 1952, to serve as personnel officer. Mr. Bergstralh will assume Mr. Ferderer's duties until arrangements are made to fill the vacancy on a permanent basis.

Mr. Ferderer resigned to fill a position outside the state service, and his resignation was accepted by Commissioner Hoffman "with deep and sincere regret."

Explosion Wrecks Launch on Red Lake

One Member of Patrol Boat Crew is Injured

The explosion of a 20-foot Bureau of Game patrol motor launch near Waskish on Upper Red Lake May 29 was disclosed last week by the department of conservation.

Four refuge patrolmen were aboard, but only one, Ted Znajda, was injured. He was burned about the face.

Frank D. Blair, director of game and fish, said an investigation was under way to determine the cause. He said sabotage is not suspected.

The launch was on a routine patrol along the south shore of Red Lake when the explosion occurred. Aboard were Albert Markovich, Ernest Lampl, Merle Bystrom and Znajda.

"We were about a mile and a half from the mouth of the Tamarac River on our way back to the boat house," Patrolman Markovich reported.

"I had slowed the boat down when all of a sudden there was a terrific explosion and the boat was aflame.

"We tried to put it out with a fire extinguisher but we couldn't do it as the flames spread very quickly. We were forced to abandon the boat.

"An outboard motor boat came along and picked us up and took us to shore. We are lucky to be alive."

The launch, bought in 1949 for $3,495, was a total loss.

NO MARKET ABROAD

Berry H. Akers, editor-in-chief of The Farmer, is back from Europe with bad news on the prospect for unloading our surplus dairy products on the foreign markets. He visited ten European countries and came away with the conclusion that, "There is no outlet in the countries I visited for our dairy surpluses."

Here at home the industry seems to be making little progress in solving its own problems. This failure to act probably is due mainly to the facts that the industry is not united, and, because of conflicting interests, it probably will not be able to get behind a constructive program.

Leaders of the industry in Wisconsin are taking steps to open the closed markets of large cities in which milk sales are limited to the production of a protected area. These "milksheds" are protected by federal as well as local regulations, invoked presumably as health measures. The producers operating within these protected areas enjoy the advantages of competition-free monopoly. They have no interest in the plight of the producers they have barred from their markets.

As long as there seems to be little possibility of securing united action by the industry the only hope now probably would be in the unorganized segment of the industry organizing in its own defense. In this respect Minnesota and Wisconsin have enough in common so that most of the dairymen of these two states should be able to work together. There now is no "voice" in Washington speaking for this unorganized group and their problems will get little consideration until they do organize.

UNION IN EUROPE

Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden have agreed to cut red-tape regulations against labor moving freely from one country to another. Under the terms of this agreement it will be comparatively easy for citizens of any one of these countries to accept employment in the others. It is an important step in the direction of economic unity that will be beneficial to all of them.

Our greatness as a nation and our higher standard of living can be attributed largely to the fact that the people of our 48 states transact business with each other with nearly complete freedom. Barriers to trade are barriers to progress. Along with a freedom in the exchange of goods and services there is also a healthy exchange of ideas that makes for understanding and peace.

The economic alliance of these four Scandinavian countries sets a pattern for development that is being encouraged thruout Europe. In this pattern lies the hope of the future.

IT WAS A GOOD SHOW

Melvin Joppru's second annual rodeo was a great show from a spectator's standpoint. The performances each afternoon were outstanding. Ample seating had been provided and traffic was handled smoothly. The customers received big value and, we are sure, went away satisfied.

But while it was a bang-up good show and far better attended than last year's event, it still fell far short of being a box office success. Because attendance was up substantially from last year however Mr. Joppru says he is going to give it another whirl and he already is making plans for 1955. We'll go along with those who, in appreciation of the good effort that has been made, hope that on his next try he will ring the bell.

COMMUNITY FIRE UNITS

Action was taken at Warren last week to organize fire protection on a community basis. Ten townships are uniting with the city in building a fire fighting unit capable of serving the entire area, following the general plan that has already been adopted by many other communities. It is a plan that has worked out well elsewhere and no doubt will prove itself to be a property saver and a money saver at Warren.

Now that good progress has been made in organizing fire protection on a community basis in so many neighboring communities, maybe this would be a good time to start reducing the large territory that is still unorganized. Warren, St. Hilaire, Oklee, Plummer, Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls now have community organizations, some large and some small in area. There still is much territory that could be served by these organizations.

And maybe now would be a good time too for these organized communities to strengthen their relationships with each other. As the areas served become larger, mutual assistance agreements will become more important for both actual and standby protection. As they become better organized the neighboring communities should become more helpful to each other in an emergency.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Who's Best?

The surprising thing about Jean was that, although the other children liked her and were always wanting to play with her she did not seem to like them at all. It had not always been like that—Jean had once been as friendly with them as they were with her. Her mother was quite worried about it.

She had wanted Jean to be popular, and had put a lot of effort into helping Jean achieve this goal. She had looked around to see what made children popular. She had noticed that Mary was popular because she was clever at thinking of games to play.

The children liked Sheila because she was good at all sorts of sports. Patty was a center of attention because she was fun and made others laugh; Jane was included always because she shared toys and candy with the others. Jean's mother had noticed all these things about other children, and had tried to develop the same characteristics in Jean.

When Mary was around, Jean's mother pointed out how good Mary was at leading games. She encouraged Jean to practice hard at sports so she would be as good as Sheila. And so on. She was careful to be as tactful as she could, but it was not long before Jean came to understand that Jane was more unselfish than she was, and that Sheila was better at sports than she was. When she thought about her friends in this fashion, they didn't seem quite as nice as she had previously thought. She stopped going to visit them and began to avoid them when they came looking for her.

Jean's mother noticed this, too. So she stopped talking to Jean about how good these other girls were. Gradually Jean returned to her friends, and later her mother realized what had happened. She had compared her own daughter with these other girls so often and so unfavorably that Jean had come to resent them and fear their competition. When the comparisons ceased, Jean was able to recapture her feelings of friendship.

Vine crops may be planted along one side of the garden and the vines trained to grow out of the garden. Or they can be planted between rows of peas, lettuce or other early vegetable crops. After harvest of the early crop, the space can be taken over by the later maturing vine crop.

Coal from Kentucky's mines is used in at least 30 states and most European countries west of the Iron Curtain.

Requirements Eased for GI Training for Post-Korea Disabled

Leo L. Haley, contact representative for the Veterans Administration office in Grand Forks, stated that the Veterans Administration has today speeded the way for hundreds of disabled post-Korean veterans to begin training under the Korean GI Bill before the forthcoming August 20 starting deadline.

The Korean GI Bill deadline faces all veterans separated from active service before August 20, 1952. Those who left active service afterward have two years from separation in which to begin.

VA's new system short-cuts a step that disabled veterans previously had to go through in order to enroll under the Korean GI Bill.

In the past, service-disabled veterans were required to take VA's vocational counseling before they were allowed to begin training under the Korean GI program. Reason was to find out whether they had need for training under another law created specifically for the disabled—Public Law 16, the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

Under the new system, these veterans will be permitted to start Korean GI Bill training before they undergo counseling, rather than wait until after it has been completed. This procedure, Mr. Haley said, eliminates any chance of delay that migh prevent veterans from getting started before the cut-off date. At the same time VA sends him his certificate of eligibility authorizing him to begin Korean GI training they will ask him to report on a specified date for vocational counseling.

Meanwhile, he will be able to start his training before the GI cut-off date. If he reports on schedule, and if counseling discloses a need for Public Law 16 training to overcome his handicap, he will be given the chance to enter training under that law. If he decides to do so, the training he already has had under the Korean GI Bill will not count against him. He still will receive the full amount of Public Law 16 training necessary to restore his employability.

But if for any reason he does not report for Va. counseling and later decides he would like to switch from Korean GI Bill to Public Law 16 training, a different system will be followed in computing how much time he will be allowed to train under Public Law 16. Under this system the Korean GI training he already has had will be subtracted either from (1) the time he would normally have coming, to him under Public Law 16, or (2) the time he originally was entitled to under the Korean GI Bill. Whichever of those computations is the greater would be his maximum training time allowed under Public Law 16.

See Anything Familiar in this Street Scene of pre-World War I Days?

Greenbush Sheep Set for Saturday

Village Has Been Scene for Past Fifteen Years

Saturday afternoon, June 12, will see the best sheep shearers from this section competing at Greenbush for the honor of being the Minnesota shearing champion.

While this contest has been held annually in Greenbush for the past fifteen years, and although expert shearers have come from all over the state as well as from South Dakota and North Dakota, the winner has always been a man from northern Minnesota.

This has been due largely to the fact that this sheep shearing contest had been run off under the international rules, under which the victory goes not to the fastest shearer but to the most careful one. Cuts on the sheep and second cuts in the fleece are sternly frowned upon. The care with which the shearer handles the sheep and the appearance of the shorn sheep at the end of the shearing are also important points.

For the past several years Gordon Clow of Lancaster has dominated this contest, even surpassing old shearers such as Roy Novotny of Badger and Chester Abrahamson of Lancaster. This year it is anticipated that Raymond Taus of Strathcona will give Clow a run for his money.

Erskine Farmer Killed When Car Goes off Bridge

A 33-year-old farmer of the Erskine area drowned near that village Wednesday night when his vehicle plunged into a river after striking a bridge.

He was Stanley Throne, who resided on a farm in Badger township, Polk county.

The mishap occurred about a mile northeast of Erskine according to the sheriff's office. Throne was alone in the car at the time.

Occupants of two cars witnessed the mishap and pulled Throne's body from the submerged auto.

Polk Coroner Dr. H. E. Nelson ruled the death accidental and said Throne was known to have a heart condition.

Throne, a veteran of World War II, was born in Badger township. He was unmarried.

Road Contractor to Rebuild Paving Rejected by State

Okes Construction Co. to Replace Defective Part Near Taylors Falls

Reconstruction work will begin within a week to completely rectify, at the contractor's own expense, all defective portions of the Trunk Highway 8 paving job built last year between Taylors Falls and Shafer.

The Okes Construction company of St. Paul, which had the original contract, last week signed a new agreement with the state highway department, under terms of which the company will rebuild all portions of the pavement which tests have shown were deficient in the amount of cement used in the mix.

Isolated panels found defective will be torn out and repaved. Wherever there are continuous sections on which deficiencies were found, the entire sections will be resurfaced with a 4½-inch, steel-reinforced concrete overlay on top of the existing pavement. The new work is so designed as to assure the public of a continuously smooth riding surface throughout the entire project and fully comply with strength and other requirements of the original contract. The job is scheduled to be completed not later than September 1.

Exhaustive engineering investigations of the original construction work have been under way ever since cement deficiencies on portions of the paving were disclosed by highway department field and laboratory tests last fall. Commissioner M. J. Hoffman at that time immediately ordered all payments to the contractor stopped; and the sum of $320,734.12, the unpaid balance on a contract total of $699,633.10, has been withheld by the state to insure the public against any financial loss.

Under the agreement, the state agrees to pay the Okes Construction company $153,274.70 still due the company as the unpaid balance on those portions of the Trunk Highway 8 paving project which detailed engineering tests have shown comply fully with contract specifications. The remaining balance of $173,450.51 under the original agreement will be paid in increments as the reconstruction work progresses and the highway is rebuilt to standards equal to or better than those called for in the 1953 contract.

Leave Stray Fawn Alone, Is Warning

Well-meaning Minnesotans considering doubling as baby sitters for deer fawns this time of year could contribute more to the welfare of the whitetails by staying at home with the scrabble board.

The bureau of game points out that fawns are born the last week of May and during June. Shortly thereafter, strayed fawns may be found, apparently "lost." However, it is illegal to have deer or game in possession. Don't baby-sit for mama Deer. She'll find her missing offspring in due time and take lots better care of her fawn than you could!

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Wise Stepmother

Have you heard about young Skeeter Roberts' unusual pet, the tame owl "Blinky"? He's had her about three years.

I say "her" because up to a couple of weeks ago nobody was quite sure. But now "Blinky's" a mother—of two chicks!

Seems "Blinky" had been acting kind of strange—so on a hunch, Skeeter put a couple of hen's eggs in her nest. Darn if "Blinky" didn't set on them for 5 days! Last Friday they hatched, and now "Blinky's" as proud as a mother hen! (So's Skeeter.)

From where I sit, there's a lesson for all of us. Guess you'd call it "tolerance." Birds and animals often seem to do better in that respect than humans. If I like a glass of temperate beer with supper and you'd rather have cider—it should be okay with both of us. Neither of us should give a "hoot" what the other fellow likes, says, or does, as long as he follows the law of the land. Right?

THOSE DEAR OLD GOLDEN RULE DAYS

Seven sets of twins already are registered for Jan Wilms' kindergarten class in St. Louis Park next fall: only one pair of winsome girls, four of boys, and two "mixed twosomes" . . . Two brothers in Moorhead high school are piling up a challenging attendances record: Milton, a junior, has five years without an absence; Curtis Tweten, a sophomore, has eight perfect years behind him and aspires to at least two more . . . One of the oddest guests ever brought to a theater lost-and-found department confronted H. A. Young when he found a lad sobbing in the aisle of his Chaska show house; the boy had lost a front tooth while eating popcorn, and wanted it to sleep on. Please note that amid all the popcorn on the floor Mr. Young found the tooth.

"Two little girls left alone! It sounds like the beginning of a sad story.

But look again. There are certainly no tears. There is a comfortable home; and pretty clothes.

But these children have been given a great deal more than the ordinary comforts of life. There in the older child's hand is a book, "The Story of Jesus."

How reassuring to see that they have been given the advantages of a Christian training. Somehow all doubt has been removed from our minds. We feel that these little girls will be safe—not only during this one evening, but through their entire lives.

All of us want our children to be shielded from life's hardships and temptations, but we can guarantee no such protection. Our surest course is that we rear them in a Christian atmosphere, sending them to Daily Vacation Church School and taking them to the services of the Church regularly. Then, and then only, will we know that we have done everything in our power for their future success, happiness and salvation.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Strandquist School Enjoys High Attendance

Although a vacation of several days was declared during the potato harvest of last fall the average daily attendance achieved by the pupils o fall grades was the highest average the school has ever enjoyed.

The percentage of a perfect attendance reached in the high school was 95.1% and the grades 93.9% making an average of 94.5 for the whole school.

Due to the harmonious cooperation of the faculty it was not necessary to extend the school term or to cut the number of days in the school year, in order to make up the so called potato vacation. This was accomplished by shortening Christmas and Easter vacations, cancelling "Teachers. M.E.A. convention vacations and teaching school on several of the national holidays. from the standpoint of State Tuition and transportation aids, it is very important that schools haves high daily attendance and in the case of District No. 65, the parents cooperation in sending their children to school regularly has made the high average percentage of attendance possible.

WHY MERCURY'S NEW V-8 ENGINE IS THE FINEST IN ITS FIELD!

MORE RESPONSIVE (unique, new 4-barrel carburetor)—Only 2 barrels are used for normal driving. But the 2 extra barrels cut in instantly when reserve power is needed. They are vacuum-controlled for smoother response, greater economy.

SMOOTHER OPERATING (5 bearings, 8 counterweights)—Mercury's method of precision molding crankshafts of alloy iron permits a full set of counterweights (8 rather than the usual 6). The result: better balance, virtually no vibration.

MORE EFFICIENT (special high-turbulence combustion chambers)—Wedge-shaped combustion chambers, the result of 5 years' research, swirl the fuel-air mixture past the spark plugs in a miniature cyclone for fast, complete combustion—for more power from less gas. This is the most powerful yet the thriftiest Mercury ever—with .629 hp for every inch of its 256 cu. in. displacement . . . the highest ratio in Mercury's history.

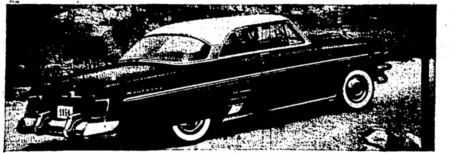
UNMATCHED FOR SHEER RUGGEDNESS (new deep-skirt block)—Mercury's new block extends almost 3 inches below the crankshaft's center line—gives far greater crankshaft support. New short-stroke (3.1") pistons cut engine wear, give 29% more mileage for same amount of piston travel.

TREMENDOUS RESERVE POWER ("over-and-under" intake manifold)—Free-flow passages provide a balanced distribution of fuel to all cylinders—permit Mercury to deliver its full 161-hp when needed. In the 4-door sedan, for example, there's one horsepower for every 23 pounds of car.

QUIETER OPERATING (precision balanced)—All major parts are balanced separately, then each engine is individually balanced in operation after assembly—a manufacturing process reserved up until now for only the most expensive engines.

THE SAME HIGH HORSEPOWER IN EVERY MODEL—Unlike some cars with optional, extra-cost "top-of-the-line" engines, Mercury's new 161-hp overhead valve V-8 is standard on every model.

COME IN AND SEE FOR YOURSELF—You don't have to be mechanically minded to understand the benefits of these new engine features. You can feel them on a trial drive. We invite you to stop in at our showroom and do just that.



ENJOY NO-SHIFT DRIVING AT ITS BEST, WITH SMOOTH MERC-O-MATIC DRIVE. OPTIONAL ON ALL MODELS.

All-time Record Set with 56 Fatalities in Traffic During May

The highest total of traffic deaths for the month of May in the history of the state was recorded last month when 56 persons died on the streets and highways of Minnesota, according to A. V. Rohweder, president of the Minnesota Safety Council.

The all-time record of fatalities for May exceeded by 5 the total in May, 1953, and brought the state's traffic toll for the first 5 months of this year to a total of 242 deaths.

The total, Mr. Rohweder pointed out, typifies the way traffic deaths have mounted since the state began keeping accurate statistics back in 1934. The count has risen over the years to the tragic total reached last month.

"The horrible merry-go-round goes on," Mr. Rohweder declared, "and it will not stop, or even slow down, until each citizen, each driver of a motor vehicle, takes personal responsibility into his hands and determines that he will help lessen the toll each month.

"To do this, each citizen must vow that he will drive sanely and sensibly and operate his car in such a manner that it will not be a hazard to himself or to others. Each of us must obey the traffic rules which are set up for our protection, cut speed, and drive defensively. Only then can we begin to reduce this terrible toll on the roads."

Traffic deaths last month were mainly the result of collisions with other vehicles, running off the road, or hitting fixed objects. While pedestrian deaths dropped from previous months, with only 6 pedestrians losing their lives, fatalities from collisions jumped drastically.

Collisions between motor vehicles accounted for 30 of the 56 deaths, and non-collision type of accidents, such as running off the road or hitting fixed objects like cement abutments, resulted in 20 deaths.

There were six collisions of the multiple-death variety, three taking three lives each and three killing two persons in each accident.

Bureau of Game Seeking Facts on Fishermen Costs

Results of a questionnaire survey being conducted by the division of game and fish should shed some light on the question 'How much money did the average Minnesota angler spend during 1953 in quest of members of the finny tribe?"

Ten selected members from each of the more than 500 sportsmen's clubs in the state have been asked to fill out questionnaires to be forwarded to Director of Game and Fish Frank D. Blair. The quizzes seek information on the amount spent by anglers during 1953 on fishing tackle, clothing, transportation, boats and motors, (including rental and maintenance), meals, lodging and refreshments, club dues, guides, cooks, and other miscellaneous items which include licenses, tents, trailers, binoculars, and any other expense connected with fishing.

The questionnaires are now in the hands of the sportsmen, who are urged to mail them in as soon as possible.

Blair points out that the figures are of importance to let the public and the members of the state legislature know what big business hunting and fishing is, and why the sportsmen's license money should be used for conservation purposes only.

In 1947, 100 active clubs cooperated in a similar campaign. Results then indicated the average amount spent by each individual was $222.35.

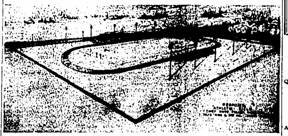
New Lincoln Athletic Field Plan Presented



Development of the new Lincoln high school athletic field south of the high school will start this year with the tiling and building up of the field, provided that voters of School District 18 at a special election next Monday evening, June 14, approve a $230,000 bond issue.

A portion of the proceeds of the bond issue, in the neighborhood of $40,000, will be reserved for the development of the field, the board of education announced, including the installation of lights at a later date.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Veterans with personal problems or questions should consult Leo P. Haley, Contact Representative, Room 210-211 Post Office Building or Box 875, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

Q: I know a disabled World War II veteran who's taking on-the-job training under Public Law 16. He recently was injured while in training. Would he be eligible for VA compensation because of his training injury?

A: He might be eligible, provided that his injury resulted from some training activity, and provided that it is serious enough to warrant compensation payments.

Q: Is it possible to get a GI loan to buy residential property containing more than one family unit?

A: Yes. However, if one veteran is buying, the total number of separate units he can get is four.

Q: A World War II veteran friend of mine died recently, leaving his wife a $10,000 GI term insurance policy. He had failed to pay his last premium on time, but the grace period hadn't expired. Will his wife get the full amount of the policy?

A: His wife will receive the full amount of the policy minus the unpaid premium.

Q: In computing annual income for VA pension purposes, does a veteran have to count his gross salary, or only his net take-home salary?

A: He must include his full, gross salary — including deductions made for retirement and amounts withheld for income tax.

It takes about one-and-one-tenth pounds of coal today, on a national average, to produce one kilowatt hour of electricity; 30 years ago 3 pounds of coal were needed to do the job.

The nation's 5 leading bituminous coal producing companies in 1953 each had an annual production of 9 million tons or more.

AAA—ANSWERS ALL ASKERS

American Automobile Association has branches and clubs all over the United States, probably all over the world. With field reporters constantly checking on roads, restaurants, hotels and motels, they tell inquiring travelers "Where we send you, our reporters have been." But it isn't the questions about these topics that puzzle these willing and well-informed travel consultants. It's the answers to inquiries like these that give them pause: "Is it true that the climate in Mexico is good for raising hair?" "Can you route me to Florida showing all the sawmills along the way?" "Can you give me the location of all the roundhouses in Texas?" "Where can we elope to and come back legally married in four days?" As a sane comfort and safety factor, the "Triple A" advises against travel plans that call for more than 300 miles a day.

Send in your local news items to the Times, your friends and relatives would appreciate the courtesy.

MILK COSTS YOU LESS: Above, Miss Reggie Dombeck steps on a "ladder of milk" to present the history of more milk for your money. In 1953, the average industrial worker's pay for an hour bought 7½ qts. of home-delivered milk. In 1939, an hour's pay purchased only 5.2 qts. In 1929 — only 3.9 qts.

This year, milk is even cheaper. Daniel M. Dent, national chairman for June Dairy Month, says: "Milk and milk products are tops for taste, health, and economy."

Watch your cattle eat round baled hay, packaged exclusively by ROTO-BALER. You can tell immediately how well they like the better quality, cured in round bales.
Examine one closely and see why. The hay is fluffier with more nutrition-packed leaves rolled inside. Livestock eat it readily right from the bale, saving labor.
And it costs less to bale, too. It's wrapped with inexpensive binder twine — field travel is reduced by picking up big double windrows. Get ready now. Hay time will soon be here.

50 YEARS AGO

Busiest Small Town

With railroads being built and a large adjoining area being opened for settlement, Thief River Falls probably was the busiest small town in the country fifty years ago. The Soo Line was well on its way up from the south and the Great Northern was being extended north. The opening of the Eleven Townships for settlement provided one of the last opportunities for people to acquire land by the homestead method and the coming sale was receiving a great deal of free publicity thruout the country.

In its June 16 issue the Thief River Falls News reported that land seekers were already arriving and were exploring the area to be settled. Men familiar with the territory hired out as locators and livery stables were truly doing a land office business. Banks were getting ready for a rush of business. The News reported:

Land Buyers Arrive

"The rush of land buyers who desire to secure homes upon the eleven townships is now on and every train is bringing in hundreds. For the most part they are a very orderly lot, and are not doing any loafing about town, but are spending their time in looking over the reservation and will remain there until next Monday morning and then come to this city and attend the sale.

"When the sale starts up Monday morning, and the men who are now scattered over all parts of the reservation come back here, the town will be filled to over flow and it will be hard to secure accomodations for a larger number.

"Just how high the land will sell is a matter of conjecture but the general opinion prevails that outside of the river claims the prices will not be very much above $4 an acre.

"It is expected that Governor Richards, the general land commissioner of Washington, will arrive here on Friday and will remain the first week of the sale. The officials of the land office at Crookston will be here on Monday.

Banks Prepared

"The local banks have made elaborate arrangements to meet the extraordinary demand that will be made on them during the sale of the lands of the Red Lake reservation. At previous sales of this kind much delay and inconveniences has been caused prospective purchasers through the operation of the rule of the government that only United States currency will be accepted in the payment for land.

"Many come from a distance and are provided with certificates of deposit and other paper which has to be turned into cash. To meet this demand the government has agreed to deposit each day's receipts, which are expected to average as high as $25,000, with the local banks and accept in return a telegraphic certificate of deposit from the United States depositories in Minneapolis, the local banks having made arrangements with the latter banks to issue certificates at the close of each day for the amount turned over by the government's agents.

"This will greatly facilitate business and will insure an abundance of currency to care for the demand from purchasers."

So reported the News and everything seemed to be in readiness for the start of the sale. The work of removing the bodies of Indians buried in the Eleven township area had been completed too. "In all 113 Indians were found and at the contract price of $14.50 for each body the contractor received $1,638.50 and made a net profit of over $1,000 on the job." The financial editor of the News had a busy week.

Circular Explains Sale

Circulars had been received providing a schedule of dates for the various parcels of land to be offered for sale. About eighty quarters were to be offered each day and it was thought the auction would continue until the 14th of July.

"By examining the schedule of sales the homeseeker will be able to determine the exact date upon which his particular quarter will be offered for sale and until that date he will not have to worry that someone else will snap up his choice," observed the News. "The system is a good one and will undoubtedly meet with popular favor."

"General manager Pennington and chief engineer Green of the Soo Line arrived here Saturday evening and left again Sunday morning," the News reported. "They were making a trip over the extension to see how work is progressing and announced when here that the Soo would be running cars in here inside of sixty days."

There were to be two division points on the Soo Line between Glenwood and Emerson, these presumably to be Thief River Falls and Mahnomen. "At present there is no town at Wild Rice (Mahnomen) but the location of the division headquarters there will be sure to make it a good town."

G. N. First at Crossing

The Great Northern had moved fast to get its track built at the point where the Soo would cross its right-of-way north of the city. "The Great Northern is not going to make the Soo path in this section a bed of roses," said editor Eastman in reporting this continuing battle of the giants. "Yesterday the Great Northern had 800 feet of track laid at the point where the Soo will cross that road north of town. This means that when the Soo builds across the Great Northern line that it can be forced under state laws to put in an inter-lock switch, which costs several thousand dollars."

And while the railroad giants were battling it out locally, little Japan was giving big Russia a terrific beating in the Far East. As the land sale was in the making in Thief River Falls the history making fight at Port Arthur was getting under way.

SMILEY . . .

A novel money making idea will be promoted by the Bethany Luther League in the church parlors Saturday evening, June 12 at 8 o'clock. It is a rather clever idea at that by auctioning off the parcel post packages received by a committee from far off places such as California, Florida, Ohio and so on. These packages have been sent by the donors and include an unknown variety of gifts both novelties and useful gifts. Lunch will be served and a very cordial invitation is extended by the Luther Leaguers to the public. Make it a date.

3-Day 50th Anniversary Opens Friday

200 Pioneers Will Be Anniversary Dinner Guests Friday Night

More than 200 pioneers of this area are expected to attend the 50th anniversary banquet to be held in their honor Friday evening at 5:30 at St. Bernards church parlors. Among this group will be those who settled on the Indian reservation lands opened for homestead in 1904 and also "old-timers" 70 years or older who lived in this area 50 years ago.

A limited number of seats are available to the general public by contacting J. M. Roche at the Civic and Commerce office.

An informal program following the dinner will include talks by several men now prominent in other fields who have a personal recollection of the early stages of development in this community. Among these will be Dreng Bjornaraa of Minneapolis, former editor of the Thief River Falls Times, a graduate of Lincoln High School and a son of Hickory township homesteaders, who now is in public relations work.

Another product of the southeast corner of the county who will speak is Jarle Leirfallom, at the present time director of the department of public welfare of the State of Minnesota. Prior to his appointment to this office which was created by the 1953 session of the legislature, he served as director of the division of social welfare since 1946.

David J. Winton, chairman of the board of the Winton Lumber company of Minneapolis and third speaker on the banquet panel, does not qualify as a former resident of this community but he has a personal recollection of interesting incidents that occurred when he, on numerous occasions, visited his uncle David Winton, who managed the affairs of the Thief River Falls Lumber Company and its extensive lumbering and milling operations in this section of the state a half a century ago.

Banquet Speaker

Dreng Bjornaraa, native of Hickory township, which was a part of the Indian reservation opened for settlement 50 years ago in 1904, will speak Friday evening at the golden anniversary banquet which will get under way at 5:30 in the St. Bernard's dining hall. Bjornaraa, former editor of the Times, is now serving as public relations director for the United States Steel Corp. in its St. Paul office.

Council Holds Busy Session Tuesday Night

To Open Bids July 8 on Several Sewer and Water Main Projects

The city council at a lengthy June session last night voted to call for bids on several sewer and water main projects. No objectors appeared at a hearing on the extension of sewer and water mains on West Fourth st. into the fair grounds property, and action was taken to ask bids on the work. Bids will be opened also July 8 on projects on Maple and Davis av.

Set for the same evening is a hearing on several petitions for bituminous street surfacing.

A group of residents on Oakland Park road outside the city limits submitted a petition indicating a desire to install their own water mains and connect up with the city supply when an adequate main is put in as far as the city limits. The council voted to deny the request.

Douglas Stewart, city engineer, submitted a report on the proposed installation of sewer and water mains on Merriam av. from Hughes to Nora st., and estimated that the project would cost abou $13,000. A hearing on the matter was set for July 20.

A petition signed by Gunnuf Gunstenson and others, requesting the annexation to the city of the area north of Sixth st. and east of State av. was found to have been signed by owners of all the property involved, and the council gave the necessary ordinance its first reading.

A group of citizens were present at the session to support a petition asking the council to order the removal of the Hendrickson ice house on Crocker av. S. at Gulf st. The petitioners stated that the property is being used only in part, and that it is a fire hazard and an eyesore in an attractive residence district. The council set a hearing on the matter for June 23.

After considering four bids on a pneumatic hammer and auxiliary equipment for use by the city water department, the council voted to accept the bid of Wm. H. Ziegler & Co. in the amount of $3,180.

Granted were several applications for building permits, including one by Hanson & Jaranson covering a warehouse addition to their property. It was voted to defer action on the request of Neil McKechnie for a permit to construct a $14,000 service station at the corner of LaBree av. and First st., the property in question now being involved in condemnation proceedings brought by the city to acquire the property for a parking lot.

The council approved a ten-year lease submitted by City Attorney Robert A. Wurst which gives the city control over the baseball field at the fair grounds.

Examiner Report Recommends Halt of Airline to TRF

Final Decision, However, Rests in Hands of Civil Aeronautics Board

An examiner for the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) recommended to the board Tuesday of last week that the North Central Airline routes from Minneapolis to Thief River Falls, Grand Forks and Fargo be discontinued.

The examiner, Joseph Fitzmaurice, said the service is not required for public convenience and necessity. North Central has been operating the routes on a temporary permit from the CAB during the past two years but asked permission to suspend service last December because of poor patronage.

An appeal from the examiner's decision will be filed by Robert Aldrich, director of the Metropolitan airports commission in an attempt to keep the air routes in the state.

Other cities that would be affected by the suspension are Brainerd, Bemidji, Alexandria and Fergus Falls.

Mrs. Premo Bartot of Helena, Montana visited Sunday at the C. E. Noel home.

Hartz Again Is Named head of Hospital Board

Members of Medical Staff Appointed at Meeting Monday Night

The board of trustees of Northwestern Hospital at its annual organization meeting Monday evening reelected all officers of the board and members of the standing committees were reelected for the year 1954-55. L. B. Hartz remains as president; Judge Paul A. Lundgren, vice president; Frank A. Rinkel, treasurer; and Norman Peterson, secretary. Other members of the board are John Anderson, Lawrence Bjorkman, William LaFave, Hilmer Lunke, Maynard Mehrkens, and Frank E. Tunberg.

The board also took action regarding membership of the medical staff for the year 1954-55. Doctors Paul H. Wendt, William R. Feigal, George VanRooy, Milton Starekow, Jacob Biedermann, and Daniel Greene were reelected as members of the attending staff; Dr. George Martin to the associate staff; Doctors Edward R. Bratrud, Phillip Parker, Rudolph Skogerboe, and L. H. Kiefstad to the courtesy staff; Doctors G. W. Booren, J. G. Hillard, C. E. Snyder, and D. M. Travnicek to the dental courtesy staff.

The bid of Dahlquist, Inc. to brush-scrub the old hospital building with muriatic acid in an attempt to bring the coloring of old and new structures to a closer similarity was tabled on the grounds that experimental attempts to scrub the old building did not bring out the closeness of appearance necessary, and on the grounds of cost.

H. W. Peterson, administrator, reported on the matter of the use of the Northern Blood Bank donors at the hospital. He pointed out there still remains a very large proportion of persons needing blood at the hospital who are not covered by the Blood Bank association and suggested that the association should be expanded some time this fall so that more people in the area might be served through the organization.

The administrator also reported on the status of purchase of equipment and furnishings for the new hospital addition. $90,000.00 has been allotted for this purpose and federal participation in cost up to 45% of this amount can be received. Status

In 1915 this building, occupied by Lokens' Department Store, was destroyed by fire, and quite a fire it was judging by the picture at the left. The structure was rebuilt as a one-story building and now is the home of the J. C. Penney Company. These pictures are from the Al Borry collection.

Early in July, 1904, the Evenson Block was occupied by the Golden Rule Department Store operated by O. J. Schei & Co. and offering the "Most complete stock of dry goods, clothing, shoes, groceries, etc. in the northwest."

James Wiley, Soo Line Dispatcher, Retires

James M. Wiley, train dispatcher for the Soo Line in Thief River Falls at various times dating back to 1913, announced this week that he is retiring next Monday, June 21.

He began his railroad career April 1, 1901, when he entered the employ of the Cumberland Valley Valley railroad at Dillsburg, Penna., and six years later he moved farther west and served on various roads as operator, car distributor or train dispatcher.

He also served as a train dispatcher instructor with the Russian Railway Service Corps in Siberia and Manchuria.

Mr. Wiley first came to the Soo Line at Thief River Falls, in September 1912 as an operator. He was promoted in May, 1913 to train dispatcher and was here until January, 1917. While working as a train dispatcher he registered as a student in Lincoln high school, went to school days and worked his trick as a dispatcher evenings.

In 1917 he decided to move westward, and it was not until 1927 that he again returned to the Soo Line, and Thief River Falls to work as an extra. In October, 1945, he moved to Thief River Falls permanently on the night chief dispatcher's position and held that until consolidation caused that job to be abolished, when he again resumed work as a dispatcher.

Because of his health he is retiring to a new home at Aurora, Missouri, in the Ozarks, where the summer seasons are long, and the winters short and mild.

Mrs. Wiley left Thief River Falls June 4th to visit with her brother, H. S. Latham and family, in St. Paul, at which place she will join Mr. Wiley when he leaves for his Missouri home. They have a daughter, Constance, married to James V. Philipp living on a farm northeast of this city, and a son, LaVerne Kermit, born here in 1914, now married and living in Chicago.

Dairy Day Is Topic at Lions Meeting

Pins Given for Perfect Attendance Past Year

The successful outcome of Northwest Dairy June 8 was discussed by Stuart McLeod and Lew Conlon, leading figures in the event, at the Lions club luncheon meeting last Wednesday noon in the Rex Cafe.

McLeod praised the action of Andy Erickson of Badger in relinquishing the purebred dairy calf won for the third time at this year's show by a member of his family. He said this was a fine demonstration of the true spirit of cooperation.

Conlon suggested that sponsors of Dairy Day start now to plan for building a permanent home for the show, which he said is a future Waterloo Dairy Cattle Congress. He added that he is proud of his five-year association with Dairy Day.

In behalf of the club, W. G. Claffy presented pins denoting perfect attendance during the past year to Dr. E. S. Amesbury, John Anderson, Clarence Mattson, Jim Parkins, Stan Pladson and Wendell Olson.

J. A. Burnquist, Attorney General, to Retire in 1955

State Official, Age 75, Gives up Idea of Filing for U. S. Senate Post

Atty. Gen. J. A. A. Burnquist, Minnesota's World War I governor and a veteran of 28 years in public office, announced Monday he will retire next January, the end of his present two-year term.

Burnquist's announcement came as a surprise even to some of his closest associates.

Earlier this year he had flirted with the idea of seeking the Republican nomination for U. S. senator. He apparently abandoned that idea when State Treasurer Val Bjornson announced he would run for senator. Even after that it had been assumed by party leaders that Burnquist would run again for attorney general.

Burnquist's decision may mean a virtual free-for-all race for the Republican nomination for attorney general.

Mentioned immediately as a leading possibility was Bernhard Levander, Minneapolis attorney and former state GOP chairman. Levander was director of social welfare in the administration of former Gov. Harold Stassen.

Burnquist, who will be 75 in July, made his announcement in a formal statement.

600 Delegates Were Present at Lutheran Free Church Sessions

Nearly 600 delegates attended the annual conference of the Lutheran Free Church in Thief River Falls, ending last Sunday evening in Zion Lutheran church, while more than 1,000 persons attended two identical services with Rev. Lester Dahlen of Seattle, Wash., delivering the sermon.

At the same time, the Women's Missionary Federation held its sessions June 9 and 10, and heard an address Thursday evening by Dr. Fredrik Schiotz of the National Lutheran council in New York, who that day was elected to succeed Dr. J. A. Aasgaard as president of the Evangelical Lutheran Church.

A new proposal for continued participation by the Lutheran Free church in negotiations with the American, Evangelical and United Evangelical Lutheran churches was presented at the conference Thursday.

Most of the proposal is concerned with the future of Augsburg college and seminary in Minneapolis, institutions operated by the church.

Under the new recommendation, LFC congregations would be integrated into the organization of their respective conferences and districts within the merged church and would participate fully in its total stewardship program.

Previously, it had been proposed that the Lutheran Free church be constituted as a "non-geographical district" of the merged church. Such a proposal it is now believed by LFC negotiators would create "conflicting loyalties."

In his annual report as president, Dr. T. F. Burntvedt, Minneapolis, who conducted the sessions, said he believes the objectives the Free church sought could be better obtained and preserved under the new proposal.

"The Lutheran Free church in the form we have it today was conceived of by our founding church fathers as a movement and not as a church body," he explained.

"Changing conditions, growth and developments have, whether we like it or not, made it necessary for us for all practical purposes to function as a church body. . .

"It is my belief that the principles we stand for, ideals we cherish and the emphasis we feel called to bear witness to can live on and continue as a movement within another frame of polity. I believe this can be done in the 'merged church' structure such as proposed.

Lutherans already have recovered the $500,000 they spent in producing the movie, "Martin Luther," it was reported Thursday.

Dr. Paul C. Emple, New York, executive director of the National Lutheran council, said the movie, which had its world premiere in Minneapolis in April 1953, has been shown to more than 10 million people in 3,000 theatres. It grossed some 3 million dollars during the first year of its release.

While its first run is not over, it is likely that the movie will be seen by even a larger audience on its second run at popular prices, he said.

Dr. Emple urged support for a new department of radio and television being started in the council.

He also called for support of a $1,500,000 program to establish Lutheran centers near campuses of non-Lutheran and state colleges and universities.

Construction of two buildings at Augsburg college and seminary, Minneapolis, is expected to begin this year, it was announced at the conference Friday of the Lutheran Free Church, which supports the institutions.

Bids were to be opened Tuesday for a $400,000 new library. It was reported that $307,000 in cash and pledges has been raised for the library.

The conference approved the application for a federal government loan of $310,000 to erect a new women's dormitory on the Augsburg campus.

The home missions board announced it is starting a new inter-racial congregation in the Bronx of New York City—principally for Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

The LFC foreign missions board reported it had received $90,000 for foreign missions last year—the highest amount in history. Ten new missionaries are being sent out this year.

Bishop Eivind Berggrav, former primate of Norway, addressed the conference Friday. It concluded Sunday following ordination of nine Augsburg seminary graduates to the ministry.

Impressive Flag Day Exercises Are Sponsored by Elks

Rev. K. Patnode Cites Privileges Enjoyed by United States Citizens

A large audience, including many Boy Scouts, attended the annual Flag Day exercises Monday evening in the Elks club rooms, sponsored by the local Elks lodge with the cooperation of the BPO Does. Alvin Christofferson, exalted ruler, presided.

Speaker for the occasion was the Rev. K. Patnode, pastor of St. Bernard's church. He pointed out the privileges enjoyed by American citizens, and said we should so conduct ourselves that we do not bring about the downfall of our beloved country. He also spoke forcefully against the menace of communism.

The tribute to the flag was read by Arthur R. Johnson, following which members of the BPO Does, attired in white formals, executed their impressive flag ritual, with Mrs. Arthur Hamilton supplying piano accompaniment.

The audience joined in singing "The Star-spangled Banner," and in reciting the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Lunch was served following the exercises.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor, the Times:

More and more it becomes evident that a Thief River Falls Taxpayers Association is an imperative need. As we look over some of the expenditures the City Council is making it can easily be seen that some type of curb is needed so the boys in the Council do not become over-inflated by their new powers and start throwing away the City Funds in stupid and silly projects.

The last body of City Council members became, as we recall, infected with the flying bug. They wanted to fly airplanes. The city money they spent on the airfield is a matter of record. In spite of the fact that any four-year-old boy could have told them the possibilities of making an air travel point out of Thief River Falls was a wild dream. They even built a beacon tower to guide the vast armada of night-flying aircraft to a safe landing. Now, of course, the wild dream is ended and the air field can be turned back to the cows and horses, from which it should never have been taken.

Now it is baseball! For a few nights of playing baseball during our brief summer season the boys saw fit to expend over $20,000 of tax money. This in spite of the fact that the streets need rebuilding, the sewers need enlarging, and our water pressure is inadequate to fight our fires, a fact which Club Langevin can verify.

It would be interesting to determine what small group of people are responsible for railroading this baseball deal through. That is where the Taxpayers Association would be of inestimable value in scrutinizing these fast deals before they can be railroaded through. This would block such action by a minority of interested persons.

Very truly yours,
L. W. Anderson

Locals Win 16-inning Tilt at Alvarado 9-7

Gene Leslie's toss to first base, after fielding southpaw-swinging Webb Larson's slow roller, ended an extra-inning marathon at Alvarado on Sunday evening and gave the stout-hearted Thieves' hurler a 9 to 7 win over the Farmers in 16 innings.

Moving into the top half of the 16th inning, with the score tied at 7-all, the Thieves shoved across a pair of scores to end the game and hand Alvarado its first loss in league play. Opening the 16th, Darrell Wagner drew a walk, and advanced to second base on a wild pitch. Bob Helgeland struck out; Al Williamson was safe at first base on shortstop Dwayne Ekman's boot, with Wegner moving around to third base.

On a squeeze play, Bob Bergman uncorked a wild pitch, with Wegner sliding across the plate with the tie-breaking run, and Williamson going in to third. Sid Vraa's ground single to centerfield plated Williamson with an "insurance" run. Joey Poole struck out, and Leslie sent a pop foul to the catcher. In the Alvarado half of the 16th frame Leslie retired the side in order.

Arrangements are being completed for the transfer of next Sunday's game to Red Lake Falls. The Lakers of Red Lake Falls had been slated to play at Thief River Falls, but it is doubtful if the Fair Grounds diamond will be playable by Sunday, and in that event the game will be transferred to Red Lake Falls' Riverside Park.

Sunday's hectic game at Alvarado featured the scoring opportunities that both teams botched, with Alvarado stranding twenty runners on the bases and the Thieves leaving eighteen men on base.

Leslie's clout over the rightfield fence gave the Thieves a 1 to 0 lead in the 2nd inning, but that lead was short-lived for Alvarado, on an error, a hit batsman, a walk, a sacrifice, and a single by Don Bergman, scored three runs in the last half of the 2nd inning.

The Farmers added a pair of runs in the 5th inning, and, after the Thieves had scored twice in the 6th inning, Alvarado marked up a singleton to take a 6 to 3 lead. The locals knotted the game in the 8th when Don Hagglund, a southpaw who hurled the first 7 1/3 innings for the Farmers, issued walks to Dick Edlund and Shorty Perkins. Hoppe struck out; Wegner sent a slow roller to the mound, and when Hagglund threw the ball away, Edlund scored, Perkins advanced to third and Wegner gained second. Helgeland lined a single into leftfield, scoring Perkins and Wegner, and forcing the game into extra innings.

The Thieves broke the 6-all tie by squeezing home a run in the 14th inning, with Williamson laying down a bunt hit to score Perkins; but Alvarado, on singles by Milt Sands, Larson, and Glad Kollin, shoved across a run in the last half of the 14th.

Argyle, defeating Crookston by a 13 to 4 score, assumed first place in the Red River Valley league standings on Sunday when the Alvarado Farmers dropped a 16-inning, 9 to 7, decision to the Thieves. The loss absorbed by Alvarado dropped the Farmers into second place tie with the Thieves.

Sunday's schedule was highlighted by that extra-inning contest at Alvarado, with the Thieves' righthander, Gene Leslie, going the distance to gain his second win of the year. Alvarado's pitching duties were shared by lefty Don Hagglund, who hurled the first 7 1/3 innings, and righthander Bob Bergland who finished and was the loser. In the other games on Sunday's bill, Argyle bested Crookston; and Red Lake Falls, behind the steady pitching of Jim Henkes, defeated Viking.

This week's slate will find Thief River Falls traveling to Red Lake Falls for an important tilt. This game was originally scheduled for Thief River Falls, but by mutual agreement it has been transferred to Red Lake Falls and will be a Laker "home" game. Alvarado will play at Crookston, and Viking will attempt to stop the high-flying Argyle club in a game at Argyle.

Legion Juniors to Play Warren Today

Ball Game Scheduled on the Viking Diamond

Coach Ralph Skjod's junior Legion baseball team will attempt to get back into competition this evening when, in a game slated for 6 p. m. they meet the Warren juniors on the Viking diamond. The game has been shifted to the Viking diamond because of the unplayable condition of the Fair Grounds field, due to the rain and the light-standard work that is in progress there.

The locals did manage to play one game during the week and that was at Stephen last Thursday afternoon. Coach Skjod's club scored an 8 to 3 victory over Stephen, breaking up the game with a five-run outburst in the 5th frame. Harold Hjelle, Bobby Hallamack, and Jack Poole, all righthanders shared the hurling for the locals, with Freddy Dablow doing the receiving. Glenn Carlson, rapping out two hits in three trips to the plate, was the most consistent sticker for the juniors.

The schedule will find the local juniors playing East Grand Forks here on Tuesday evening, June 22nd; and on Thursday, June 24th, the Argyle juniors will play here.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Yes, sir! No, sir! Yes, sir.

Gladys and Orvis Olen were on Lake of the Woods on Sunday and had wonderful walleyed pike fishing in the vicinity of Burton Island. Burton Island, in Ontario, is several miles northeast of the blinker at the mouth of the Rainy river.

Gladys and Orvis had sixteen fine pike on their stringers by eleven o'clock in the morning, and they were just about ready to leave for Gust Ogren's camp at Wheeler's Point when they were waved down by a couple of RCMP. "Have you an Ontario fishing license?", was the first question asked. "Yes, sir," said Orvis, and after several hot and anxious moments he was able to produce the papers. "Have you read the provisions with regard to limit catches of walleye pike in Ontario waters?", was the second question. "No, sir," promptly answered Orvis. "Well, for your information you and your wife are four walleyed pike over the limit, for the Ontario limit is six walleyes apiece," explained the RCMP. "You realize, don't you, that you are in violation of the Ontario game laws?", was the third question. "Yes, sir," answered Orvis.

After a consultation, the two RCMP's decided to confiscate the four over-limit walleyed pike, void Gladys' and Orvis' licenses as far as future walleyed pike fishing in Ontario is concerned.

Another Classic

For the second straight year, and again it was a Marshall county team, the Thieves were in a long-distance ball game. We're referring, of course, to that sixteen-inning tilt at Alvarado on Sunday, and which was won by the locals, 9 to 7.

Last year, in a game played here on July 14th, the Thieves and the Viking Oilers played eighteen innings of baseball before Viking edged out a 2 to 1 victory. It's worth mentioning, too, that righthander Gene Leslie, who pitched that 18-inning game last year, was on the mound for the Thieves on Sunday, and he went the distance to gain his second win of the year.

While we didn't keep statistics on Sunday's game as far as the number of pitches Gene threw, it is our impression, and Gene agreed, the he threw more baseballs against Alvarado on Sunday than he did in that 18-inning game last year.

Feeling that such young pitchers as lefty LeRoy Aasland and righthander Dude Rafteseth require a lot of "work", and that they wouldn't be getting that with the Thieves in Red River Valley league play, the local club's management have given LeRoy and Dude their releases. It's reported that the two pitchers will join teams in the Northern Minny loop.

Game and Fish

To settle some questions that have arisen as to the rights of a Minnesota citizen in transporting dressed fish, we'll cite subd. 3 of section 97.45 of the state game and fish laws: "Any resident may carry with him in any vehicle or as baggage on a common carrier, to any place within the state, wild animals, including undressed game birds and dressed or undressed fish, lawfully in his possession and subject to all other applicable restrictions."

The interpretation we have received is that an angler may have his fish cleaned and filleted at his fishing camp and then, if he is a Minnesota resident, he may transport those fish to his home.

Improved Fishing

Reports received from anglers that fished Lake of the Woods at Morris and Wheeler's Points on Sunday were that the walleyed pike fishing was the best so far this season. Cliff and Don Lunke, Ray Oen, and Tom Fixter had fine fishing on Sunday afternoon on the lake-side of Pine island, and they were back in town with their limits early in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nelson, Mrs. Art Senstad, and Norma Jean Looker fished off Pine island on Sunday, too, and they "filled." Or as Norma Jean says, "We loaded." The pride and joy of the catch that party made was an 8¼-pound walleyed pike that Ed caught; and that fish was boated in spite of some awkward net-work by Mr. Nelson.

Viking's Chuck Barr tells us that he has been having a great time fishing the crappies in east Union lake. Chuck states that those crappies provide great sport when they are caught on a fly rod.

Highlight of the annual meeting will be an address to a joint meeting with the American Legion auxiliary by Truman Wold, national vice commander, recognized as one of the most dynamic speakers of the Northwest. Commander Wold's address will follow a joint luncheon at the F-M Hotel in Moorhead.

Elmer Anderson, Thief River Falls, Ninth district commander, will open the convention at two p. m. Friday, June 18. Thornley Wells, mayor of Moorhead will welcome the Legionnaires.

Members of the Legion auxiliary will meet in the F-M Hotel simultaneously with Mrs. Charles Boughton, Red Lake Falls, auxiliary president, presiding.

The Saturday session of the confab will begin at nine a.m. and run throughout the morning. Election of officers will be held at two in the afternoon and installation shortly thereafter.

Sunday afternoon the memorial service will be held at the Moorhead memorial park at two p. m., following the somber memorial parade, which will begin downtown at 1:15.

Son Rescues Dad, 80, in Boat Upset

The two were returning from Black bay when the 14-foot boat upset. Sweeney's father, unable to swim, gripped the boat. But the anchor had sunk to the bottom and was pulling the boat down.

Sweeney swam to his father's side, removed a knife from the elderly man's pocket and cut the anchor rope. He then guided the boat 150 yards to shore.

THE LAST OF THE PIONEERS

The first of this year's two important anniversaries will be celebrated by our community this week. Fifty years ago, on June 20, 1904, the eleven townships of reservation lands lying east of Thief River Falls were opened for settlement. There is good reason to celebrate this event and the fifty years of progress that have transformed a brush-land wilderness into a well-developed, substantial farming community.

In September we will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the coming of the Soo Line. At that time special consideration will be given to the growth and development of the city itself. While Thief River Falls was already well established as a lumber-mill town and as an end-of-the-line trading post serving a large area, it was the Soo Line, with its substantial division-point payroll, that gave the city its stability and assured its future growth.

These two outstanding events combined to make 1904 the banner year in the early history of the community.

Fifty years is a long time in the life of any individual and the ranks of those who were the first settlers on the Indian lands in 1904 are thinning rapidly. The comparatively few remaining first settlers, along with others who qualify as old-timers in the area, will be guests at a banquet to be served in their honor Friday evening and will be given special recognition thruout the celebration. It is a deserved tribute to a generation that properly may be called the last of the pioneers.

SPEAK A KIND WORD

The dedication of Pennington County's new court house Saturday afternoon fits in well with the progress theme of the 50th anniversary celebration, folks hereabouts will agree. Just getting rid of the old structure, an eyesore in the community for many years, is itself a real achievement.

But while we're glad the old building is gone, we frankly viewed its destruction with mixed emotions, and we hope a few kind words will be said in its behalf at the exercises Saturday. Surely its long, faithful and uncomplaining service over a period of so many years is deserving of some recognition.

The record of public service of that old building dated back to the time when Thief River Falls was a village in Red Lake county. When Pennington county was organized in 1910, and Thief River Falls became a county seat, the old fire barn and city hall rose to the occasion. Drafted to serve temporarily as a court house, it continued in the service, guarding faithfully our public records from the threats of fires and storms, over a period of 44 years.

A GOOD PLACE TO LIVE

In the Public-Opinion column this week space is given the views of a citizen who does not approve of the expenditures of public funds for a lighted ball diamond or for an airport. There no doubt are many who will agree with his opinions and it is a good thing that opposing views in matters of this kind be expressed.

We are among those however who believe the expenditures that will make possible night baseball can be justified. No taxpayer is being or has been hurt because of the dollars spent for recreational facilities in our city and we know several citizens who pay taxes in very substantial amounts who nevertheless favor this type of development.

And the city's airport was built long before commercial air service was inaugurated on a trial basis. Whether or not commercial service is continued we still will need an airport, we think. A large number of local fliers think so too.

But just as a matter of keeping the record straight, very little of the local taxpayer's money has been put into airport improvements. The hangars were built by a group of airport boosters with private funds. The runways and practically all of the other improvements have been paid for largely out of the revenues raised by special taxes on the industry itself. The airport has not been a burden on the local taxpayer and has not replaced or retarded any other needed public improvement.

Thief River Falls is a good city in many ways. Few Minnesota cities have a lower tax rate for municipal purposes. It is a better city in which to live because it has good recreational facilities. In addition to excellent school play facilities we have a skating arena (we think it should be enlarged), a bathing beach, a growing system of parks, an outstanding golf course, a good landing field and, pretty soon, a lighted ball diamond where the young fellows can play night baseball and we can sit in the bleachers among the has-beens and tell them how the game should be played.

Would this be a better city if we didn't have these things?

There will not be a surplus of peaches this summer, we were told by a fruit salesman with whom we waited for a train last week. In that statement we have no special interest as a consumer of peaches. What did interest us was his explanation that there will be no surplus because the peach growers now are in the process of cutting production 17%, an estimate on what the surplus would be if the entire crop were permitted to mature. That portion of the crop is being destroyed in order that the growers may receive a fair price for the 83% that will be marketed. This is accomplished through organization of the industry itself and without help from Uncle.

We enjoyed the privilege of attending a press conference with the visiting Ethopian monarch, Emperor Haile Selassie, at St. Paul last week. Our reaction was one of sympathy for the head of a government whose people have had more than their share of trouble. The interview, by interpreter, was not impressive. We came away with a feeling of respect for a fellow who appears to be making a sincere effort to improve conditions in his backward country. Our guess, however, is that not one of the reporters present got the idea that they would like to be an emperor.

BELIEVE IN SIGNS

Every summer one or more highway workers are killed or injured when struck by motorists driving through construction or repair zones. These accidents happen in spite of prominent warning signs and signalmen who offer instructions and advice to passing motorists. These needless accidents can be avoided very easily, says the Minnesota highway department, if every motorist will believe in posted signs erected for his benefit.

"You can expect the most raiding in the best melon patch"

You can bet your bottom dollar on it.

Come next year, or the year after that, you'll be seeing on other cars some of the styling features you see in Buick today.

We expect it. It has happened before. And there is good reason for it — popular appeal.

Take, for example, the car model shown here.

When Buick introduced this body type in 1949, it was a completely new thing. And it was an instant hit.

Today, Buick "hardtops" outsell all other models in the line. It's the styling America has taken to its heart.

So today you find that every major car maker has his own version of this Buick original. (And we can't blame them a bit. They know a good thing when they see it.)

For you can be sure that the great panoramic windshield first shown by Buick this year will be copied. It's too good to pass up.

And you can be sure that the full rear-wheel cutout now on every 1954 Buick Riviera and Convertible will show up elsewhere in the future. It's a sports-car touch that hits a really popular note.

We're sure of such things.

We're sure because the tomorrow-styled Buick of today seems to be just what people want. Because Buick sales are soaring. Because Buick now outsells every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

So to you we say—why wait another day to see and drive a new Buick? It's the beauty of the year. It's the buy of the times. And it's a wonderful way to head up the parade.

Drop in this week for a demonstration, won't you?

Shirley Voeltz and Omer Olson Married Friday Afternoon

The Mt. Olive Lutheran church was the scene of a beautiful wedding Friday afternoon, June 11th when Shirley Voeltz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Voeltz of Trail became the bride of Omer Olson, son of Thomas Olson of Trail. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. John Moldstad.

Preceding the ceremony a melody of nuptial music was played by Mrs. John Moldstad. She also accompanied the soloist, Beverlee Stenvold, who sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Escorted to the altar by her father the bride was attired in a white gown of chantilly lace and satin. The fitted bodice featured a lace neck line with tiny covered buttons down the back and long sleeves extending to points at the wrists. A lace peplum extended into a full train of satin. Hе fingertip veil was held in place by a pearl crown cap. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Vivian Brenna, the foster sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of white over spring green and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Sylvia Voeltz, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a floor length gown of green taffeta and carried a bouquet of white roses. Both wore necklaces, a gift from the bride.

Vernon Voeltz, brother of the bride, was best man. Donald Paulson, a friend of the groom, was the other attendant.

Ushers were Kenneth Brenna, a cousin of the groom, and Mario Thronson, a friend of the bride and groom.

MEN MOST NUMEROUS

In 1850, according to Minnesota's first federal census, 61.2% of Minnesota's 6,000 population were of the male persuasion, 38.2 were rugged pioneer females, sometimes erroneously referred to as "the weaker sex." Greatest change in ratio was during that decade; the 1860 census showed the female percentage up to 45.9, male down to 54.1. From then on the change has been almost imperceptible to a practical balance in 1950; last census showed Minnesota's population 49.7% female, 50.3% male. Of our men, 5.7% are widowers, 29.6% single, 64.7% married; of the women 12.4% are widows, only 22.7% single, 64.9% married—and don't be puzzled by the .2% difference between the figure for married women and married men—since there are more men the percentage is less. Incidentally, Minnesota has a higher percentage of single men than the country as a whole: 29.6% here compared with a national ratio of 26.2% unmarried.

Mayors and Councils Warned of Law as to State Trunk Routes

Mayors, city and village councilmen and municipal clerks were warned this week that they are not only setting a bad exampel of violating state law, but also may be incurring liability for personal damage suits when they obstruct or detour traffic from streets which carry state trunk highway routes for the purpose of holding community celebrations, carnivals, festivals and similar public assemblies.

State Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann this week was sending letters to all city and village clerks to be brought to the attention of their mayors and councils. He pointed out that "established regulations definitely prohibit obstructing traffic on state trunk routes" in connection with the holding of such community affairs, and added:

"Municipal officials have no authority to detour traffic from trunk highways for such purposes, and members of any local governing body who attempt to assume such authority may become personally liable for damage action as a result of any death, personal injury or property damage accident suffered as a result of such diversion of or interference with normal and rightful traffic movement."

The commissioner in his letter to municipal officials attached a copy of a memorandum, which has been in effect for the past five years, outlining the policy of the highway department in such matters. He also furnished a copy of his letter and memorandum to all district engineers and district maintenance engineers and to every state highway patrolman throughout the state.

"The regulations referred to have been established for the safety and protection of the public," Commissioner Hoffman said. "Their objective is to assure traffic on Minnesota's trunk highway system of the uninterrupted traffic service to which they are entitled .Certainly municipal officials and civic organizations, who expect the citizens of their communities to obey laws and ordinances, should themselves cooperate in upholding the law."

The commissioners' memorandum pointed out that not even the highway department, as custodian of the trunk highway system, has any authority to grant request from local authorities or organizations to close off or obstruct any street carrying a trunk highway except as it may be necessary in connection with construction or repair operations. In no case can the erection of stands, buildings, tents, concessions or other similar encroachments be permitted.

No Slowdown in REA, Says Ancher Nelson

Ancher Nelsen, federal REA administrator, speaking June 7 at the annual meeting of the Wild Rice Electric Cooperative, in Mahnomen, struck out at what he described as "professional propagandists" who he accused of trying to destroy the people's faith in the REA program.

Before he started to talk, Nelsen was presented a $50,000 check by Nils P. Pederson, Bejou, president of the Wild Rice Cooperative. The check represented a prepayment on an REA loan.

Nelson said that there were some individuals who were using the "scare technique" in an effort to persuade the public to believe there has been a slowdown in the REA program.

The administrator asserted that he was "going to see to it that the REA program" remains strong. He pointed out that during his first year in office, REA approved 349 electric loans for about $181 million. He said this surpassed the previous year by 34 loans and about $23 million. Nelsen declared that the backlog of electric loans has been cut down more than $70 million below a year ago.

During the current year, he said, REA will approve about $74 million in rural telephone loans. This is about two-thirds of all the telephone loans made in the previous years, he stated.

"After one year in office," Nelsen said, "I am convinced more than ever that it will require the best efforts of all segments of the electric industry, public and private, to meet the spiralling demand for electric power on the farm. On farms and in homes and industries served by REA-financed facilities, we expect consumption to double by 1953 and to more than triple by 1975.

Elected Last Thursday to Succeed Dr. Aasgaard, Who Had Served 29 Years

Dr. Fredrik Axel Schiotz is the new president of the 919,840 member Evangelical Lutheran Church (ELC) which has national headquarters in Minneapolis.

His election to a six-year term, on the second ballot, was announced Thursday at the ELC's national convention at Central Lutheran church.

Dr. Schiotz is now executive secretary of the commission on orphaned missions and younger churches of the National Lutheran council, with headquarters in New York.

He was installed into his new office Sunday afternoon by Dr. J. A. Aasgaard, Minneapolis, who is retiring after serving 29 years. However, he will not take over the duties of the presidency until Sept. 1.

Dr. Schiotz was notified of his election at Thief River Falls, where he was speaking at the annual conference of the Lutheran Free Church. He returned to Minneapolis Friday morning.

Of 1,517 votes cast on the second ballot, Dr. Schiotz received 908. A total of 759 was required to elect.

Dr. Schiotz was nominated by Dr. Elmer S. Hjortland, senior pastor of convention host church, as "the man God has trained for this particular time in the ELC."

The new ELC head is a man who has traveled widely in Asia, Africa and Europe in his National Lutheran council position.

He was born in Chicago in 1901. He obtained his B.A. degree from St. Olaf college, Northfield, in 1924, and his bachelor of theology and master of theology degrees from Luther seminary, St. Paul, in 1930 and 1932, respectively.

In 1945, he was given honorary doctor of divinity degrees by Concordia college, Moorhead, and Augustana Theological seminary, Rock Island, Ill.

Ordained in 1930, he was a pastor in Duluth from 1930 to 1932; in Moorhead from 1932-38, and Brooklyn, N. Y., 1945-48.

State Asks Bids on 2 Bridges in Kittson County

Improvements to more than 92 miles of Minnesota trunk highways are included in a call for bids issued today by State Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann, with bids on the 10 projects to be received July 2. In addition, work is contemplated on the construction of three bridges and installation of four sets of traffic control signal systems.

The road improvement projects include 21.8 miles of grading, with the balance of the 92 miles consisting of various types of bituminous base or resurfacing and a section of asphaltic concrete paving in St. Paul.

The projects in this area are: Kittson county: T. H. 59 Bridge No. 6877 over the north branch of Two Rivers, 3 mile north of Lancaster, consisting of three 35'x30' beam spans. T. H. 59 Bridge No. 6878, over State Ditch No. 84, 3.3 miles north of Lancaster, consisting of a 20'x30' concrete slab span.

We are always in the forge or on the anvil; by trials God is shaping us for higher things.—

The Quebec Bridge spanning the St. Lawrence river in Canda, is the world's largest cantilever span. Completed in 1917, it contains over 16,000 tons of structural nickel steel.

Popplers Face Crisis, Must Liquidate $10,000 Overstock

We Need the Room

EMERGENCY SPACE-MAKING SALE TO START THURSDAY

STAN LARSON

Extra Salespeople to assist customers

Hundreds of customers are expected to join Poppler's to take advantage of the terrific values being offered during the $10,000 Overstock Sale.

Stan Larson, owner of the firm, has hired extra salespeople for the event, and assures all customers that they will be given quick attention. Doors will open daily at 9 A. M. with the first sale items offered Thursday, June 17.

"Price is no object . . our big problem is space," states Stan Larson, as preparations were made for the $10,000 Overstock Sale which starts Thursday.

During the past months, Poppler's have been receiving increasingly large shipments of furniture, including carload shipments. In addition, Poppler's have consolidated four warehouses into one, and space is at a premium.

So, for quick action, prices are reduced on all merchandise in the store and in the warehouse. Much of the merchandise is brand new shipments that are being offered for the first time. Living room furniture, bedroom furniture, kitchen chrome furniture, mattresses, carpeting, lamps, rockers, chairs, studio couches, mirrors, pictures . . . everything in the store is on sale at low, quick-action prices.

"We need room, and need it right now," says Larson. "So, we're making drastic price reductions.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.: (Special) One of the biggest furniture liquidations of the Upper Midwest will start Thursday, June 17 in Thief River Falls with Poppler's $10,000 Overstock Sale.

Recently, Poppler's acquired a new warehouse, located adjacent to the rear entrance of the store. In acquiring this new warehouse, it was necessary to eliminate the use of four other warehouses, and the consolidation has created a severe space shortage.

Stan Larson, owner of the firm, stated "Our new warehouse is really fine, and is only a few steps from our rear entrance. But, we had more furniture than we realized in our other warehouses and we just don't have enough room in our new warehouse."

SOLID CARLOADS ARRIVE

To further complicate the problem, solid carload shipments of furniture have been arriving sooner than expected, and the result has created a severe overstock. In order to make room, $10,000 in furniture must be moved immediately.

So, Poppler's are launching a store-wide $10,000 stock reduction sale, effective Thursday. Listed on this page are just some of the hundreds of bargains that await your selection.

Prices have been slashed, and customers are urged to shop early for best selection.

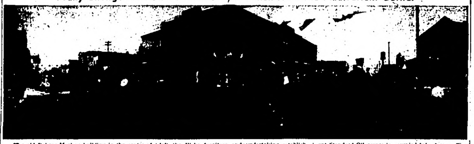
Many Changes Since This Picture Was Taken from the Auditorium Corner



The old Dohner-Meehan building in the center of this picture makes identification of the location an easy matter. Many changes have been made since this picture was taken however, looking northward on LaBree and eastward on Second. At the extreme left the Hicks furniture and undertaking establishment occupies the present Red Owl corner. Up the street, the present Penney store building is the two-story Evenson block, dedicated with an opening dance exactly fifty years ago. At the extreme right, the present Standard Oil corner is occupied by a frame office building, behind which is one of the city's flourishing livery stables.

This is a reproduction of a picture loaned to the Times by Dan Syverson. The specific occasion and the reason for the bunting and the band is not recalled.

Municipal League Ends Annual Session

Pension plan changes for public employees brought out most of the opposition expressed by members of the League of Minnesota Municipalities during their conference in Moorhead Thursday on legislative proposals.

The 500 league delegates took up 25 proposals. They passed 23, and rejected two—both dealing with pension fund matters. One of the 23, however, failed to pass by a five-sixths majority and was not made a legislative commitment of the league.

The league turned down a resolution endorsing in principle the Reed bill now before Congress—which extends social security benefits to municipal employees. It also rejected a resolution calling for an interim commission to study fire and police pension systems in Minnesota for report and recommendations to the legislature.

The resolution which failed to pass under the five-sixths rule, also concerned itself with pensions and retirement funds. It called for league efforts to bring survivors under the public employes retirement association benefits, to bring benefits up to equality, or better, with social security benefits, and to provide for added members of the association's board of directors, representing employing agencies. The vote was 48-43.

One other resolution brought out some opposition, that dealing with tightening up the state's traffic statutes. A move to delete a provision for increased driver's license fees from the resolution failed. A provision calling for a minimum of 15 days suspension, of the driver's license of a person convicted of drunken driving, also was retained.

Other officers named are Gordon S. Thompson, city clerk at Worthington, vice president; Robert Peterson, St. Paul city councilman, W. R. L. Taylor, Hopkins city manager, and Raymond C. Schroeder, Rochester councilman, trustees.

Street Cars to Disappear Friday from Twin Cities

Program of Conversion to Bus Operation Is Completed This Week

June 18, 1954, marks the completion of the record-time conversion of the Twin City Rapid Transit Co. from electric street cars to bus transit operation. Less than 25 months ago, Minneapolis and St. Paul were served by 724 streetcars plying 392 miles of rails, and 354 older type busses Today 900 City Liners provide safer, faster, quieter service to an even more extensive area.

The cost of this effort exceeded $27,500,000.00. Vast retraining programs converted streetcar motormen into top flight bus operators, streetcar mechanics to diesel bus mechanics. The huge maintenance plants were rebuilt and acres of new garage facilities were constructed to accommodate the new vehicles. This last measure is double purposed; 1, better maintenance, 2, comfort of passengers who will never have to board a cold bus in normally frigid Minnesota winters.

To celebrate the "final trolly ride," TCRTC has "converted" four streetcars to "diners." These will carry 150 outstanding State and Twin City figures over the last route on the last ride. The caravan will wind up at Snelling Shops to witness the burning of an old streetcar, to see the new $100,000.00 train-men's quarters, "assembly line" fueling, washing and vacuuming system — which does all three of these jobs in less than three minutes per bus. They will also see one of the country's three largest integrated heavy maintenance plants, now nearing completion.

Ruthenium, first isolated a little over a century ago, was the last of the six precious metals in the platinum group to be discovered. The other five of this group are platinum, palladium, rhodium, iridium and osmium. All but osmium are used in jewelry.

SALUTES
The Pioneers

Here at Wangenstein's we are proud of the long record of service in this community of our store. We were already in business when the reservation was opened for settlement 50 years ago. We are grateful for the patronage with which we have been favored.

We are deeply mindful too of our obligation to those who preceded us, and in this spirit we salute the first settlers and "old-timers" in the community. Our "Fifty Years of Progress" is a part of the progress of the entire community, and for that progress we are heavily indebted to the pioneers.

WANGENSTEIN'S

The Lumber Mill Was The Community's Biggest Payroll

Fifty years ago Thief River Falls was a lumber mill town and the lumber industry provided the community's biggest payroll. The mill was operated as the Thief River Falls Lumber Company and the company that owned it is still in the lumber business on a large scale, operating as the Winton Lumber Company.

David J. Winton, now chairman of the board of the Wiston Lumber Company, and who has boyhood recollections of Thief River Falls as it was fifty years ago, will speak at the Fiftieth Anniversary celebration banquet honoring the early settlers of this area at St. Bernard's church parlor Friday evening.

This prefix name is granted and will be recorded by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Over 1400 prefixes were reserved for breeders in 1953.

Traffic Mishaps Down This Year in State, Is Report

More Deaths in 1954, but Fewer Personal Injuries, Says Safety Engineer

Traffic accidents on Minnesota's roads and streets resulting in personal injuries or deaths are running considerably behind the 1953 figures for the first four months of this year, according to J. E. P. Darrell, traffic and safety engineer of the Minnesota highway department.

"Despite the fact that traffic deaths during the first third of the year are well above those of last year," he stated, "it is interesting to note that combined figures for personal injuries and fatalities are down."

According to data received by the accident reporting section of the Department, there were 5,298 deaths or injuries during the first four months of this year, as compared with 5,729 in the comparable period of 1953, for a reduction of eight per cent.

"The difference between a fatality and a personal injury," Darrell pointed out, "is often a matter of pure luck. All of us have either seen or heard of relatively minor accidents which have resulted in death; we have also encountered other accidents which have resulted in great property damage — even total destruction of a vehicle — where the occupants emerged with only minor cuts or bruises."

In attempting to ascertain some of the causes and locations of these accidents which have resulted in the unfavorable traffic fatality record being compiled on Minnesota's roads and streets, Darrell revealed that while there has been an eight per cent decrease in personal injuries and fatalities on rural trunk highways, there has been a 38 per cent increase in such injuries and deaths on county and township rural roads.

OUT OF THE PAST

Forty years ago Alfred Torgerson lost his purse and a silver dollar on a farm at Milan; ten years ago his father, Dan Torgerson, found the decayed purse; this year a neighbor, Norman Hagen helping with the corn, found the dollar.—May 17, 1870, at the age of six months, John Simons reached American shores from Wales; May 17, 1954, at the age of 84, he celebrated by buying afternoon lunch for nearly 200 of his fellow townsmen at Montevideo.—August 14 and August 22 Hinckley will stage a spectacular pagent commemorating the rebuilding of the town after the destructive and deadly forest fire of September 1, 1894.

Largest Load of Logs on Way to Thief River Falls Mill

The lumber that was milled at Thief River Falls came largely from the timber country that drained into the Red Lakes. During the winter months it was cut and hauled to streams flowing into the lakes. With the spring run-off it floated down the streams, was towed across the lake to the outlet and then carried on down the Red Lake river to the mill.

"BUTCHER SHOP" FLOOR MOVES OUT TO PASTURE

Remember the saw-dust strewn floor of turn-of-the-century "butcher shops", now tile-floored meat markets? There is a tradition that other floors, too, were protected with sawdust. Now, according to University Farm School, sawdust, chips, and shavings have taken profitably to the woods and fields—as an excellent source of humus, mulch, and compost; they make excellent livestock bedding, too. Value of these wood products in orchards, gardens, and berry patches is that they are not attractive to mice and injurious insects. Sawdust, so widespread in Minnesota, is also credited with conserving moisture and retarding weed growth.

These are not dull statistics. They are flesh and blood figures. They are the tragedy of America written not with paper and pen, but with the wreckage of young lives.

"But why?" you ask. "What is the cause?"

Judges and social workers, almost with one voice, lay the blame on home influences and lack of religious training.

It's up to you, then, Mother and Dad, to help YOUR child. Give him a home filled with love and understanding rather than indifference—a home that leads him into service rather than crime.

Bring YOUR child to Sunday School and Church. Help him become a happy, useful personality, instead of a sad statistic.

Statistics aren't dull when they're human

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

50 YEARS AGO

Land Sale Now On

Fifty years ago, on Monday, June 20, 1904, the sale of the eleven townships of the Red Lake Indian reservation of Thief River Falls got under way. This was a long-looked-forward-to event in the Thief River Falls community. Over a period of years, through three sessions of congress and many negotiations with the leaders of the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians, community leaders had fought a long and discouraging fight to bring about this result. The Thief River Falls News of June 23, 1904, beamed optimism in its report on that opening day's activities.

The banner headline of that issue proclaimed, "The Land Sale is Now On." A sub-head declared "Large Crowds in Attendance and Land Sells as High as $33.25 an Acre." It was a happy day for editor John Eastman.

The "highest price" was paid on the second day of the sale by Andrew Stenseth. He paid the high price for 73.08 acres on the south side of the Red Lake river which "joins Red Lake Rapids, which addition Mr. Stenseth is interested in. It is valuable on account of its being so close to town."

About 2,000 people were in attendance at the sale on the opening day. "Before the sale commenced Col. O'Brien gave all information regarding the sale in a clear and concise statement, and he has made a most excellent auctioneer, as he has a clear and powerful voice."

First Day Buyers

"The first piece offered was Lot 1 and the south half of the NW quarter. This was not a very desirable piece but it was sold to Nels K. Nelson, the United States commissioner at Grygla, he paying $7.25 an acre for the same.

"The highest price paid for any land on Monday was $10.30 an acre. This was lots 8 and 9 and the east half of the SE quarter on Section 15, a river claim."

The successful bidders in the first day's sale were listed by the News as follows: Nels K. Nelson, Ole A. Peterson, John Martenson, Lewis O. Williams, Ole Eusthouse, Jos. Lafontaine, Torbjoin Skomedal, Andrew J. Berg, Hans O. Hagen, Andrew J. Loftness, Ed Quigley, Ole E. Nelson, T. Aasland, Andrew C. Hoberson, M. T. Wald, Ole C. Hoberson, Nellie E. Nelson, Christ Moe, Jorgen A. Eide, Paul A. Dahl, Christain Steen, Ole Sandness, Selve O. O'Nile, O. Ramstad, Gust Knudson, Ole Griebok, Nels G. Hagen, Peter Jacobson, Gilbert G. Hagen, Gunder Griebok, Tom K Rovegstad, Knute O. Loyland, Sam Loyland, Charlie H. Omlid, Lewis I. Hermanson, Thomas R Bjerk, Chris Rosiad, Albert Olson, Tollef O. Loyland, J. M. Jord, Fels Amten, Andrew Jorde, Jorgen M. Adaero, W. G. Zemer, Mekkle G. Jorde, M. H. Ballangrud, C. E. Reed, N. Swanson and Renold Johnson.

If there are errors in the spelling of these names the fault may be due to the difficulty of reading the old files accurately. There may have been errors in the original reporting. All of these first day's sales were in the area northeast of Thief River Falls.

Sale Was Successful

The sale was off to a good start. Governor W. A. Richards, general land commissioner of Washington, who was in charge of the sale, expressed satisfaction with the results. He was reported as being, "very well pleased with the prices the land is bringing and considers it a most successful sale of land."

The total receipts of the Monday sales was $101,000. The result Tuesday was not quite so good. "Not all of the scheduled list of land was sold on Tuesday, and the bidding was not so high, many pieces being sold for between $4 and $5 an acre. The total sale amounted to $67,363."

Nearly 100 pieces of land were sold Wednesday, most of it going at from $4 to $6 an acre. On four pieces no offers were made. "Today the prices will probably be quite high as some of the pieces are on the river," and so the sale progressed from day to day. The auction was scheduled to continue to July 14, after which any lands not sold could be bought at $4 an acre at the land office at Crookston.

Other Happenings Too

There were other happenings reported in that issue of June 23. "The first annual picnic of the dairymen of Red Lake county was held on the beautiful banks of the Red Lake River in St. Hilaire on Saturday." The News stated the picnic "was held" but the item informed those who "had attended" how to get there, explaining, "The picnic grounds are located on the east side of the river, near the east sluice way, and can be reached by crossing the north bridge and driving down the road on the east side of the saw mill and crossing the foot bridge." That's the way we shoulda went.

The new Evenson block on the corner of Main Ave. at Third Street was completed and "C. M. Evenson will give a grand dedication dance in the Evenson block next Monday evening. The admission is $1 and all should attend."

There had been a ball game Sunday and the "Home Team Won." "At no time was the local club in danger of being defeated and they did not play their best," beamed happy "Huck Olson", Eastman.

Another saw mill was coming to town. At any rate according to the rumor department of the News, "It is understood that a lumber company is very desirous of securing the land at junction of the Red Lake and Thief Rivers which is known as Squaw Point, for the purpose of erecting a saw mill upon the same. "It is a very desirable location for a saw mill and the fact that Thief River Falls will soon have two roads over which lumber can be shipped makes this place a very desirable point to locate at."

And so were things in the busy little city of Thief River Falls 50 years ago. Then as now, there was war in the Pacific and the Russians were taking a terrific beating at Port Arthur. Then as now, our country had problems in Central America. Our headache then was Panama.

400 Persons Present at Pioneers Banquet

Four hundred persons, including 250 or more who have lived in the Thief River Falls community for 50 years or longer, attended a banquet in the St. Bernard's dining hall Friday evening, held in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the opening of the Eleven Towns east of this city to settlement in 1904.

Speakers for the occasion, presented by W. E. Dahlquist, toastmaster, included Jarle Leirfallom, state welfare director and a native of Hickory township; Dreng Bjornaraa of Minneapolis, who had come to Hickory township with his parents in 1911; and David J. Winton, chairman of the board of the Winton Lumber company of Minneapolis and nephew of David N. Winton, who had charge of the Thief River Falls Lumber company here in the early years of the century.

Bjornaraa in his talk stated that this area was settled by people who possessed the typical pioneer spirit, saying that they were willing to take a risk and to sacrifice the present for the future and that they had faith in themselves and their community.

Leirfallom recalled that he was born in a log cabin in Hickory township. He discussed some of the social changes that have taken place, pointing out that, while human nature remains pretty much the same, the day of rugged individualism is past. Man, he said, now depends on many others to supply his needs, and the various groups must compromise and work together. The individual's responsibility, however, remains unchanged, he added.

David Winton expressed regret that the last generation of lumbermen had not practiced the principles of reforestation and selective cutting in use today, which would have made possible a permanent lumber industry in this area. The Winton company, he said, has put these practices into use on its holdings in Idaho and later in California.

Mr. Winton stated that the Thief River Falls Lumber company was fortunate in establishing its sawmill here, and he mentioned the names of a number of local families that had rendered service to the company in years gone by.

Richard Butts, new superintendent at the Red Lake agency, brought greetings from Peter Graves, long-time secretary of the Red Lake band of Indians, who was unable to be present. Butts stated that his assistant, Mr. McLaughlin, who also was present, was the grandson of the General McLaughlin who had negotiated with the Indians previous to the opening of the Eleven Towns to settlement.

Impressive Court House Rites Are Held

Dedication Ceremony Held Saturday with Dr. Carlson as Speaker

Gustafson then introduced the members of the board, and called on Odin Hanson, chairman, who presented details of the project and said the building should stand for 100 years.

Judge Paul A. Lundgren summarized the history of Pennington county, stating that it had been created November 23, 1910, from part of Red Lake county, which in turn had been part of Polk county until 1896.

He cited the increasing complication of county government in recent years, adding that when Pennington county was organized it had no welfare department, engineer or assessor, and that it cost only $11,264 to operate the county government in its first year.

Judge Lundgren also referred to the dark days of 25 years ago, when the county had debts

Huge Crowds See Ski-Capades Show

Cypress Gardens, Fla., Group Stages Exhibition

A huge throng gathered along the shores of the Red Lake river at Squaw Point and Tindolph Park, and at other vantage points along the river, on Saturday and Sunday afternoons to witness the water-act performances of the Florida Ski-Capades, whose appearance here was one of the features of the 50th anniversary celebration.

Among the acts of the five-performer troupe that drew the plaudits of the crowd were a water-ski salute, a one-ski slalom, a daring double ski act, and flying-saucer act. What appeared to be the most difficult of the troupe's acts was the ladder balancing performance on the "saucer" or water disk.

Emergency March of Dimes to Open Aug. 16

Americans contributed nearly $55,000,000 to the March of Dimes last January—more than in any previous year—yet the sum fell short by $20,000,000 of meeting the current year's needs, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, reported today.

As a result, he said, it will be necessary to seek the additional amount through an emergency March of Dimes scheduled for August 16 thru 31. The decision to hold the emergency appeal for polio fighting funds was made late last week at a meeting of the National Foundation's Board of Trustees, he disclosed.

"This year," Mr. O'Connor said "confronts us with the greatest challenge of any in the history of the fight against polio, with commitments for a polio prevention program of staggering size and the necessity of providing aid to a record number of polio patients."

Mr. O'Connor said estimates last fall were that $75,000,000 would be needed to finance the polio vaccine trials, the purchase of increased quantities of gamma globulin, the search for improved preventive and treatment techniques, the support of professional education, and the provision of financial assistance for polio patients who need it.

"This is still a very realistic figure in terms of our obligations and commitments," Mr. O'Connor explained. "It was certainly not because of any lack of effort by our volunteers that we failed to meet it. March of Dimes workers did a remarkable job. Receipts went ahead more than 6½ per cent. However, the $55,000,000 raised will not carry the program through 1954. "I know the American public does not want to see the vital program it has supported through 16 March of Dimes drives jeopardized in this year of challenge. I feel certain they will support the Emergency March of Dimes, to make sure that the prevention program, rehabilitation and aid for patients, research and professional education continue for as long as necessary."

Mr. O'Connor explained that $26,500,00 was needed for the vaccine and GG programs alone, plus $29,000,000 for patient aid if 1954 polio incidence is comparable to 1953, when almost 30,000 cases were reported.

Beyond all these costs, another $19,500,000 is needed for continued research into prevention and treatment, for professional education, for medical and community services and for administration.

Mr. O'Connor expressed gratitude to the millions of volunteers who raised the $55,000,000 in January, and to the 80,000,000 Americans who contributed.

Crowded Streets Sunday Escape Any Traffic Mishaps

Boy Is Struck by Car Saturday Evening on Main av. at Second st.

In spite of the fact that several thousand cars were brought into Thief River Falls by parade spectators Sunday, the day passed without any traffic accidents being reported to police. The fact that cars were compelled by the congestion to move at an exceedingly slow pace is credited in part with the exceptional record.

While crossing the street at Main av. and Second st. Saturday evening, Roger DeLap, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed DeLap, was struck by a car driven by Verna Koop of Route 5, city. The boy was taken to the hospital for an examination, and was released shortly after.

When Duane Lawrence stopped his car for the stop light at Third st. and Main av. last Thursday evening, the car was struck from the rear by one driven by Theodore Hegtvedt of 107 Maple av. N. Police estimated damage to the Lawrence Car at $153, with none to the other.

A car driven by Anton Hall, going east on First st. Tuesday afternoon was turning off onto Merriam av. when it was hit from the rear by a pickup driven by Erick Huseth. Damage to the car was appraised at $50, and to the pickup $10.

of more than $1,300,000 and a tax delinquency of 37 per cent, and nearly 300 farms were under foreclosure.

Selections were rendered by the Warren trio, consisting of Marlys Mattson, Kathryn and Ruth Lundgren, all students at Gustavus Adolphus college in St. Peter.

Dr. Edgar M. Carlson, president of Gustavus, delivered the dedicatory address, selecting for his topic, "Nothing in Life Is Free." He declared that the things that money cannot buy are by far the most important.

He stated that the basic American goal of education, security and the preservation of democratic processes are not free, but call for constant effort. No person or committee, he said, can save this nation from the menace of communism, but it is up to the rank and file of this generation to preserve the democracy handed down to it.

Following Dr. Carlson's address, the audience adjourned to the court house site where, following a prayer by the Rev. E. C. Mead, County Auditor Bodekuhr, assisted by Boy Scouts David Fischer, Wm. Haugen, Sam Krankkala and James Grendahl, sealed the archives and deposited them in a copper box in a receptacle in the base of the flag pole.

Store Grain on Farm

It's sound business to store grains and oilseeds on the farm this year, and here are a number of reasons why this is so.

1. Crops stored at harvest time and sold later in the year usually bring a much better price. This extra profit may not be available this year to producers who depend on commercial storage space because present facts indicate that there will be a serious overall shortage of storage space for grains and oilseeds, owing to heavy carryover stocks from other years.

2. Loans to finance up to 80% of the cost of new storage facilities are available from the Commodity Credit Corporation. Intended to supplement local credit services when normal credit is not available, these 4% loans, repayable over a four year period, can be obtained through local banks or directly from the Pennington County ASC Committee. See Pat Culkins in the basement of the Union State Bank.

3. Similar storage equipment loans are also available to finance up to 75% of the "delivered and assembled" cost of drying equipment for properly conditioning farm-stored crops. Eligible for loans are mobile mechanical dryers, air circulators, ventilators, tunnels, and fans. These loans can be obtained from the ASC Committee and are repayable in three annual installments.

4. Any grain producer who has built or builds a cornerib or grain bin after December 31, [illegible], is allowed a Federal income tax deduction for amortization of the structure over five or six years after construction. This amortization provision applies also to any alteration or remodelling of a grain storage structure that increases its capacity. A simple statement on the income tax return is sufficient to provide for the deduction.

5. And finally, remember that the Government support loans are available only for crops properly housed in safe storage facilities. I have a catalog of grain storage building plans in my office, maybe you would be interested in looking them over.

Gardening Tips

Plant carrots and beets for winter storage about the third week in June. These will be in better condition for storage than those planted earlier.

Remove seed stalks from your rhubarb plants, this will prevent a drain on the food reserves for next years crop.

Be sure your vegetables have room to grow. Thin those vegetables planted from seed such as onions, beets, parsnip and carrots.

Keep the flowers removed from newly set strawberry plants. This will make vigorous plants and strong runner plants for next years crop. In the case of everbearers, blossoms that form late this month may be left to mature a fall crop of berries.

Keep your new strawberry planting free from weeds by cultivation. Space the newly formed runner plants so they are about 8 inches apart. Keep the rows about 18 inches wide.

Marge Olson

Now is the time to think about eating outdoors. Outdoor eating has become very popular with all ages, and the trend toward informal and easy entertainment has helped to make all types of outdoor meals more enjoyable.

Successful outdoor meals require the cooperation of the entire group, either the family or a larger group. Planning with a division of responsibility will help make the outdoor meal a success, and not just one more time that mother prepares the meal for the family.

Outdoor meals can be just as appetizing & nutritious as meals served indoors. Since fresh air and exercise stimulate the appetite, it is important to provide enough food. Meals should not include too many dishes.

Equipment is most important for successful outdoor meals. Sometimes fireplaces in backyards or parks are available for use for outdoor picnics. Improvised grills may be made from oven racks, a steel grating and 4 bricks. Charcoal grills, to use where fire on the ground is not possible, may be purchased or made.

1. Secure a heavy guage oil or paint bucket.
2. Cut down to 12 inches in height and reinsert handles.
3. Insert 2 heavy rods through pail about 8 inches from bottom.
4. Cut heavy ¼ inch mesh screen to fit inside pail, to rest on inserted rods.
5. Cut opening at side bottom 3 inches by 5 inches. Attach 2 hinges so size of opening can be adjusted.
6. Cut square piece of heavy ¼ inch screen to fit top of burner on which to place utinsils.
7. In using, place charcoal on inside screen.
8. Kindle charcoal by inserting paper or small kindling thru opening.
9. Legs may be inserted so pail will not set directly on the ground.

Other equipment from home might include long handled frying pan, tossing forks, ladles, and hinged wire broiler; pair of pliers; pot holders and gloves; can or coffee pot for hot beverage and kettle for one-dish meals; can and bottle openers; plates, cups knives, forks, and spoons; paper napkins, towels, and newspaper; dish towels and cloth; salt and pepper shakers; sharp jack knife with a good blade and sharp axe; cutting knives, one long butcher knife; plastic bags and table cloth (paper or cotton); soap, matches, soap-filled steel wool pad, and coarse scouring pad; and an ice bucket.

This equipment might be placed in a picnic basket ready to take at any time. This would be especially important if your family goes on many picnics, as much time and effort could be saved. A long handled skillet can be made by removing the short handles and adding a long wooden one. An old kitchen fork may be used for a long handled fork.

Next week, let's think about what to eat outdoors.

All Happy at Banquet For Old-Timers

Here are pictures of a few of the old-timers taken at the banquet presented in their honor at St. Bernard's church parlor Friday evening. Judging from the smiling faces the dinner which they had just finished agreed with all of them.

At the top, left, are two of the remaining first settlers on the reservation lands who were listed among the first day's purchasers on June 20, 1904. They are Christian Steen and Renold Johnson whose farms were in the town of North.

At the top, right, are two pioneers who have put in many long years directing the affairs of the Thief River Falls creamery. Carl Belswenger of Smiley township served on the board from 1931 to 1947, and John Funnesdahl of Norden, has served since 1931 and is still a member.

In the second tier of pictures from the top, Jarle Leirfallom and Dreng Bjornaraa, products of the area settled fifty years ago and speakers at the banquet, are pictured with their former postmaster, Ed Wanke, now of Thief River Falls. When Jarle and Dreng were youngsters their postoffice address was Wanke in eastern Red Lake county, and Ed was Mr. Wanke of Wanke.

Lewis Nelson of Smiley, at the right, probably was the oldest old-timer present in terms of public service. He was already an old-timer in the community when the reservation was opened for settlement and during the opening he served as a locater. Following that he served as sheriff of Red Lake county when Pennington was still a part of Red Lake.

There is nothing unusual about having a 50th anniversary class reunion but it is unusual to have 100% attendance at a reunion fifty years after the graduation. Second from the bottom is a group picture of the entire graduating class of Lincoln High School in 1904. They are Mrs Gaston Ward and Melvin Evenson, both of Thief River Falls. And this was the first class to graduate from the Thief River Falls high school.

Editor, The Times:

Greetings to the Pioneers and and my many friends and acquaintances on this Jubilant celebration.

I wish to express my regrets in being unable to attend as all we Pioneers are proud indeed of the great strides our community has made.

I came here with my parents Mr. and Mrs. Hans Nelson; in a covered wagon on Oct. 20, 1879 from Alexandria, Minnesota. Father squatted on a piece of land 6 miles South of T. R. Falls. My father later had a General store just south of the Post Office next to the Ogahmah Hotel as many of you pioneers will remember. Much of his trade was with the Indians, who lived on Squaw Point. Father used to trade Furs and Snake Root in exchange for clothing and food supplies. He later took over the Post Office in connection with his store.

I remember many of the Indians who traded in our store. Many a nite we would go to sleep by the sound of the Tom Tom's beating during their encampments and rituals and 4th of July celebrations on Squaw Point. The first 4th of July celebration in Thief River Falls was celebrated in 1882 which was quite an affair. The Indians would dance all night not quitting until the embers of their Bon Fires had died away in the early morning hours.

When the surveyors came in to survey this new country they stayed with us in our Log Cabin and I recall how they'd start out early in the morning, taking a lunch along and wade across the river, as they had no boats and work all day in their water soaked clothing. They worked under much difficulty as all the Pioneers did have little to do with in those early days.

In 1883 my brother-in-law Wm. Porter made claim to the property which now is our great high school athletic field.

I would have enjoyed attending your banquet and celebration and want to congratulate you all on your great achievements. With kindest personal regards. Your Pioneer friend,

Wm. Nelson

Editor, The Times:

During this period when we are celebrating fifty years of progress in this community, it is difficult to sit back and swallow a letter of the type recently published in your Public Opinion. This letter pertained to the prohibitive and so-called needless expense of our airport.

I feel that this belief is due to ignorance and that if the cost figures of this project were generally known, it would show that this money has been well spent. It is true that the airport has cost about $225,000 but this has been mainly contributed by the federal and state aeronautics commission who have wisely seen the need for a progressive and competent airport in this community for the service of its people. The local government has only had to contribute about $30,000—a small fraction of the total cost of this worthwhile project and this has been spent over a period of many years.

While the city owns the airport, we are also collecting monthly rent from thirteen hangars and the Cafe. We also have exclusive franchise on all gasoline and oil and employ only one man for upkeep and maintenance of this whole area. The airport is self-supporting and is not a drain on the city tax payers.

Our airport stands ready, and any and all facilities are available in the event of an emergency, whether it be national or local. In local cases this field has proven itself invaluable in transporting emergency cases in and out of the city.

From a business standpoint our airport has brought business into our community with numerous planes from all over the country. Our airport facilities enables our business men to have a competent and quick method of commuting to distant points. It is the opinion of many people who have flown into the airport that Thief River Falls has one of the best and most progressive airports in our area. Generally speaking it is the pride of northern Minnesota.

Yours truly,
Arthur Forsberg, Jr.

RANDEN . . .

Mrs. E. Ostlund, Grygla

(Crowded out last week)

Correction — There was a mistake in one of my news items a week ago where it stated Mr. Harland Lee and Mrs. Jesme were fishing in the Lake of the Woods. It should have read, Mr. Harland Lee and Mr. Jelle were fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Skime spent several days of the past week visiting Mrs. Skime's mother at Euclid. Little Bernie Skime stayed with Mrs. Johnny Melike while his grandma was away.

Ruthy Ostlund visited her sister, Mrs. George Harrison and family in St. Paul from Wednesday evening until Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison brought her home Sunday and also brought their girls, Georgeanne and Kathy, who will stay with Grandma and Grandpa Ostlund for the summer months.

Otto Hagen sold his farm to a party from Grand Forks last week. This party (name unknown) brought up machinery and a crew of men and is busy working the land. Otto will move his family back to their old home across from the Arne Hagen farm soon. Right now Mrs. Hagen is boarding this farming crew.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Tengesdahl, Chester, Reuben and Margaret were guests in the Eggen home near Grygla Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sorterberg and family from Roseau also were guests there.

We found out how hard it is to get along without R.E.A. power Monday and Tuesday. The power was off from shortly after the storm started on Monday until 5:30 Wednesday morning. Falling trees tore the wires off of the Emmett Finley house and also tore the wires down in the Theodore Anderson yard. We had another try at milking cows by hand and cranking cream separators. Gilmer Anderson wasn't licked though when it came to milking time. He connected a garden hose to the exhaust pipe of his tractor and then to the milking machine. The milking chore went as smoothly as usual.

Right in front of Granny White's beautiful old house on Maple Avenue there's a brand-new sign: "Antiques. Inquire Within."
Now—don't get excited. Granny explained it all the other night—after we settled down in her parlor, me with my temperate beer, Granny with her tea.
I asked her if she was really going in the antique business. "Oh, no," says Granny, "I wouldn't sell anything. I put that sign up so folks would come in and talk—and look around. If they insist on a price, I tell them some outrageous figure! I guess I just like people," she said.
From where I sit Granny can be excused for her little ruse. She may be in her eighties, but her mind is young—and open. She's the kind of person who's made this town so wonderful. Granny not only likes people—but she respects them and their preferences and opinions. Come to think of it, "liking" and "respecting" mean much the same thing, don't they?

Red Lake Falls Whips Thieves Sunday 5-1

Giving errorless support to Jim Henkes' 8-hit pitching, the Red Lake Falls Lakers defeated the Thieves, 5 to 1, in a Red River Valley league game played at Red Lake Falls' Riverside Park on Sunday afternoon. Gene Leslie, hurling for the Thieves, also pitched an 8-hit game, but the Lakers were able to get their base-hits in the "clutch," with Dick Williams driving in a pair of runs with a single in the 3rd inning, and Red Miller punching across a pair of runs with a line single in the 7th.

Tonight, Wednesday, June 23rd, the league All-Star game will be played at Crookston's Highland Park, with a team selected from the East (Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls, and Viking) meeting a team chosen from the West (Crookston, Alvarado, and Argyle). Game time tonight is 8:30 p. m.

The Thieves will continue "on the road" this Sunday, playing the high-flying Argyle club at Argyle. The game starts the second half of the schedule, and in the previous game between the two clubs Argyle, by an 11 to 6 score, bested the Thieves on the Fair Grounds diamond.

Sunday's well-played game (the Lakers played errorless ball while the locals committed but two errors), found Red Lake Falls getting a 2 to 0 lead in the 3rd inning. Howie Johnston opened with a walk; Ron LaChance struck out; Archie Sele doubled to left-center, with Johnston stopping at third. Ken Bombardier bounced to shortstop Sid Vraa, and Johnston was out trying to score, Vraa to Bud Olson, with Sele taking third on the play. Bombardier stole second, and when Dick Williams lined a single to center-field, Sele and Bombardier sprinted in with a pair of Laker runs.

The Lakers moved into a commanding 5 to 0 lead by scoring three runs in the 7th frame. LaChance walked; Sele laid down a sacrifice in front of the mound, but when first base was left open, Sele gained a hit on the play and when Leslie tossed to the uncovered first base, LaChance streaked to third base and Sele advanced to second. Bombardier poled a sharp single to left-field, scoring LaChance, with Sele moving on to third. Williams popped out to Joey Poole, who shifted to third base when Ralph Skjod entered the game in the 5th inning. Miller then rapped a single to center-field scoring Sele and Bombardier.

The Thieves averted a shutout by scoring their lone run in the 8th inning. Poole opened the inning by singling to left-center; Leslie followed with a looping hit over shortstop. Olson was out on an infield fly that catcher Bozo Emard gathered in; Jack Hoppe whiffed; Shorty Perkins drew a walk to load the bases, and when Henkes issued a pass to Phil LeGault, Poole was forced in with a run. Skjod was Henkes' 9th strikeout victim, ending the rally.

Steady Progress Is Being Made on Hospital Addition

Much progress in construction of the Northwestern Hospital addition is reported by contractors this week. The rough grading of the area around the hospital is 100% complete. The site development of this area which involves the setting in of much concrete will commence shortly. Metal lathing in preparation for plastering will be completed this week and within two weeks all of the plastering will be finished. All acoustic tile in ceilings will also be finished within two weeks.

Ceramic tile work which was to be done in the Surgical and Obstetrical areas has been held up for two weeks because of the General Builders strike in the Twin Cities. Terrazo work in toilet, bathroom, stairwell, and surgical and obstetrical sections is 30% complete. The centralized oxygen piping system which will furnish wall outlet oxygen to some 40 beds is finished.

Mill work built locally by Northern Woodwork Company is being hauled in daily to the jobsite and is being finished according to schedule. The painters are at work painting the area behind radiators to be installed.

The Gust Lagerquist Elevator Company of Minneapolis is now on the job beginning the installation of the new freight and passenger elevators. At present they are drilling 30 foot pits in each shaft preparatory to the installation of the elevators which will be an oilomatic, hydraulic type. This type of elevator makes the installation of a heavy superstructure of machinery unnecessary.

Draperies for the hospital are being furnished through Mrs. Warren Ferber and Mrs. Ray Jude. The ladies of the Northwestern Hospital Women's auxiliary will assist in the sewing of the drapes. An important part of this contract is the preparation of drapes for the 30 by 9 foot window of the new visitors waiting room.

Furnishers of kitchen and hospital laundry equipment will soon be notified to begin shipment of equipment to be installed in those areas.

Latest information still points to the completion of the new building by Sept. 1st. In fact, the third floor will be completed by the first of July.

6th TRF Invitational Tourney June 26 & 27

The sixth annual Thief River Falls Invitational golf tournament will be played over the local course on Saturday and Sunday, June 26th and 27th. Invitations have been extended to the area's top-flight golfers, as well as to that contingent of Twin City golfers that have been in attendance at the previous tourney. Golfers are asked to post their scores with L. L. Tygeson.

With the abundant rainfall of the past several weeks, the local course is in excellent condition, and it will provide the contestants with a first-class layout. The championship flight contenders are required to play eighteen holes of qualifying golf on Saturday, while the other flight contenders are asked to post their scores with L. L. Tygeson, or call their scores in to the clubhouse before 8:00 p. m. on Saturday.

A pre-tournament dinner will be held on Saturday night, at which time the pairings for the championship flight will be announced.

Among the out of town hot-shots who will participate are Pat Sawyer, Dick Evenson, Ray Swanberg, Gordy Peterson, and Cass Lane, all of whom are highly-rated Twin City golfers. They will be on hand when the qualifying play begins on Saturday afternoon. The tournament committee has sent invitations to several Winnipeg golfers, and it is hoped that the Canadians will be represented in the tourney.

Pat Sawyer, the former Minnesota amateur and open golf champion, has been a participant in the five previous invitational tournaments that have been played, and, word has been received that he will be present again. Pat is always welcome.

In addition to Sawyer, Gordy Peterson, who was a finalist last year, Dick Evenson, who shot a 31 and a 36 to win medalist honors last year, Ray Swanberg, and Sass Lane are other Twin City golfers who are expected to compete.

Over the years, such golfers as Sawyer, Kenny Young, Paul Rooney, Vic Jung, Ken Adams, Gordy Peterson, Jimmy Nordine, Ernotte Hiller, Dick Faber, Phil Olson, and others have provided the galleries with some excellent shot-making, and it's probable that the golf fans will be given another treat on Saturday and Sunday.

Oh yes, George Longville, the golf pro at Grand Forks, was at the local course yesterday, Tuesday, from 9:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m., giving lessons. Arrangements are being made whereby he will be here on Tuesdays and he will be available for lessons. Persons wishing to take advantage of Longville's golf instructions should call the club house, phone 983, and make reservations.

The Match of the Week

From all indications, the golf match of the week will be that duel between Emil Larson and Wally DuChamp this evening. Both golfers are from Plummer, and in addition to their city rivalry the two golfers are the number one players of their respective teams, the Union State Bank and the KTRF.

In previous matches between the two players this season, Wally holds a slight edge over Emil; but this past week has found Wally in a slump while Emil has been shooting some of his finest golf. The match this evening is a toss-up.

Another league match that will produce conversation will be the contest between Russ Embury, and Doug Tegtmeier. Russ, just back from a week's vacation on Basswood lake, is full of vitamins and vitality and confidence. This confidence was shaken somewhat when he learned that Doug had shot a 38 on Sunday. A 38 by Doug is a newsworthy event, and it required a double-check to learn if that score was actually a 38 and not an 83. It's a fact, though, for there are several boys willing to provide affidavits to verify that 38. How's the confidence, Russ?

Pay Up, Boys

After several weeks of investigation and research we have been informed that the state game and fish department classifies the burbot as a fish. On that basis, the boys that were with Len Brekke on Lake of the Woods for the opening of the fishing season last month owe him, Len, a considerable sum for the first fish and biggest fish honors. Len caught a burbot that weighed nearly six pounds and he claimed the "pool" money. His companions protested that the burbot is more animal than fish, and refused to pay. This is to inform the boys that Len has a legal claim on the "pool" money.

We realize that it is somewhat embarrassing for a fisherman of Len's experience, and who takes great pride in the high class fish that he catches, to win money on a burbot catch.

A Pharmacy Prescription.

It was duck-hunter's weather that met the shooters of the Thief River Trap league last Thursday when they shot their third-round of the schedule. The league-leading Pharmacy team edged out the Wilson Bros., 122 to 11; the Johnson Bros. had a one-point margin, 117 to 116, over the Baumann-Oen squad; and the Times defeated the Northern Chevrolet, 121 to 111.

The drama of Thursday evening's shoot, though, was crammed into the Pharmacy vs. Wilson Bros. match. Wilson Bros. had only four shooters on hand when the match begun, Al Tonder, who had 23, Ralph Fisher, who scored a 25; Hank Storhaug, who also had a 25; and Howie Brandt with a 25. Mel Hyland was added to lineup as a substitute, and Mel, breaking 24 and having a handicap of three totaled a 25, giving the Wilson's a 123, and what appeared to be a one-point win over the Pharmacy.

But just as the officials were to post the scores, Stan Wilson, a member of the Wilson team, appeared on the scene. The Pharmacy immediately demanded that he, Stan, shoot for a score, and the result was that Stan, being subjected to considerable pressure, broke 10 of 25 birds, and with a handicap of 4, posted a 23. With Stan's score on the board, the Pharmacy squeezed out a win, 122 to 121.

All-Star Game at Red Lake Falls

Red River Valley league baseball fans should make a note of the fact that the All-Star game, being played tonight, June 23rd, has been shifted to the Riverside Park at Red Lake Falls.

It's the East — Thief River Falls, and Viking—against the West—Crookston, Alvarado, and Argyle — and it should be a bang-up ball game. Swede Lund, the manager of the Thieves, has designated Gene Leslie, Bud Olson, Shorty Perkins, and Jack Hoppe, as members of the All-Star team from the local club. Leslie as a pitcher, Olson a catcher, Perkins at first or third, and Hoppe in the outfield.

Lake Trout

Helmer Baumann and Milton Larson returned from a fishing expedition into northern Saskatchewan, up beyond Lac La Ronge, and they came back with lake trout of trophy size. The prize trout of the string that they brought back were a couple of twenty-two pounders, and Helmer is having his fish mounted.

It takes one ton of coal to produce the steel and iron to make a modern farm tractor.

Aquatennial Opens in Minneapolis July 16

The Minneapolis Aquatennial, a lusty, infant compared with other civic celebrations throughout America — this summer will again challenge the legendary Pasadena Rose Festival, New Orleans' Mardi Gras and Miami Orange extravaganza for a share of the nation's spotlight.

Dubbed by those who love her, "the greatest summer festival in the nation," the youthful (started in 1940) Aquatennial will unveil its 15th annual ten-day celebration July 16th through 25th in lake-dotted Minneapolis.

Over 1000 of the city's business, laboring and governmental people in 45 working committees start the ball rolling during the winter months to produce a 119 event show in July. Of the 119 events, 114 are free to the general public.

Focal points of the ten-day festival are the two giant parades attended by an estimated 750,000 spectators in 1953. Six divisions with over 7000 participants make up each parade. The morning parade is scheduled for this year at 9:30 a. m., July 17th while the torchlight parade is set for the evening of July 21st.

The Aquatennial's Topsy is the Aqua Follies, a water show that grew into the nation's most spectacular event. Originated by two Minneapolis men, Aqua Follies features top Olympic divers combined with precision water ballet and stage show. This years' Aqua Follies will start on July 14th and continue through July 25th at the Aqua Follie Bowl.

A truly new and colorfud coronation and stage show is planned this year at the Minneapolis Parade Stadium, Friday, July 23rd. The regal Queen of the Lakes will be selected out of doors while a top show of celebrities will appear at the Aquatennial Star Night and Coronation.

National Bicycle Races, July 24th and 25th, Radio Show, July 17th, and Children's Show, July 20th are a few of the events that will dazzle visitors and Minneapolitans at this year's Aquatennial.

Cancer Research Shows Progress

State Medical Assn. Reports on Developments

More is known about the mechanisms of cancer than about a number of other diseases. This fact appears in a bulletin issued by the Minnesota State Medical association today.

Because cancer can be produced and observed in a laboratory, an important step toward its conquest has been taken. The bulletin states that ten of every 100 cancers can now be cured; it could number 25 with present knowledge. The other 75 are a research problem.

Because of knowledge about growth and cells, and because they are governed by laws of growth, it also known that benign or non-cancerous tumors or growths are governed, within certain limits, by such laws. Thus it is possible to carry on research in this field. However, cancer cells disregard the normal laws of growth.

Certain factors about cancer are now known that enter into the ever-progressing fight on cancer. A certain degree of hereditary predisposition to cancer is apparent in man. The mechanisms of resistance are poorly understood. The study of heredity in relation to cancer is extremely difficult in man, the bulletin points out, because of his complex heredity and long life span, but such studies are urgently needed.

The bulletin emphasizes that early detection of cancer is one of the most important factors in its cure; methods of diagnosis and treatment are constantly being improved; research is continually looking for means of controlling, curing and preventing the disease.

Sgt. Jaranson at Camp Ripley

Erie Store Razed by Fire June 12th

The Erie store, a 37-year-old landmark nine miles southeast of Goodridge, was destroyed by fire Saturday, June 12.

The 40x50 frame structure had living quarters attached where Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Anderson, owners of the store, made their home. The entire structure burned and only some household goods were removed from the building.

The blaze was believed to have been started by an electrical short circuit in a neon sign on the front of the store. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Bible Camp Held at Lake Bronson

The first session at the newly erected Galilee Lutheran Bible Camp near Lake Bronson is now in progress with Bible, lessons and evangelistic services by Rev. A. W. Knock and Rev. Russell Vickstrom, teachers at the Lutheran Bible Institute in Minneapolis. Pastor Vickstrom is a former pastor of the Augustana Lutheran church of Kennedy.

On Sunday, June 27, services will be conducted at 10:30 a. m. with Pastor Vickstrom preaching; and at 2 p. m. Pastor Knock will speak.

Grand Rapids Man Named President of State Bankers

New officers eleced at the 64th annual convention of the Minnesota Bankers association in St. Paul June 15 were William G. King, executive vice president First National bank of Grand Rapids, president; Donovan E. Crouley, vice president Northwestern National bank of Minneapolis, vice president; and Arthur E. Arntzen, president Farmers and Merchants State bank of Appleton, treasurer. Elected to the association's council of administration were Russell M. Gesell, president, Cherokee State bank of St. Paul from the 4th District, Clarence J. Elsenpeter, president First National bank of Walker, 6th District, and Ernest L. Melin, president Oakley National Bank of Buffalo, 10th District.

A number of resolutions were also read and adopted by the convention, among them one pledging the associations full support of Amendment No. 2 which prvides for repeal of the stockholders double liability clause on shares of bank stock. An outmoded, obsolete feature, the need for which has been eliminated since the formation of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., the double liability clause has been abolished in all but two states and the MEA urges its repeal here by passage of Amendment 2.

The association also went on record as whole heartedly endorsing National Dairy Month and all other "Constructive efforts to encourage the wider consumption of milk, cheese, butter and dairy products."

One of the conventions highlights was an agricultural breakfast session at which Marvin D. Johnson of Maple Plain spoke in behalf of all students attending schools on bank-awarded scholarships. At the same session A. G. Sirek executive vice president of the State Bank of New Prague awarded a check to Melvyn Fahning, Wells, Minn. president-elect of state Future Farmers, and $500 were awarded to outstanding 4-H members to help defray their expenses to the 4-H National Convention.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

A report released by the legislative research committee, an agency of the legislature created to study problems of government, reveals that 34 departments or divisions of our state government now issue rules and regulations that have the force and effect of law. This power has been granted to them by the legislature as necessary to efficient administration. There no doubt is justification for the frequent criticism however that in some instances the legislature has gone too far in delegating this kind of authority.

Bad rules and regulations can be a worse evil than bad laws. Laws passed by the legislature are enforced by agents of the administrative branch of government. The laws and their enforcement are subject to review, interpretation and repeal by the courts.

Rules and regulations however are often interpreted and enforced by the same agency that drafted them. The agency becomes law maker, administrator and judge and when that agency also becomes the complaining witness Mr. John Q. Citizen may properly wonder what has happened to his rights.

The research committee suggests that rules and regulations be made more easily available. "There is now no single source where one can obtain a clear picture of the totality of state administrative rules in effect," it points out.

Certainly the people have a right to know what the rules and regulations are and be informed on any changes that may be made from time to time.

YESTERDAY AND TOMORROW

We are brightening the page this week with a "This I Believe" letter, written by David J. Winton, and published recently by the Minneapolis Tribune. It is good reading and should be especially interesting to those who heard him at the banquet for pioneers Friday evening.

Mr. Winton is the son of Charles Winton who, with his brother, operated the Thief River Falls Lumber Co. and their extensive milling operations here a half century ago. The Wintons are still operating lumber mills in the western states where trees are now a crop to be harvested only as they mature. By selective cutting and careful management forests remain young and lumbering is a perpetual operation.

Minnesota is still the home state of the Wintons and they are interested in sound forestry practices being adopted here. No need now to cry about yesterday's mistakes. We all need to learn "not to spend too much of today on yesterday."

But here in Minnesota we have an opportunity for a useful service to the generation that comes after us. Millions of Minnesota acres, now producing nothing of value, are capable of producing a crop that will add greatly to the wealth of the state, and all who live here, in the forseeable future. Minnesota has a future, as well as a past, in forestry.

JUST ANOTHER "USE" TAX

The state of New York is building a 562 mile toll road across the state. A 500 million dollar bond issue, to be retired by revenues collected from users of the road, has been authorized and sold.

This is not startling information. As a matter-of-fact this procedure follows a well established pattern. The multi-lane toll roads that now connect many large cities have proven themselves to be both popular and financially sound.

Collecting a use-tax in this way differs only in form from the taxes collected through the sale of motor fuels.

BETTER TIMES COMING?

The director of research for the National Bureau of Economic Research states that the average family income in this country has increased fourfold during the past 80 years. He came up with the encouraging conclusion too that "there is every indication that this rate of increase can be maintained."

He credits our increased buying power to "gains in productive efficiency." Our higher living standard is the result of the rise in output per man-hour. This will continue to increase, he believes, with more efficient machines and new uses of power.

Using the past record as a guide, he predicts the average family of 80 years hence will enjoy an income of about $25,000. The average family of that time will enjoy a standard that now is possible only for the top 1%.

We are glad to pass this information along for the encouragement of those of you who plan to be here another 80 years.

MORE CONFUSION

An already confused international situation has become further confused by the fall of another French government. Now, for the 20th time since the end of the last war, there is a new administration directing the government of France.

Because no administration during these difficult years has been sufficiently strong to speak for the nation, with assurance that its position would be supported in the national assembly, France has made little progress at home in recovering from the war. As one of the remaining old powers of the world the French, because of the instability of their government, have been of little help in establishing a defense against communism.

The new government, now organized, may prove to be a strong government, but that is doubtful. The experience of the past offers little encouragement for such a hope.

In the meantime West Germany is becoming impatient over the delay in the restoration of promised sovereignty under the plan proposed by the French themselves four years ago. West Germany is now, "economically the strongest and most productive country" on the European continent, and is capable of making a real contribution toward the defense of Europe.

Here are problems that require careful handling. Churchill and Eisenhower are not meeting personally this week merely for a little social session.

THIS I BELIEVE: Usefulness Paves Way for a Satisfactory Life

By DAVID J. WINTON
(Minneapolis Tribune)

"Our days are in His hands." Yet there is too much evidence of the unexplainable and unseen and unknown in our everyday lives—for example, the birth of a child—to make me feel I must make complete logic out of the spiritual side of life. I recognize the unknown future, but try to approach it with optimism and faith. Some of this feeling is gleaned from the words of wise men. Often from the Bible, or from a poem or sometimes from a speech, I gain hope and increasing confidence in the future of our world and a growing faith for things to come.

When I was a boy, my father often spoke lightly, yet seriously, about the deceitfulness of riches. As I grow older and watch the results of building material idols, I begin to see what he meant. He believed usefulness, not just material gain, paves the way for a life of satisfaction. When I have followed stark material greed, no matter what the material gain, I generally come up with a flat feeling of failure and frustration.

I believe in people—good, bad and indifferent. In every person I have known there has been a certain greatness—often hidden—a definite spark that if touched, releases unknown and often unexpected capacities. It is a satisfying thing to see that spark fanned into a flame of growth and achievement, for the spark is there in each of us, I am convinced.

So far I have found no complete armor against life's troubles and reverses, but I have found some partial defenses. For instance, I believe in keeping my material needs and ambitions within attainable limits. I believe in leaning on other people as little as possible. Better still, I often find relief from my own problems if I try to do something about someone else's troubles. It helps me turn my thoughts out again where they belong and shrinks my troubles back into perspective, where they often look dwarfed. Honest and realistic perspective of one's self and one's problems is the first step toward meeting successfully what life brings.

What happens to us in this world is not nearly as important as the way we take what happens to us. Experience—good or bad—is the raw material of life on which we work. I have known people who have been defeated by tragedy, and others who have been defeated by success; also people who have gained strength by misfortune and confidence from good fortune. The important thing is that we are able, at least in part, to determine for ourselves whether we shall handle life and what it brings us as a triumph or disaster.

Like most people, I have handled experiences both ways. I have learned the truth of the quotation, "Let him that standeth take heed lest he fall," and I hope I am beginning to learn "not to spend too much of today on yesterday"—and yesterday's failures.

On the table by my bed at home there is a quotation by Carlyle that is a vitamin to me. I believe in it passionately. Here it is. "Our main business is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand."

MINNESOTANS ARE LIVING LONGER

In 1880 the federal census showed 2.5% of Minnesota's 780,773 residents to be 65 years old or more. In 1950 the ratio had risen to 9%. During the same period the percentage of young people under voting age dropped from 49.8% to 34.6% — accounted for, of course, by the extension of the top bracket. Residents over 75, for instance, accounted for considerably less than 1% of the 1880 population and a little more than 3% of the 1950 population.

To help further promote efforts to whittle down dairy surpluses, let us all help by entering in the "Pie Baking Contest." The Steiner Community Club is sponsoring the contest for this surrounding community. You need not be a club member to enter. Just bring a pie using a milk product and lard in the crust. These are the only requirements. The Steiner Community Club will award three contestants. The first prize winner will then compete at the Pennington County Fair. All county winners will then compete in four regional bake-offs, with the first and second place contestants from those contests to compete for state honors during the State Fair. Mrs. C. H. Toomey of this city, Pennington County chairman, will be present and will bring along with her the Pie-baking contest judge. This contest will be held at the Steiner hall Wednesday evening, June 30. A good program has been planned. In addition to the contest prizes three door prizes will be given, one for the men, one for the women and one for the children. The door prize registration will close at 9 o'clock, and at this time the meeting will commence. So let's all bake a pie and hope we are the lucky winners. Lunch will be served following the program.

---AND A GOOD TIP FOR YOU

Which is only natural. Popularity like that means success.

We know, because for years Buick has held such an envied position—the unquestioned sales leader in its class. And with good reasons in styling, room, power, value.

But today, folks like you have pushed Buick success even beyond such bounds.

That's a tip too good to pass up.

That's the tip-off that Buick must have the hottest styling of the times and the sweetest performance of the year.

More important, that's the tip-off that Buick prices are well within the reach of more and more people—and that such prices buy a lot more automobile per dollar.

So why not look into the tomorrow-styled Buick that puts you so far ahead today?

Come in, or phone us this week for a demonstration. Then you can judge for yourself that Buick really is the beautiful buy—by far.

"Dusk AT DAWN" TWO WEEKS AWAY

Minnesota, or a strip of the state, will be favored June 30, with what many consider the grandest spectacle in nature—a total eclipse of the sun. When the sun first peeks over the horizon that morning, about half past four, depending on where in the state the observer lives the moon already will have shadowed a thin crescent. At 5:07 in northeastern Nebraska the sun disappears and by a few seconds after 5:08 the St. Croix, from Hastings to Rush City, will be in stygian darkness. Southern edge of the Minnesota blackout extends diagonally from Worthington to Hastings, on the north from Pipestone to Pine City. This will be the first total eclipse of the sun ever visible to the Twin Cities, the most recent one in this area having occurred March 27, 1503. The next one is due May 3, 2106.

IS THIS YOU?

The Minnesota Highway Department would like to know if this is you: Do you throw empty beer bottles or cans, empty liquor or wine bottles out of your car's windows as you go driving along the highways? If that is typical of your motoring habits, you may as well know that you're not on the Department's "Good Driver" list. In fact, it's very possible that you're on another list—the Dishonor Roll of Litterbugs. Remember, that every bottle, can or other debris you throw out on your highways means that much more money must be spent in picking up your litter—money which could be much better spent for permanent improvements to your trunk highways.

IS MODERN YOUTH REJECTING THE FAMILY?

"I no longer speak of juvenile delinquents; I speak of derelict parents." This statement by a police officer points up a University Farm School study of the reaction of young people to family life. Questioning typical school pupils in 1939 disclosed that 25.5% adjusted favorably to the family, 42.2% average, 32.3% unfavorably; in 1952 the proportions were 24.5%, 45.7%, 29.8% — a mild swing toward "average." More alarming, perhaps, are findings regarding "Girls' sense of obligation to thefamily," indicating that in 1939 59.3% entertained a high sense of such obligation, in 1952 only 43.2%. In 1939 79% felt their greatest obligation toward their family, in 1952 67% felt that way! a third of the youngsters of the earlier day thought their parents too old fashioned, 43% now think so; but whereas 22% thought parents too particular about the company their children kept in 1939, now only 6% feel so.

E. G. Forks Man Heads Conservation Group

Officers elected for the ensuing year were George Raymond, East Grand Forks, president; Earl Kallher, Warren, first vice president; Dr. Ken Albertson, Crookston, second vice president; Albin M. Johnson, Ada, third vice president.

The directors elected were: John Anderson, Thief River Falls, Stanley Olson, Ada; Joe Harren, Red Lake Falls and Warren A. Saetre, Warren.

Among the many resolutions passed were the following:

1. A resolution approving the State Tree Nursery program.

2. A recommendation to the legislature to change the law to prohibit the sale of deer licenses after the opening day of deer season.

3. A resolution appealing to all deer hunters to limit the size of their deer hunting parties so as not lose sight of good sportmanship.

4. An appeal to our congressmen to check with the Federal Migratory Water Fowl commission and see if a more equitable bag limit season cannot be approved for the State of Minnesota....

5. A resolution deploring the pollution of Rainy River and requesting that action be taken by the State Water Pollution Commission and the International Joint Commission to stop the present abuses of dumping dilatorious refuse into the Rainy river.

6. A recommendation to the Legislative Advisory committee to release money out of the conservation department continued fund so as to permit the conservation department to purchase slough lands that are in danger of being drained within the next few years.

The meeting was addressed by Frank Blair, State Director of Game and Fish and by W. E. Dahlquist of Thief River Falls. Mr. Blair reviewed some of the goals of the department of conservation and the necessity of united action by sportsmen today to insure sound legislation so as to preserve the future of conservation in the state of Minnesota.

Roy Jesme, one of the past directors also spoke briefly on the water pollution problem at Rainy river and the harmful effect it has upon the spawning of fish in the river. Mr. Jesme has been conducting a study of this problem for the past few years and is one of the most outspoken critics of the pollution of this river.

The association went on record commending the fine program Mr. Blair has been advocating in the department of conservation.

The meeting was well attended and entertainment for the delegates and their families was provided by a baseball game between Red Lake Falls and Viking, trap shooting, a bar-b-que picnic and a dance at the Legion club in the evening.

Remedies Offered for Insect Bites

Christmas Seal Group Offers Suggestions

"Ouch! I got stung!"

This familiar cry is frequently heard when bees switch their attention from flowers to people—especially to sensitive people who suffer considerably from bites. This summer-time health note was received by the state Christmas Seal organization from the National Tuberculosis association.

Fortunately, there are simple remedies for bee stings. The old-fashioned mud pack is now frowned upon, because of infection danger. Gentle pressure around the skin to get the stinger out and then bathing the place with baking soda solution to soothe the irritation is recommended.

The annoying mosquito bite can be relieved with baking soda, calamine lotion or Epsom salt solution. Scratching bites can lead to infection, so it is a good idea to relieve the itching as much as possible. When there are biting insects around, using a cream or lotion that prevents bites in the first place is a good remedy, the health release states.

Chigger bites are relieved by bathing the bitten place with strong soap and then sponging with alcohol. If done immediately, unpleasant red welts will not appear.

Ticks attach themselves firmly to the skin and can be removed easily by a small amount of chloroform, gasoline or turpentine to make them let go. Highly effective treatments have been developed for insect bites in recent years. In case of severe discomfort, a physician should be called.

Correspondence School Nurses Not Licensed in State

A number of inquiries, particularly from housewives throughout Minnesota, as to whether a correspondence or home study course would qualify graduates of such a program to take the licensed practical nurse examinations have been received by the Minnesota Nurses Association headquarter's office, 2395 University Avenue, St. Paul.

In Minnesota no correspondence or home study course in practical nursing is recognized as an equivalent for instruction and experience in an accredited school of practical nursing. Consequently, graduates of such courses can not become licensed in Minnesota. Any one who does take a correspondence course would be eligible to work in a hospital only as a nurses aide, which requires on-the-job training.

The licensed practical nurse law was first established in Minnesota in 1947 for the protection of citizens of this state. It is administered by the state board of examiners of nurses, 700 Minnesota Building, St. Paul. This board established the minimum requirements for the schools and assists the schools in developing programs that will meet the needs of the hospitals and agencies requiring the services of practical nursing in Minnesota, including one in Thief River Falls.

State Treasurer Val Bjornson Discusses Dairy Industry Problem

Salesmanship is needed to expand the consumption of dairy products, Val Bjornson Minnesota state treasurer, and candidate for the Republican nomination, for U. S. senator told Marshall county dairymen attending the 27th annual Marshall county creameries picnic at Old Mill state park June 13, says the Warren Sheaf.

A near perfect summer day with bright sunshine and clear skies aided in bringing out a crowd estimated at 3,500 people to the picnic. More than 700 cars were checked in to the park, according to Ernest Jewell, park superintendent.

Mr. Bjornson stated at the outset of his speech that he didn't bring the solution of the dairy problem with him, but if he had it, he would be in Washington at once. He was critical of the present farm program which, on the basic crops was made to order for the south. The southern farmer gets support on tobacco, rice, peanuts and cotton, but we in the north have only wheat and corn.

E. M. Evans, Middle River, who served as chairman of the picnic association during practically all of its years of existence, was called upon for a few remarks. He related some of the early history of the state.

Verne Evanson, manager of the Viking creamery, who is the present chairman of the picnic association, served as master of ceremonies.

New "U" Program Aimed at Control of Delinquency

Establishment by the University of Minnesota of a new interdepartmental program in sociology, social work, psychology and law to train students for careers in the control of delinquency and crime was announced today by E. W. McDiarmid, dean of the college of science, literature and the arts. The program will be offered starting next fall quarter.

Purpose of the new program, Dean McDiarmid explained, is to meet the demand of students who wish to prepare during their third and fourth college years either for graduate professional training or for sub-professional careers in the field of delinquency control as well as to meet the urgent need of the many agencies in this field for more broadly trained personnel.

Since the essential qualification for workers in delinquency control is the capacity to establish successful human relationships, the dean added, the new program is designed to give the student a broad base of liberal education rather than intensive technical training.

HOW LONG WILL YOUR FENCE POSTS STAND?

University Institute of Agriculture finds aspen and cottonwood potentially the shortest lived posts, jack pine the most durable. Untreated, aspen and cottonwood, paper birch, and black ash, last about four years; cold soaked 48 hours in 5% penta solution, their useful life is prolonged to 10-12, 12-15, 15-18 years, respectively. Untreated, red oak endures 13 years, treated 18 to 20; white oak doesn't respond so wholeheartedly to penta treatment, which prolongs its life only 5 years, from 15 to 20. Jack pine, on the other hand, is the most responsive, leaping from 8 useful years untreated to 20 or more after treatment.

HOLY BIBLE
THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

IT TAKES PRACTICE

What a dilemma! Johnny should sit here and practice his piano lesson for the next hour. But there are so many things he would prefer doing . . . . Of course he'd like to be able to play well. Who wouldn't?

So many of us are like Johnny. We'd like to be able to accomplish something, but we aren't willing to spend the necessary time and effort.

The same holds true in the practice of our Christian religion. How can we hope to understand the will of God without reading His Word or without supporting His Church?

In order to live the richest life, we must devote our time and talent to God's work. We will learn to direct our efforts where they will accomplish most if we will study His Word and worship in His House.

Diehl-Wedding Vows

The altar was beautifully lighted with candleabra and bedecked with gladiolus and lace ferns for the double ring wedding ceremony solemnized Saturday evening, June 19th at the Zion Lutheran Church of Viking. Rev. Gordon Bernsten of Newfolden officiated. Vows were exchanged by Eloise Windahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Windahl of Viking and Donald Diehl, son of D. D. Diehl of Thief River Falls.

The bride on the arm of her father was beautifully attired in white slipper satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and fitted bodice, a full floor length skirt ending in a long train. Her shoulder length veil of nylon tulle extended from a crown adorned with orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings.

The gowns of the attendants were floor length of dotted nylon, organza styled with low cut necklines, empire midriffs, bouffant skirts in pastel shades of orchid, pink, blue and yellow, worn with taffeta and crinoline petticoats each one wearing bonnets matching her gown, rhinestone necklaces and carrying colonial bouquets of carnations and roses tied with net and ribbon streamers contrasting each gown.

The flower girl was little Patricia Gander, niece of the bride attired in mint green organdy dress and bonnet with scalloped neckline, ruffled skirt trimmed with net bows and pink rosebuds. She carried a basket of baby carnations and rosebuds strewing rose petals for the pathway of the bride. Ringbearer was Jon Sorenson, nephew of the bride, wearing white jacket and dark trousers carrying a heart shaped satin pillow trimmed with nylon net ribbon bows with streamer tied loveknots.

Serving as ushers were brother-in-law of the groom, Ed Chaplewski of Grand Forks and Morlan Windahl, brother of the bride.

Pianist Margaret Ranum, close friend of the bride who so capably furnished all the wedding music, also accompanied the soloist Mrs. Floyd Bakke, sister of the bride who sang "At Dawning" also Miss Sylvia Broten, cousin of the bride sang "Because" before the processional. After the wedding party was assembled Mrs. Floyd Bakke sang "The Wedding Prayer." Then as the bride and groom knelt at the altar Morlan Windahl, brother of the bride sang, "The Lord's Prayer." Mother of the bride chose lilac sheer nylon for her dress wearing white accessories, her corsage of red roses was centered with a white gardenia. Mother of the groom chose coral pink linen for her dress also wearing white accessories. Her corsage of yellow roses was centered with a white gardenia.

Following the ceremony a reception was given for about 160 guests. The bridal table set for twenty-four was lighted with candelabras centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with an arch of lily of the valley net and satin bows and centered with miniature white wedding bells.

A delicious luncheon was served of open face sandwiches and sandwich loaf, assorted dainty cookies and molded salads, wedding cake and ice cream and mint and nut cups.

Acting as master of ceremonies was Ray Martin of Thief River Falls, opening the program with singing the table prayer. Rev. Adolph Pederson of Fergus Falls gave greetings and comments. Yvonne Lind and Deloris Ranum sang "Together with Jesus." After numerous toasts given by friends and relatives and fellow employees Erliss Simonson sang a solo. Ray Martin then spoke briefly as the bride's past and present employer, his wife Marguerite, then gave a solo. Then comments were given by the groom's employer, Mr. Lloyd Anderson of Rosewood.

Concluding the program the three sisters of the bride, Phyllis, Delores and June sang, "I Love You Truly" and Rev. Bernsten gave closing prayer and benediction. Mrs. Ed Chaplewski, sister of the groom and Mrs. Oscar Stamnes of Halma poured. Mrs. Ray Solmonson, cousin of the bride cut the wedding cake. Mrs. Clara Elseth, Mrs. Alfred Ranum, Mrs. Wm. Anderson, served as cooks and waitresses were Mrs. Milford Olson, Barbara Kagg and Janice Waller. Those in charge of the gift table were Yvonne Lind of Bemidji and Deloris Ranum. Outline New Hospital Addition Facilities

Since the closing of old Mercy Hospital, all Northwestern Hospital patients have been taken care of in Plant B, formerly St. Luke's Hospital, said Harold W. Peterson, administrator. The number of beds in Plant B has been increased from 54 to 65 since the closing of the other plant. There are also 15 bassinets and three new baby incubators in the hospital.

It has been necessary to place some beds in the halls in order to accomodate patients from time to time. For the seven week period since the closing of the old hospital, the patient load has ranged from 38 to 59 per day. Average patient load since May 1st has been 49. Sixty babies have been born at Plant B since the closing of Mercy Hospital.

Hall beds are made available to the patient for a room and board charge of $5.00 per day, according to a recent ruling of the Board of Trustees. When necessary, these beds are furnished with surrounding screens. The quality of nursing care for hall patients remains in all respects the same as that given to any other patients in the hospital. In the event that such a patient becomes seriously ill, the patient is moved to more private quarters.

Peterson reports that there has been no appreciable let-down in number of patients admitted since the close-down of Mercy Hospital. Beginning at this time of the year, hospitals generally experience a reduction in patient load. This is especially true in rural communities. The seasonal reduction in patient load this year is slow in coming and the patient load is higher than forecast for this time of year.

The new hospital addition which should be ready about September 1st will accomodate at least as many patients as does the present Hospital Plant B. It will very likely be unnecessary to have any beds in the hall when this move takes place. However, since the new structure contains all of the ancillary facilities of the hospital, the total new hospital beds furnished by it is not as large as the appearance of the building might indicate. Only when the remodeling of the old building is finished, sometime in the month of December, will the total of 112 beds be reached.

It is felt that although the patient load will be much heavier in the months of September, November and December, adequate beds will be available—although some crowding may be expected.

The new Northwestern Hospital will be fully equipped with those features that are necessary for the development of Thief River Falls as a good medical center, said Peterson. To be included are such items as deep X-ray therapy, centralized food service, central sterile supply area, apparatus for the distillation of water, centralized oxygen piping to 40 beds, air conditioning in operating room and delivery room sections, a twelve-bed, isolated section for children, a physical therapy area properly equipped with exercising apparatus, a flame spectrophometer for better determination of the patient's condition following major surgery, new American Sterilizer, operating tables and lights, another Shampiagne delivery table, provision to prevent any possible explosions of anesthetic gases in either operating or delivery rooms, and additional anesthesia machine for use in the obstetrical area, a special Albee-Comper table for reduction of fractures, a Sisk urological table and room for urological operations, new stainless steel kitchen equipment, and a new hospital laundry.

'Save Minnesota Wetlands' Drive Brings in Gifts

Voluntary contributions towards the fund to "Save Minnesota's Wetlands" received a boost this week with receipt of a contribution from the Minnesota division of the Izaac Walton League of America.

In a letter addressed to director of game and fish, Frank D. Blair, the president of the Minnesota division, IWLA, George M. Laing, declared:

"I hope that this contribution from our funds will lead to similar contributions from the more than 600 organizations which are interested, as we are, in the protection and restoration of a greater out-of-doors."

More than 35 organizations, including sportsmen's clubs, chambers of commerce, American Legion Posts, and civic and social organizations, besides numerous individuals throughout the state, have sent in contributions to odate, Mr. Blair indicated.

"The response of this informal drive has been heart-warming, to say the least," Blair declared.

U. S. to Establish Huge Air Base in Grand Forks Area

$7,050,000 Project Will Provide Accommodations for 800 Officers and Men

An air defense jet fighter base will be established 10 to 15 miles northwest of Grand Forks, involving a construction cost of $7,050,000, it was announced Thursday in Washington by the Air Force.

With completion of the necessary construction, possibly within two years, 800 officers and men will be assigned there, and an additional 100 civilians will be employed locally for maintenance work.

The initial payroll for personnel when the base is in operation will approximate $250,000 a month, according to the Air Force and this may be augmented if developments warrant further expansion of the base.

Mayor Oscar Lunseth has been informed that upwards of 200 housing units in Grand Forks will be required to meet the needs of married personnel not residing at the base, and the city schools will need to care for 175 to 200 children of personnel.

Besides announcing the Grand Forks base, which was designated for the "Fargo-Grand Forks area," the Air Force said a second base in North Dakota for the "Bismarck-Minot area" will be constructed 10 or 15 miles northwest of Minot, at a cost of $7,580,000.

Air Show Set for Grafton June 27

Roy "Upside Down" Timm, the midwest's greatest stunt pilot today wired acceptance of terms to appear at the air show to be held at the Grafton, N. D. municipal airport Sunday, June 27.

Timm, flying a high powered stunt ship, received his nickname due to the fact that most of his maneuvers are done from an upside down position. His ship is equipped with an inverted system which allows him to fly upside down just as easily as rightside up and most of his act is flown in that position.

All stunt pilots will operate under CAA new safety rules and regulations, with the CAA agent assisting in the safe operation of the show.

The tall column standing near Pudding Lane in London is a monument to the great fire of 1666. The fire consumed everything in its path from Pudding Lane to Pye Corner, which led reformists of the day to point out the evils of overeating.

HAIL!!

Reports of hailstorms are coming in, and there has been at least two rather light storms right here in Pennington County. It would be a tragedy if the beautiful crops which are now looking so wonderful should be destroyed by Hail.

The only way to lessen the loss is Hail Insurance in a reliable company that is both willing and able to pay the losses fairly. The Minnesota Farmers Mutual has been in the Hail Insurance business 63 years and has paid every legitimate claim in full.

Our office is in the Pennington Hotel lobby and we will take care of all calls 508W.

GRANITE AND TACONITE IMPORTANT TO STATE

New Minnesota houses to the number of at least 542 will be built "on taconite" — perhaps literally, certainly on the proceeds of this low grade ore only recently coming into its own as a dependable source of iron supply; 300 new homes are planned at Silver Bay, taconite port on Superior where already more than 230 homes have gone up. At Babbitt 242 new 1954 homes will bring the total to 371. A big new school is under construction in each town. The recently authorized St. Lawrence Seaway promises a lakeshore boom . . . Largest granite-finishing plant in the United States is at St. Cloud, center of a granite quarrying industry second only to Barre, Vt. There are 16 active quarrying and finishing plants in the state, turning out widely popular pink, red, gray, and variegated Minnesota granites, for buildings, monuments, etc.

FOR BEAUTY, TILE THE FLOOR, TILE THE WALL

These floor tiles and wall tiles have reached a new high in beauty, durability and ease of application. Not only an excellent range of colors but you or I can install them without calling in a Philadelphia lawyer. The price is low, too, and work of this kind may be placed on our monthly budget plan. I have color samples in my office.

Everard Appleton Wrote It a Long Time Ago

I have no fear! What is in store for me Shall find me self-reliant, undismayed, God grant my only cowardice may be Afraid—to be afraid!

CAULKING GUNS

This is an important household tool. Loaded with a cartridge containing a plastic watertight material you can close tiny gaps and cracks on almost any surface. Especially helpful around windows where moisture can penetrate and slowly rot wood. The caulking gun is produced in several models. A serviceable unit starts at $1.75.

BUILD YOUR OWN HOME

This step takes a little money (down payment), a lot of planning (your dreams) and sound advice (that's me). I have some plans on my desk reproduced in booklet form that you can take home and start your dreams into tangible happiness. Rent money performs a service but home ownership produces substantial dividends.

FOR TOWN OR COUNTRY

Attractive fencing need not SURROUND a home property. It is more often used in a partial application as both protection and beauty. A picket fence with an arbor entrance is still a friendly break between the vegetable and flower garden. First coat the pickets with paint before you construct the sections and you'll come up with an expert job.

FINANCING

The home is the symbol from which our lives flow. To produce comfort and happiness it must be kept modern and inviting. Many little improvements may be merged together and completed now but paid for on a monthly budget program. Kitchen, bath, attic and basement may be improved now (both material and labor), and paid in small monthly dabs. Painting, reroofing and insulation work fits into the budget plan like a glove. Just ask and see how simple and direct this service can be.

Strandquist . .

By Mrs. Ed. Stennes, Strandquist

Post History of Strandquist

Village of Strandquist had two post offices. The first settlers in the territory now known as the township of Lincoln arrived in the year 1889. The most of them were swedish immigrants, who were anxious to own a piece of land and were willing to put up with the hardship of pioneering in a wilderness to acquire their homes.

At that time the nearest trading center was Stephen. There were no roads to travel and the provisions were often carried on the back. It has been told that some of these hardy pioneers carried one hundred pounds of flour, besides other groceries on their backs a distance of from 20 to 30 miles.

The need for supplies prompted a settler by the name of E. M. Stromgren to stock a small store ¾ mi. west from the present Englund store site.

By the fall of 1890 the territory had become sufficiently settled to organize the township of Lincoln. P. A. Sundberg was the first chairman, and his clerk was John Harrison. P. A. Sundberg was an uncle of Nels J. Sundberg, who resides in East Park township and John Harrison was the father of Mrs. C. Hanson Nelson recently of East Park township but now a resident of Karlstad.

By 1896 the population of Lincoln township had increased to the extent that a trading center could be profitably supported and a couple of energetic business men by the the names of C. M. Carlson and John Strandquist started a store 1½ miles west from the present village. U. S. mail was distributed from this store and it became known as the Lund post office and store.

The Lund Store changed owners several times but when the Soo Line decided on a location for their station the owners were P. E. and A. M. Sihlberg and they moved their business to the village which then became the "Village of Lund" and the "Lund Post Office".

John Strandquist, who had sold his interest in the Lund Store, had in the meantime started another store farther east, on the site H. W. Bernhardson is now residing. He also had a post office together with his store and he also moved to the new village.

Being the Lund post office was moved in first the Soo Line used Lund as the village name and old deeds still have the "in the village of Lund" description.

The post office situation, however, was not so quickly decided, especially when "Lund" was in the village first. Most things have changed a lot in 50 years but politics very likely have not, and it is a fair guess that Mr. Strandquist belonged to the party in power at that time.

The boys had a new '53 Ford which was completely wrecked. They crashed into an older model car which was either parked or traveling very slowly without tail lights. This car was supposed to be owned by a Splide but we haven't heard how he or his car fared. The boys were taken to the hospital at Karlstad for medical attention.

Miss Joyce Larson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. O. H. Larson of Strandquist became the bride of Elmer Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson at a beautiful double ring ceremony at the Bethesda Lutheran Church last Friday evening, June 11, at 8 o'clock.

Several local people added much to the program with vocal and instrumental numbers. Arvid Wikstrom showed some very interesting slides of industries in Minnesota and Edwin Lefrooth showed some of Germany and France.

I'll soon feel like a party Mr. Wikstrom told of when she went 40 miles from home in a horse and buggy. "I never knew the world was so big" but grandma Wikstrom topped it when she told of her granddaughter coming from Canada for a visit and "didn't know the United States was so small," when she saw Strandquist.

50 YEARS AGO

Starting June 20, 1904, with the sale of lands in the northwest corner of the reservation, the auction proceeded southward to the corner of Rocksbury and then started at the top of the next tier of townships, moving gradually eastward. Of those first-day purchasers, two were present at the banquet honoring the pioneers Friday night. They were Reynold Johnson and Chris Steen.

"Quite Large" Crowds

In its issue of June 30, ten days after the opening date, the Thief River Falls News reported, "The land sale continues to attract quite large crowds and some exceptional bargains are now being secured by the people who have been patient. The land in the townships south of Germantown all sold at from $4 to $5 an acre with the exception of a few choice pieces. Of course when the river claims came up Thursday some of the land sold at $11 an acre, but the majority of it went much lower."

"Most of the land south of the Red Lake River has not been sold at all," the news commented. "No one is making any offer on the pieces put up, but it is quite probable that a great deal of it will be bought at private sale later on as there is some good land there."

Crowd "Not Very Large"

The sale was scheduled to continue until July 14. What would happen then had not yet been determined. In the July 7 issue the News stated, "The crowd at the land sale is not very large and a great many pieces of land are not being sold. Some very choice pieces of land in the vicinity of Highlanding yesterday sold at from $4 to $3.50 per acre. It was thought by some that this land would go much higher and all are surprised that it went so cheap."

Sales Adjourned

In the July 14 issue, the last day of the sale, it was announced that the sale would be adjourned to October 3 when it would be resumed at Crookston. The results were reviewed in the July 21 issue as follows:

"The sale of the eleven townships came to a close Thursday. Less than 40% of the land was sold and the average price was $6.27 per acre. The highest price paid was $40.50 and this was bid for Squaw Point. The total amount of the sale was $589,554 on which a payment of one-fifth or $117,910 was made. The total number of pieces sold was 610 and there yet remains 1,034 which will be offered at Crookston October 3."

Postponement of the sale was not pleasing to the Indians who had anticipated an early settlement and a distribution of a substantial down payment. That settlement was now being delayed three months and they were not happy about it. Frank Kratka was called upon again to explain why this delay was necessary.

So Ended The Sale

And so ended the first inning of the land sale, one of the last great offerings of public lands for settlement. The actual settlement of the area continued over a period of several years, and they were years of great activity in the community. There was a great deal of construction in the country when farm buildings, schools and churches had to be erected. And there was much activity in booming Thief River Falls, growing as a market for the expanded farm territory and also as railroad center in the making.

This great activity attracted favorable publicity and Editor Eastman was happy to reproduce favorable comments. From the Minneapolis Journal he clipped this statement about the "little town of 3,000."

Busy City

"The tributary country has fine soil and water power of the Red Lake river runs the flour mill and grinds out electricity for light, and every 24 hours the steam sawmills cut a quarter of a million feet of white pine which grows 40 miles away, but Thief River Falls' splendid future will result from the future operations of the Soo and Great Northern lines.

"The Soo has a big crew on hand to grade for its Winnipeg extension from Glenwood and the Great Northern is building warehouses and throwing off ties for its extension to Warroad.

"These roads will give the town two thru lines from Winnipeg to Minneapolis. It will also make it the distributing point for the newly opened White Earth reservation country and that of Roseau county, which is yet untrammeled by steel bands, and the Red Lake reservation being opened for settlement.

"Nearly 200 houses are being built in Thief River Falls and the town is full of strangers."

Building Shortage

A mushroom growth was retarded by a building shortage. "Most every train brings in people looking for business locations," observed the News, "but as there are no vacant store buildings and all lines of business are well represented here, but few of them remain.

"The largest number want to open up saloons and restaurants, but among the number during the past week have been two general merchants, a druggist, a photographer and a livery stable man. It is not probable that any of them will locate here as they cannot secure a building to rent."

Council Buy[illegible] New Lights Business Ar[illegible]

Low Bid of Grand Forks Firm in Sum of $38,710 Is Accepted Wednesday

After considering nine bids on the installation of a modern system of street lighting in the downtown district of Thief River Falls, the city council at an adjourned session last Wednesday evening awarded the contract to John M. Schroeder, Inc. of Grand Forks, N. D., on its low bid of $38,710.50.

Other bids ranging as high as $52,496, while the project had been estimated by Douglas Stewart and C. J. Hastad, engineers, to cost about $43,000. The contract calls for the work to be completed by August 30.

The project calls for the installation of 102 standards, of which 94 will be 30 feet high, with four 25-foot standards to be placed on the Third st. and First st. bridges. The lights will be of the color-improved mercury vapor type, and will have 18,000 lumens capacity, representing a marked improvement over the present outmoded system.

The Civic and Commerce association, which took the lead in initiating the project, had recommended that two-thirds of the cost be assessed against the benefited property owners, with one-third to be borne by the city. A definite decision on this matter, however, will be deferred until a hearing on assessments is held at a later date.

At Wednesday's meeting a hearing also was held on a petition recently submitted to the council calling for the removal of the Hendrickson ice house from its present location on Crocker ave. S. A large number of the petitioners were present, as was Ed Hendrickson representing the ice company.

Following the discussion, the matter was referred to the council building committee, city health officer and fire marshal to make an inspection and report at the next regular meeting July 20.

2 More Aspirants Seek County Posts

Lars Hyiden Candidate for County Board Post

Additional filings during the past week brought competition for two more county offices, County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr reported.

Lars Hylden, former member of the Pennington county board, filed as a candidate for commissioner from the second district. He will oppose Don Olson, incumbent, who has filed for re-election.

Two Thief River Falls men also filed last week with Mrs. Mike Holm, secretary of state, for reelection to their present posts. Paul A. Lundgren entered his name as a candidate for reelection as judge of the 14th judicial district, and thus far is unopposed for that office.

W. E. Dahlquist, state senator from the 65th district, also filed for reelection. First to file for that office was Roy E. Wiseth of Goodridge.

Noted Authority Finds Pennington County Birds in Promising Condition

County Agent Penning announced that Dr. W. A. Billings, extension veterinarian and noted turkey expert, visited various turkey growers in the county last Thursday.

Penning arranged for a tour of six turkey growers in Deer Park township. The first farm visited was that of J. L. Radniecki, a long time friend of Dr. Billings. Mr. Radniecki has been in the turkey business many years and has 2800 birds this year. Dr. Billings said all 2800 of the birds look like top contestants for the "Thanksgiving Roaster" next fall.

Dr. Billings thought that as a whole the turkeys looked very good this year. One of the suggestions he had to offer was not to crowd the poults, and to put them on pasture with sufficient range shelter.

21 Production Credit Units, Including TRF, Now Member-owned

Alfred Longren, E. H. Pomerenke, Robert J. Lund and Paul Roy returned Friday from St. Paul where they had attended the 20th anniversary and complete member ownership celebration of the 21 Minnesota production credit associations.

The Thief River Falls Credit Association, of which Mr. Lund is secretary-treasurer, was organized in December 1933.

Governor C. Elmer Anderson who spoke at the celebration banquet last Thursday evening told the gathering of more than 450 PCA members that "the work and efforts of your organizations have played an important role in our Minnesota economy."

Commenting on the growth of these credit cooperatives, he said the figures "tell a story of successful management," and, too, they tell a story of successful farming."

"Certainly, it is refreshing to know that these organizations which began 20 years ago with the help of the government, are now completely independent of the government, and, on the contrary, owned by members," Governor Anderson added.

Harry J. Peterson, executive secretary, Minnesota Association of Cooperatives, talking to the group Thursday afternoon pointed out the similarities between PCAs and other cooperatives. But, he noted that often cooperatives become so wrapped up in their own particular phase of "off-the-farm" business that many have failed to recognize how the various cooperatives complement and supplement each other to better the economic positions of members.

Andrew Lampen, president of the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul, speaking about the objective of the PCAs said, "The ability of farmers to solve their own problems is the key to the success of the Production Credit system."

Discussing the source of money loaned by PCAs, M. H. Nugent, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Paul, explained that it comes from private investors through the sale of debentures in the nation's regular investment markets.

F. W. Peck, former president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul and now a member of the Federal Farm Credit Board, told the farmers and their wives that their credit institutions faced a challenge as great as that of 20 years ago. The new challenge is to develop and adopt credit practices and principles to an agriculture with its present technological advances and high capital requirements.

Aloyce Iverson Becomes Bride of Curtis Wiskow

Landstad Lutheran church near Gatzke was the scene of a pretty wedding Monday afternoon when Aloyce Colleen Iverson, daughter of Mrs. Thea Iverson of Middle River became the bride of Curtis Marshall Wiskow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Wiskow of Strathcona. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E. J. Bagley before an altar decked with candelabra, baskets of pink and white glads and pink and blue daisies.

Miss Gloria Lunsetter presided at the piano, playing a prelude of nuptial music as the wedding guests, numbering 300 relatives and friends, were ushered in. Miss Lunsetter also provided the accompaniment for Mrs. Glenn Evans, who sang "Because" preceding the ceremony, "I Love You Truly" as the couple knelt at the altar, and "O Perfect Love" following the exchange of vows.

Given in marriage by her brother, Maynerd Iverson, the bride approached the altar wearing a chapel length gown of lace and net over satin, fashioned with lace bodice, sweetheart neckline edged with pleated net, long lace sleeves which came to a point over the hand, and bouffant skirt of tiered net over satin. Her fingertip veil of illusion net was appliqued with lace medallions and held in place by a crown of lace embedded with tiny pearls. She carried orchids and lilies of the valley over a white Bible, a gift from her mother. Her rhinestone choker with matching earrings were gifts of the groom.

Marilyn Carlson of Roseau, friend of the couple, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a gown of orchid taffeta, styled with net at the neckline, short puffed sleeves, and inserts of net in the skirt. Her matching headdress of net was trimmed with assorted tiny blossoms. The bridesmaid, Miss Karen Paulson of Greenbush, cousin of the groom, wore a gown of yellow taffeta styled similar to that of the maid of honor, also with a matching headpiece. Each carried a colonial bouquet of mixed carnations and wore pearl necklaces, which were gifts from the bride.

Flower girls were SoAnn Iverson, niece of the bride, and Karla Eldsmoe, niece of the groom. They wore gowns of yellow nylon and white satin, respectively, matching headpieces, and carried identical baskets filled with rose petals which they scattered in the path of the bride. Gold lockets and matching bracelets were their gifts from the bride. The ring bearer, Russ Wayne Iverson, wore a white jacket, navy blue trousers and a maroon tie and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Roger Wiskow, brother of the groom, was best man, and the groom's other attendant was LeRoy Wiskow, cousin of the groom. They wore tan business suits with white carnation boutonnieres and yellow ties, which were gifts of the groom. Arvin and Elmer Dahl served as ushers.

Mrs. Iverson attended her daughter's wedding in a violet two-piece dress, with white accessories and a corsage of mixed carnations. The groom's mother was attired in pink, also with white accessories, and a similar corsage. Mrs. L. P. Paulson of Greenbush, grandmother of the groom, wore a blue silk dress, white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Refreshments were served by the Esther Circle of the Landstad Ladies Aid, and waitresses were Mrs. Frank Cwikla, Mrs. Roy Bentow, Mrs. Louis Shimpa and Mrs. Floyd Wiskow. The four-tiered wedding cake, topped with wedding bells and a miniature bride and groom, was baked and cut by Mrs. Valent Bernat. Mrs. Pauline Johnson, aunt of the groom, poured. Mrs. Lyle Wiskow and Miss LaVonne Lian attended the gift table and Marlene Fassl had charge of the guest book.

As the couple left that evening on a two weeks wedding trip, the new Mrs. Wiskow was wearing a gray suit with collar encrusted with seed pearls, white accessories and an orchid corsage. They will return to make their home on the groom's farm near Strathcona. The bride is a graduate of the Middle River high school, class of '52. The groom received his discharge from the army in February after two years of service.

In addition to a host of relatives and friends from Greenbush, Strathcona, Thief River Falls and Holt, the out of town guests included the following: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Iverson of Pinewood; Mrs. George Borgen and Gary of Badger; Mrs. Harry Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. James Eldsmoe and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Valent Bernat and family of Roseau; Mrs. Ray Sagstuen and Rennie of Duluth; Everett Westberg of Hibbing; Mr. and Mrs. Orlin Eldsmoe and son, Mrs. Almen Eldsmoe of Malung; A1/c and Mrs. James Iverson of Rockledge, Florida.

Three members of a St. Vincent family—including the twin sister of a girl killed by a hit and run driver less than four months ago—drowned in a cattle watering hole near St. Vincent Monday.

The drowning victims were John Fitzpatrick, about 44, and his daughters, Marlene, 14, and Alice, 12. Alice's twin, Elaine, was one of the youngsters killed early in March when a hit and run driver plowed into a group of children in St. Vincent.

Wallace Cameron, St. Vincent, town marshall, said the two young sisters had gone swimming in the cattle hole while their father was working in a granary.

Cameron said the girls called to their father when they started to go down in about nine feet of water. Fitzpatrick died in a vain attempt to save his daughters.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick learned of the tragedy when she drove to the family farm after the three failed to return to town for supper. The family home is in town.

Hospital Addition Is Now in Final Stages

Schedule for the completion of the new Northwestern Hospital addition, as given today by Colin Gillies, resident inspector, indicates that the third floor will be finished the first week in August, the second floor in the second week in August, the first floor in the third week in August, and the ground floor during the first week in September.

All lathing and plastering will be done within the next ten days. Cabinet work furnished by the Northern Woodwork Co. of Thief River Falls is being completed on schedule and is being stored and primed in the parts of the building where it is soon to be installed. All final plumbing fixtures have been received, and radiators will soon be all installed on the third floor.

Shipment of ceramic tile for the obstetrical and operating room areas has been held up because of strikes in the Twin Cities, but arrival of this material is expected shortly. Installation of stainless steel kitchen equipment and refrigeration equipment will begin as soon as the sheet metal canopy for the cooking area is received and installed.

Large amounts of this kitchen equipment is being shipped in under the contract of the Aslesen Company of Minneapolis, and the new laundry equipment furnished by the American Laundry and Machinery Company is now being received.

Work in connection with the laying of the cement driveway to the south of the present hospital building will begin as soon as a change order is received from the architects.

All drapery materials contracted for by Mrs. Myrtle Ferber and Mrs. Elva Jude have been received, cutting of draperies has begun, and the Northwestern Hospital Women's auxiliary committee for this purpose will begin sewing draperies in the basement rooms of the Trinity Lutheran church next Tuesday, July 5th.

Two Necchi sewing machines have been given to the hospital by Curtis I. Anderson, owner of the Fix-It Shop, and these two machines will be used by the committee in preparing the drapes.

The architects' color scheme for all areas in the hospital, as well as tiling color schemes, were received sometime ago, and these schemes have been used in planning the selection of draperies and furniture.

Lions Hear about Fred Forsberg Co.

Manny Forsberg Speaks at Meeting Wednesday

Lions club members at their luncheon meeting last Wednesday noon in the Rex Cafe heard a talk by Manny Forsberg of Fred Forsberg & Sons, local manufacturers of seed-cleaning machinery.

Introduced by Clarence Mattson, program chairman, Forsberg briefly reviewed the company's operations here since its establishment more than 25 years ago.

PUBLIC OPINION

Speaking for my wife and myself I would like to express our appreciation for the honor bestowed upon us "old-timers" at the banquet June 18. It is just fifty years ago today, June 29, 1904, when I filed on the NW ¼ of Section 28 in Kratka township. Our thanks to every one who in any way had something to do with this anniversary party, and a grand success it was.

I want to say thank you too to the business men who provided us with a ride in the parade Sunday—and of course to all of you fine people along the way where the parade passed. After all, what good is such a fine parade without people to see it, and it was gratifying to us that so many of you lined the streets and honored the early settlers by your presence. Thank you all.

Improve Pasture by Clipping

Cows may be good harvesters, but they often fall down in the pasture management end of the business, as you probably notice. In many ways you can help with the management end by clipping pastures.

According to Rodney A. Briggs, extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota, clipping is one of the more important good management practices. Here's what it does:

First, clipping takes out old, tasteless seed heads and lets pastures grow new tasty, nourishing grass at a uniform rate. Second it checks many annual weeds, and prevents some biennials and perennials such as bull thistle and Canada thistle from producing seed.

Finally, it maintains a balanced stand of grasses and legumes and increases a pastures total production capacity.

But, Briggs warns, you cannot expect all the advantages of clipping by doing the job only once. The best pasture managers clip fields three or more times a year, he says.

If you are rotating the pasture, the best time to clip it, is within two days after the cattle finish grazing it, and are working on another in your rotation. Some farmers hook a chain harrow or similar rig to the rear of their mower so they clip the pasture and spread droppings in one operation.

Weather Favors Alfalfa Diseases

Heavy rains and humid weather have already stimulated some alfalfa diseases that may become real problems if weather continues.

The diseases are blackstem and common leaf spot. Blackstem causes a browning or blackening of stems. Common leaf spot causes small brown spots on leaves.

Both are favored by wet weather and both cause older leaves to turn yellow, wilt and drop off. Result is poor hay for your stock, and diseased leaves left on the field help develop another infection next year.

Ray Rose the University of Minnesota's extension plant pathologist, says best check against a possible 1955 infection is burning off older fields diseased stuble in early before young growth starts.

In fields where either disease seems to be making fast progress, farmers can help reduce damage by cutting the first hay crop earlier than normal. This keeps more leaves in the hay, and at the same time allows heating, drying sunshine, and air to reach the plant crowns.

If the disease can be checked by air circulation and warm sunshine, it won't get a chance to affect new, young shoots, Rose points out.

Margo Olson

Last week, we talked about equipment for outdoor cooking. This week, let us think about the food that we cook outdoors. Here are a few new ideas for picnic foods from nutritionists at the University of Minnesota.

Baked Potatoes

Place the prepared potatoes in a clean, empty No. 2½ can. Invert a clean empty 46-ounce (juice) can over the can containing the potaoes, and bake over coals until done, approximately 45-60 minutes.

Biscuit Twists

Prepare a recipe of baking powder bisquits dough. Pinch off a small portion and shape into a rope, about ¼"-½" in diameter. Wrap this rope of dough around the end of a stick in a spiral twist. Knead cracks together and backe over hot coals. The twists slip off the stick when baked.

Kabobs

Kabobs may be made by combining different meats, fruits and vegetables in various combinations. Here are two suggestions for kabob cooking:

Cubes of bacon with cubes of pineapple.

Place the foods alternately on sticks or skewers, pushing them down the skewer and leaving a little space between pieces. Steam quickly all over by holding close to coals, then cook slowly, a little way away from coals, turning until done.

Some-Mores

48 graham crackers

8 5-cent chocolate bars, the flat kind without nuts (break in thirds).

Make a sandwich of a piece of chocolate and 2 crackers. Toast a marshmallow to a golden brown. Put into the sandwich between the chocolate and cracker and press gently together. Eat. This tastes so good you want "some-more."

High Court Rules PKM Co-op. Must Pay P. P. Taxes

Co-op Ordered to Pay Personal Property Tax on Materials at Warren

In an important decision affecting the taxing of cooperatives, the Minnesota supreme court ruled Friday that the P. K. M. Electric Cooperative, Inc., must pay $8,600 to the state as personal property taxes on materials stored in the city of Warren.

The company distributes and furnishes electric heat, light and power to its members on a non-profit and cooperative plan, in rural areas within Polk, Kittson, and Marshall counties. It has its principal place of business at Warren, where it also maintains a warehouse.

Associate Justice Martin A. Nelson, who wrote the unanimous decision, agreed with the cooperative that it was the legislative intent to give relief to and encourage rural cooperative associations through enactment of membership tax commutation legislation, but added:

"It was also the legislative purpose and intent to avoid giving the cooperative associations an undue or unfair competitive advantage over their private competitors."

The state sought to enforce payment of alleged delinquent personal property taxes for the years 1948, 1949 and 1950, assessed against the taxpayer's personal property upon an ad valorem basis.

Judge Paul A. Lundgren, in Marshall county district court, made findings sustaining a tax of $3,836 for 1948. A motion for amended findings, or a new trial, or reopening of the decision for taking additional testimony was denied by the trial court. The cooperative's association appealed from the judgment entered for 1948 taxes. The amounts due for 1949 and 1950 are $2,941 and $1,831, respectively.

HAIL!!

Reports of hailstorms are coming in, and there has been at least two rather light storms right here in Pennington County. It would be a tragedy if the beautiful crops which are now looking so wonderful should be destroyed by Hail.

The only way to lessen the loss is Hail Insurance in a reliable company that is both willing and able to pay the losses fairly. The Minnesota Farmers Mutual has been in the Hail Insurance business 63 years and has paid every legitimate claim in full.

Our office is in the Pennington Hotel lobby and we will take care of all calls 508W.

SMILEY . . .

A marvelous way for everyone to celebrate the fourth of July would be to accept the invitation of the St. Pauli Ladies Aid to attend the "doings" they have so laboriously prepared for this Sunday at Valhall. The affair starts at noon with a big dinner featuring a chicken and meat ball dinner, plenty of vegetables both cooked and raw garden goodies and topped with home made pie. What more could you ask for the reasonable price they are charging. There will be eats served all day as well as ice cream and cold drinks. The women are really striving to assist in raising the needed "sheckels" to pay for the recent remodelling of the St. Pauli church. The activities for the afternoon include a program of musical numbers and Rev. Grorud of Oklee will be the guest speaker. A ball game between Smiley and Silver Creek will provide the added attractions. Everyone is positively welcome and it will be a nice and sane and a safe way to spend the fourth.

C. Lendobeja, second, in the funniest hat class and to Mrs. Rudolph Hanson for the most becoming hat. The women certainly provided clever ideas on hat making and proved to be good modelers at that. Sawyer Wins Annual Invitation Tourney, Defeating Evenson

In a spine-tingling finish to the sixth annual Thief River Falls Invitational golf tournament played here on Sunday afternoon, Pat Sawyer, in an extra-hole match, defeated Dick Evenson, to win the championship flight title.

Sawyer, in winning his third title, defeated Vint Berg in a first round match on Sunday morning, then eliminated Vint McDonald in a quarter-finals match, then defeating Gordy Peterson in the semi-finals. Evenson, who won medalist honors in the qualifying play on Saturday with a 36-37, defeated Crookston's Bill Sullivan in a first round match; and after beating Bill Weissner in a second round encounter, Evenson defeated Warren's Kenny Nelson in the semi-finals.

In the championship finals, Evenson won the 2nd hole with a par 4 while Sawyer carded a 5. Sawyer evened the match with a par 4 on the 3rd hole, and the match continued even until the 7th, which Evenson won with a par 4. Evenson held that 1-up margin until the 9th hole, when Sawyer marked up a birdie 4 to send the match into an extra hole.

On the 10th hole, Evenson's drive split the fairway while Sawyer's tee shot was pulled into the rough on the left. Evenson, with a fine wood shot, reached the green in two, with his ball stopping about twenty feet from the pin. Sawyer's second shot was to the right of the green, finding the rough about 40 yards from the cup. Taking a wedge, Sawyer hit the shot that finished the match, with his ball coming to rest against the pin for a birdie trey. Evenson tried for his long putt, but when the ball rolled past the pin Sawyer had won another tournament.

July 4th Schedule:

(Open Date)

The week's play in the Red River Valley baseball league was featured by the one-sided 16 to 4 win, that the East All-Stars handed the West All-Stars in a loosely-played exhibition game at Red Lake Falls on last Wednesday night. Jim Henkes of Red Lake Falls and Gene Leslie of Thief River Falls, both righthanders, shared the hurling duties for the East, and they held the West batters pretty well in check. Erratic defensive play by the West All-Stars contributed greatly to the lop-sided score rolled up by the East.

In Sunday's league schedule, the Thieves administered the first league loss to the league-leading Argyle club, beating Jim Hotten's club, 14 to 5, at Argyle.

Three homeruns, by Joey Poole, Swede Lund, and Shorty Perkins, were important factors in the Thieves' win, but twelve errors by the Argyle defense also aided the locals in posting their win.

Other league games on Sunday found Crookston edging out the Viking Oilers, 7 to 5, in a ten-inning tilt, and moving out of the league cellar. The Alvarado Farmers defeated the Red Lakes Falls Lakers, 10 to 6, at Red Lake Falls.

A Golf Shot

The golfing enthusiasts that formed the gallery following the Dick Evenson vs. Pat Sawyer championship finals match here on Sunday afternoon saw a spectacular finish to the tourney when Sawyer sank a wedge shot on the 10th hole for a birdie three and a 1-up win over Evenson. That wedge shot of Pat's will be long-remembered, and it will join such memorable golf shots as Paul Rooney's recovery shot from the bushes just off the number seven fairway, which "fired" Paul to a surprise win in the tournament here several years ago.

Evenson was the sentimental favorite to defeat Sawyer in the all-Minneapolis finals on Sunday, and as the two golfers drove off the 9th tee it appeared that Dick, holding a 1-up lead, would be the winner. But it was not to be. Dick scored a par five on the 9th hole, but the match was evened when Sawyer after finding the trap to the left of the green with his second shot, took his putter and rolled the ball to within twelve feet of the pin. Sawyer canned the put for a birdie, and the match was forced into an extra hole.

On the 10th hole, Evenson, playing fine golf, was on the green with two wood shots while Sawyer, playing the rough, was in the rough to the right of the pin, hole-high and thirty yards from the cup. Sawyer hit a perfect wedge shot, the ball landing on the green and coming to rest against the pin, giving Pat a birdie three. When Evenson failed to sink his twenty-foot putt, the match was over and Sawyer had won himself another tournament.

Fine Tournament

The Thief River Falls Invitational tourney is a fine "prestige" tournament and it's a benefit to the local course and the city in that it attracts some of the state's "name" golfers. It would be unfortunate if the tourney "folded" because of the indifference of the local golfers. The local club wasn't very well represented in the competition on Sunday.

Ron Castelane of Winnipeg, and well-known here, played in the championship flight. Ron did all right too, winning the championship flight consolation honors. Ron, who is rated as one of Winnipeg's better golfers, was a member of the senior hockey Thieves here a year ago. Ron was impressed by the local course and the tournament, and he promised that he would persuade several of Winnipeg's championship flight golfers to come down here next year. We hope Ron is a good salesman.

A Wide Open Race

Argyle is currently on top of the heap in the Red River Valley baseball league standings, but if they continue to exhibit the brand of ball they showed in losing, by a 14 to 5 score, to the Thieves on Sunday, it's doubtful if they will be in first place when the league schedule ends on August 1st.

Argyle possesses a fine catcher in young Louie Erickson, and in Gordy Olson they have a splendid all-round centerfield. Bill Beck is a first-rate shortstop, and a strong batsman, but Bill is only fair as a pitcher. Defensively, the Argyle infield isn't very reliable, and on Sunday they committed ten of the errors that were charged against the club.

The Thieves, when they get Al Williamson back into the lineup and when lefty Phil LeGault gets in shape for some pitching duties, will make a strong bid to retain the league championship they won last year. Red Lake Falls, with solid pitching in Jim Henkes, and a squad of young and strong ball players; and the Alvarado farmers, are two other clubs that will make Argyle's championship road a bit rough. And we shouldn't "sell" the Crookston Pirates and the Viking Oilers short, either. It's a well-balanced league.

Golf League Finish

The city's two golf leagues, the National and the American, will conclude their schedule this evening, and the league championships will be in doubt until the final putt has been dropped.

In last week's play, Russ Embury, taking advantage of a 54 shot by Doug Tegtmeier, picked up five points to four for Doug; and Wally DuChamp out-pointed Emil Larson, 5½ to 3½.

Baseball Tournament at Warroad

Eight teams—Sprague, Vassar, Emo, and St. Pierre from Canada, and Warroad, Argyle, Halstad, and Alvarado from Minnesota—will participate in a big tournament at Warroad on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, July 3rd, 4th, and 5th.

Just as a guess, we'll venture the opinion that the championship finals at 8:15 p. m. on Monday night will find the Warroad Lakers playing the Halstad Pirates for the first place money.

During the last fiscal year, in 17 percent of the year's disaster relief operations, 48 percent of the total families aided by the Red Cross were tornado victims.

Thieves Whip League Leading Argyle 14-5

In a wind-swept game at Argyle on Sunday afternoon, the Thieves, sparked by homerun blasts over the right-field fence by Joey Poole, in the 3rd inning, by Swede Lund, in the 4th inning, and Shorty Perkins, in the 6th inning, handed the league-leading Argyle team a convincing 14 to 5 defeat. The loss was the first in league play for the Argyle club, but they continue to hold the top rung in the standings, having a four wins and one loss record.

The Thieves, after an open date next Sunday, will play at Viking on Sunday, July 11th.

After three innings of play on Sunday, Argyle held a 5 to 4 lead over the locals, scoring lone runs in the 1st and 2nd innings, and pushing across three runs in the 3rd inning. In the 4th, four Argyle errors (Argyle committed twelve errors during the game) plus singles by Sid Vraa, Jack Hoppe, and Ralph Skjod, and with Lund lofting a homerun over the right field fence, gave the Thieves four runs.

Righthander Gene Leslie pitched shutout ball the last six innings of the game limiting Argyle to but four hits during that span.

A homerun by Perkins added a run for the Thieves in the 6th; and in the 8th inning, three hits, a sacrifice, a walk, and an error, added four runs to the locals' total. In the 9th, off Dan Gonsorowski, the Thieves added their final tally, with Perkins getting a single, moving to second on an error, advancing to third base on another error, and scoring on Dick Edlund's infield out.

Perkins proved to the "seige gun" in the Thieves' attack on righthanders Bill Beck and Gonsorowski, having "four for five", including a triple and a homerun.

The Times publishes herewith Roger W. Babson's "Forecast for the Second Half of 1954." A careful checking of the Babson predictions made in the Business and Financial Outlook for 1953 upholds the remarkable average of the past years by being 84% correct.

By Roger W. Babson

Babson Park, Mass., June 24. While most of the columnists and business counselors last December forecast a depression for 1954, I constantly insisted that 1954 would be a "fair business year." This you will find in my Forecast which then appeared in this paper.

General Business

(1) Despite my general optimism with regard to prospects for business during the last half-year, there will be many crosscurrents. The improvement over the first six months will be no one-way street. Some industries will lag, or fall behind. Others are slated for betterment. Building has held up well, and was the backbone of business in the first half of 1954. The momentum generated should carry through the balance of the year.

(2) Also deserving of attention as in line for continued high activity, or for improvement, are the following industries: Electric power output, aircraft production, rubber manufacturing, household equipment, electrical equipment, petroleum, natural gas, shoes, and textiles. Even the sick coal industry will enjoy some pickup from the very depressed levels experienced during the first six months of 1954.

(3) Due to slip further down, or slated to show the least improvement, are the following industries: Machinery, machine tools, railroad equipment, metal fabricating, steel and iron, and autos and auto parts. In particular, auto output will not match the first half, with competition keener in the last half than at any time since the 1930's.

Sales and Inventories

(4) As in the case of general business discussed above, sales prospects will rule selective. With purchasing power holding well, demand for food products and soft goods will remain at a brisk pace. The public, however, have learned something about watching their pennies. They have become more price-conscious. For this reason, I predict that the mass distributors, such as the grocery and variety chains, will run ahead of the others saleswise, during the last half-year.

(5) Retail sales in general, although about 4% lower dollarwise, have held up during the first half in terms of physical volume as discounts and other concessions reduced the actual receipts. This is encouraging since it shows that consumers are still willing to spend if the price is reasonable. In terms of units, retail sales will hold up through 1954. Inventories will constantly be reduced during 1954. The retailers who do best in 1954 will be those with the best parking facilities for their customers.

Political Outlook

(6) I forecast that the more liberal attitude on the part of the Eisenhower Administration will surely continue through November and perhaps until the 1956 elections. During the past six months rumors have been spreading to the effect that President Eisenhower will not run again; but there is no agreement at this writing by either party as to who the next candidates will be.

(7) The President has won his conflict with Senator Bricker; the House approved his Tax Bill; the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill has been shelved, to the relief of all; and he has so far kept out of the McCarthy-Army row. I forecast that for the balance of the year he will leave domestic affairs to his associates and devote most of his time to helping Mr. Dulles ward off trouble with Russia and China, and avoid another "Korea."

(8) During the first six months of the year a "New Look" has developed in connection with defense expenditures. Appropriations for foot soldiers and certain classes of airplanes have been cut in favor of items for atomic warfare and guided missiles. Best authorities agree that we will get more protection and fighting strength from this change with less cost. As a promise "to get our boys out of Korea" was a great factor in electing Dwight Eisenhower as President, he naturally will hesitate to send U. S. foot soldiers into Indo-China, at least before the coming November elections.

War and Peace

(9) There will be no World War in 1954 started by Russia or the U. S. A. In the last half of 1954, however, the United States will move closer and closer to the position occupied by Great Britain during the 19th Century. The United States will prepare to engage in small wars anywhere in order to prevent outbreak of a world conflagration.

(10) I predict that the United States in the last six months of 1954 may by-pass the United Nations and try to form a "defensive" league of nations interested in Southeast Asia. The purpose: To keep the rice, tin, and rubber of that area from falling into Communist hands. Most of the arms and military know-how needed by such an alliance of anti-Communist nations in the Far East will be furnished by Uncle Sam. This means that cuts in arms expenditures, already scheduled for the last half of 1954 by the Administration, may not be put into effect. The Korean situation will remain about as is—"much talkie, no shootie"; but Indo-China will constantly become a greater threat.

(11) Do not forget Europe and the Middle East. France is torn by internal dissention and a blow-off could come there any time. West Germany is growing more impatient with French bickering over the Saar and over the formation of a Western European army including German participation. Russia will strive mightily to widen the split between France and Western Germany by holding out the "bait" of reunion between East and West Germany.

(12) Friction between the Jews and the Arabs in the Middle East is being encouraged by Communist agents. The smouldering fires there could break into flame at any time, requiring a hurry-up call for Uncle Sam's fire department.

Stock Market Outlook

(13) Of course, some day the market (especially the Dow-Jones Industrials) will get a bad wallop with very much lower prices. On the other hand, this may not come during the next few months. Up to this time the high yields of stocks have not appealed so much to investors, owing to the personal tax on both dividends and on income in general. Although stock yields compared with those of twenty years ago are higher if personal taxes are not considered, yet when these personal taxes are deducted, today's yields have not been attractive.

(14) The new Tax Bill and the increased buying for pension funds and investment trusts have, however, increased the demand for common stocks and could hold the market up for some months to come. I forecast that it will be very important to make careful selections of stocks. Don't buy stocks just because they have gone off heavily in price and appear cheap.

(15) Unfortunately, many small concerns will find it more and more difficult to compete with their big competitors. Not only can these big corporations make goods cheaper and have better means of distribution, but they can spend huge sums on advertising, which a smaller concern cannot do. This will be especially evident during the next six months. The companies which will prosper most are those which have inaugurated effective labor-saving programs. Manufacturers will win only as they purchase new labor-saving machinery, spend more money on research and on well-directed advertising.

(16) Automobiles will continue to be hard to sell and easier to buy during the last half of 1954. Both the automobile stocks and the cars will be in less demand. There will be more bargains in used cars, discounts on new cars, especially cars of the "independent" manufacturers.

(17) Canada will continue to boom during the second half of 1954, but this may be a good time to take profits on Canadian investments.

Money, and Interest Rates

(18) When Mr. Eisenhower assumed the Presidency with his Cabinet of "9 millionaires," they proclaimed a new monetary policy which would increase the value of the dollar and raise interest rates. Either fortunately or unfortunately, the economic situation caused a reversal of this policy. The value of the dollar shows no increase over January 1st and this has been hailed by Wall Street as a sign of further inflation. Wall Street has boomed certain common stocks accordingly. Interest rates during the second six months of 1954 should average about as at present.

(19) The fear of involvement in Indo-China is strengthening the commodity markets. This takes some of the pressure off of Secretary Benson and those who have been resisting increased tariffs. I forecast an upward movement in many commodity prices—other than farm prices—during the balance of 1954.

(20) Money supplies are on the rise again now. They will continue to expand during the last half. Inflationary effects on the price level will be limited as our capacity to produce is now large. Remember, the surest way to squelch an inflationary fire is with a flood of goods. Inflationary effects of the expanded money supply could also be nullified by the change in the Government's method of collecting the corporate income tax. The new tax law may put the large corporations on a pay-as-you-go basis, squeezing their cash holdings.

(21) Any psychological inflationary flare-ups that take place as a result of war scares, big or little, will not be long-lived. They will definitely be dangerous to follow up. A word of warning: Don't get drawn into any speculative moves in commodities or stocks based on the outbreak of a small war. If the need arises, our Government will move with lightning swiftness to put controls into effect. They are already "triggered." The only real danger of any federal tax increases will come with the outbreak of another war.

Labor, Building, Real Estate

(22) As to unemployment, I will say that this has increased some over the last year, but if considered on a per-capita basis, it is even less than that of five years ago. Look for a moderate reduction in the ranks of the unemployed during the last six months of 1954.

(23) The improvement which I expect in employment should not, however, be sufficient to make union leaders careless. Jobs will still be very much in demand. This should mean that the last half will see no prolonged strikes.

(24) Most union-management settlements will be made with a moderate amount of give and take. Any wage advances will be limited to the neighborhood of a reasonable hourly figure, plus some additional fringe benefits. The Administration and the Labor Leaders will not try to revamp the Taft-Hartley Bill during the last six months of 1954.

(25) My forecast as to the various classes of real estate is as follows:

(b) Small farms on the fringes of big city suburbs should hold or rise in price as people get futher away from city centers. This move could become an avalanche in the event of really serious war scares.

(c) I look for vacant land in the suburbs to hold its value well. In the big cities it may be another story, unless the land is suitable for parking purposes.

(d) Business properties in the big cities may ease somewhat in price during the last six months of this year. Suburban business properties can be expected to hold up. Demand for more shopping centers will be noticeable during the months to come.

(e) Home property (especially the older houses, particulary in the cities) will continue sagging in price. In the suburbs, the bigger houses, even of recent vintage, will be harder to sell. Most salable home properties will be the newer houses in the middle and lower-price brackets with emphasis on the "ranch-houses" so called.

(f) In the last half-year, construction will still be a powerful support to our economy as it has been for so long. Seasonally, building will hold well, strengthened by continued liberal credit terms. Some boost to building could come in the second half if civilian defense moves create a "dispersal scare." If this happens, look for a rush by many factories to move operations into areas far from bomb-vulnerable cities.

CONCLUSION: I cannot end this forecast without reminding readers that we are living in a truly New Era, comparable only with the year 1 A. D., 1954 years ago, or the invention of printing 500 years ago. The H-Bomb, in the hands of any ambitious dictator, could bring about unparalleled conditions. These changes could make the things, about which I have written above, of little value or consequence. Only a great spiritual awakening can save us.

What is reportedly the world's largest and most powerful underground locomotive is in operation at a bituminous coal mine near Pittsburgh. With a rated drawbar pull of 25,000 pounds, the electrified haulage giant can pull 1,600 tons, or approximately 110 loaded mine cars on a level track.

WORTH TRYING

A federal marketing order, effective this week, puts the Twin Cities into the class of other large metropolitan areas of the country in which concentrated milk cannot be sold at a price lower than the market price for regular fluid milk. As such a product is not now being offered for sale in the Twin Cities market the order will have no bearing on present marketing practices.

This order, however, does bring to our area an example of one way in which the lower-cost milk produced here is excluded from markets where milk prices are maintained at a level so high that consumption is reduced.

Maybe it is a good thing the federal regulation is being extended to our own back yard. This might be a good place in which to test the validity of an order that some leaders of the industry believe discriminates against a food product that measures up to all federal standards of purity.

NOT A COMPLETE FAILURE

The Geneva conference did not accomplish its objective but possibly it will not be written off as a total failure.

Members of the western powers went into that conference divided. There is reason to believe that as a result of the fruitless efforts to come to an understanding with the Reds the western powers are now in substantial agreement again. They agree again, for instance, that they are dealing with a power that is not trustworthy and for which might is the only right.

It is clear that the only hope for a reasonable settlement with the Reds is in the united power of the western world. To whatever extent the Geneva conference resulted in greater unity among these powers it served a useful purpose.

MORE PRODUCTION CONTROL

Wheat acreage for 1955 would be drastically reduced under the provisions of a plan offered by secretary of agriculture Ezra Benson and which will be submitted to wheat growers for approval at an election to be held July 23. If at that election it is approved by two-thirds of the voters then next year's acreage will be cut from the present 63 million acres to 55 millions.

Because much of next year's wheat will be planted this fall the wheat acreage election is being held early. Later in the season acreage limits will be submitted for corn, cotton, peanuts and tobacco. All of these proposals will call for a cross-compliance agreement that will prohibit the growing of these restricted crops on diverted acres.

Production controls seem to be essential to orderly marketing and the maintenance of a fair price structure. It is a price we apparently must pay if we are to enjoy protection against a disastrous breakdown.

BETTER WEATHER REPORTS

Our weather reports and forecasts originate in the Chicago regional weather bureau office. The Twin Cities station makes adjustments for local conditions and distributes its conclusions through commercial news agencies. Now some changes are to be made that are expected to improve this service.

Starting tomorrow Minnesota will be zoned for weather forecasting purposes and northwestern Minnesota will be zone No. 1 of a four-zone pattern. Twice a day, at about 5:30 o'clock in the morning and 5:00 o'clock each afternoon, there will be a general report and forecast on weather thruout the state by zones. Special bulletins will call attention to unusual developments. It is hoped that this zone forecasting will lead to the development of a major forecasting center in the Twin Cities.

A good weather reporting service can be justified from many angles and while the service we have been getting has been generally good it still leaves much to be desired. One of its shortcomings is its generalization, and if a more localized service will reduce the frequency of alarms about storms that miss us by several hundred miles we will be very happy.

TRAFFIC IS INTERSTATE

A highway transportation congress, meeting in Washington recently, adopted resolutions favoring uniform traffic regulations in all states as one means of reducing highway accidents. Uniform speed limits and direction signs and signals would no doubt be helpful in solving a problem that is not limited by state borders.

Action by states on such matters is discouragingly slow however. If we are to wait for the various states to act on these proposals our youngsters will not live long enough to see even reasonable uniformity as an accomplished fact. It really is an interstate problem and we can see no good reason why the federal government should not take steps to bring about a gradual compliance. As long as it is good let's get it in the way we can get it the fastest.

ALASKA A GOOD BUY

Back in 1867 our country bought Alaska from the Russians at a purchase price of 7.2 million dollars. A couple of weeks ago a new industry started operation there — a pulp mill that cost 50 million dollars and that will produce an estimated 100,000 tons of pulp a year, perpetually.

There was considerable criticism at the time the purchase was made. It was a shameful waste of money. Then with the gold rush days came the realization that it had some value. Now that is has come into its own industrially we all know that it was a good buy.

But even without its gold and fisheries and pulp, we are fortunate that Alaska is not now a Russian possession and an Asiatic colony.

MOST FOREIGN-BORN CAME FROM SWEDEN

For the past century Germany and Norway have been among the top three countries represented in Minnesota's foreign-born population, and for 80 years Sweden has completed the leading trio; Ireland was second in 1860, third in 1870. Germany led the roster of foreign-born the first 50 years. Sweden led the next five censuses; Norway was seven times second in Minnesota immigration, three times third. The over-all figure for Swedish born residents, perhaps including many duplications from one census to the next, is 725,777, Germany 680,171, Norway 655,313. Percentage of foreign-born in Minnesota slid from 35% in 1860 to less than 10% in 1950, while the "born in Minnesota" ration rose from 20% to a little more than 70%.

CUSTOM NOTE: Twin-Turbine Dynaflow and Safety Power Steering are standard equipment on every Buick ROADMASTER at no extra cost.

It makes you feel like the man you are

YOU must know, of course, that a fine car is more than merely a means of fine travel.

It is, as the psychologists tell us, an extension of a man's own personality.

It reflects what you feel, what you like, what you are.

So we ask you to take the wheel of a Buick ROADMASTER like the one shown here—for it is, we have found, the automobile chosen more and more by those who are definitely moving ahead in the world.

You will find it a car that fairly breathes success.

From its size and its breadth and the magnificent modernity of its styling, you know it is a car of custom stature —and so does the watching world.

You will find it, too, a car of luxurious obedience.

From the moment you ease your foot down on the pedal, you take immediate mastery of the road and of distance.

And you know it—in the silken whip of Twin-Turbine Dynaflow, the might of Buick's greatest horsepower, the magic cushioning of coil springs on all four wheels, the exhilarating ease of Buick Safety Power Steering at your hand.

For—though it is, and looks, custom production—it sells for the lowest price-per-pound in the fine-car field. And so wise an investment makes you feel even more like the man you are.

Drop in, or phone us this week, and we'll gladly arrange a demonstration.

BUICK SALES ARE SOARING!

Latest figures for the first four months of 1954 show Buick now outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three." Better look into Buick if you want the beauty and the buy of the year.

they like 'em ROUND

Watch your cattle eat round baled hay, packaged exclusively by ROTO-BALER. You can tell immediately how well they like the better quality, cured in round bales.

And it costs less to bale, too. It's wrapped with inexpensive binder twine — field travel is reduced by picking up big double windrows. Get ready now. Hay time will soon be here.

HAYING AINT WHAT IT USED TO BE . . .

Some readers will remember when hay makers went forth armed with sickle and rake, plus a pocket hone. At a recent Hay Day sponsored by University Institute of Agriculture more than 90 modern haying implements were demonstrated, plus some 50 tractors to furnish the power. Featured among newcomers to the hayfield were a tractor-mounted forage harvester and a mower-crusher. Choppers, loaders, balers, crushers were also there, with side-delivery rakes, semi-automatic unloaders, automatic-pickup balers, artificial driers. Sounds like they've taken the labor and the fun out of haying.

THE INDIANS NAMED 'EM

Gopher Historian, Minnesota Historical Society publication for Minnesota school pupils, analyzes the Indian names among the state's 87 counties. Anoka means in the Sioux tongue "on both sides" because the town of Anoka straddles the Rum river; Chippewa, of course, was named for the Indian tribe; Chisago is a combination of the two Chippewa words "kichi" meaning big and "sago" meaning beautiful—hence "Beautiful big county." Crow Wing, properly translated by the early French, would have been Raven Feather county; Dakota and Isanti are for Indian tribes; Kanabec means snake, and Kandiyohi is "where the buffalo fish come." Koochiching is the Chippewa name for Rainy River, Mahnomen for wild rice, Wabasha for a line of Sioux chiefs, Winona for a cousin of one of these chiefs. Wadena was to the Indians a "little round hill," and Yellow Medicine was named for the bitter yellow root of the moonseed plant.

Dairy Industry Gets Help from Publicity During Past Month

The observance of June Dairy Month this year set new records in the public's awareness of this important industry, reports Myron W. Clark, state commissioner of agriculture and Minnesota chairman of the annual tribute to dairymen.

Under Clark's leadership, June Dairy Month committeemen were organized in each of Minnesota's 87 counties.

"It's largely due to the committeemen's work that Minnesotans are now more conscious of the important role dairying plays in our state," Clark said.

Clark also cited the aid received from newspapers and other media in Minnesota in calling attention to dairy month. He said dairymen greatly appreciated the assistance state editors gave in publicizing the observance.

Much of the increased public interest in dairying was caused by special events such as community-sponsored dairy days, Clark said. This year, 21 Minnesota cities are holding celebrations of this nature.

Some festivals were limited to a single city but most of them as Northwest Dairy Day here, were regional events with as many as 14 counties participating.

To add a touch of glamour to the industry, the Minnesota Daidy Industry Committee—state unit of the American Dairy Association—sponsored a dairy princess contest. Cities and counties set candidates to the regional finals which were made part of the appropriate dairy day program in their area.

A champion Holstein, Dingley Dell Inka Ruby, owned by Hugo Albrecht of New Ulm, was selected as the state dairy mascot. Clark said a Holstein was chosen this year because the bulk of the state's 1.5 million cow population are of that breed. Other breeds will be used in subsequent years.

Clark praised the cooperation the dairy industry received from other businesses.

"Particularly helpful were the restaurants and food markets that featured dairy products," the state official said.

Clark said it was too early to quote definite figures but indications were that the consumption of dairy products in Minnesota showed a "healthy gain" during June.

Ceiling Urged on State Trust Funds

Recommended by State "Little Hoover" Group

New attention is being directed at the possibility of urging a ceiling be placed on the amount of money to be allowed to accumulate in Minnesota's trust funds.

The Minnesota Taxpayers association reported this week that a spokesman for the Rochester branch of the League of Women Voters testified that the non-partisan organization is studying the problem. The league has taken no stand on the issue but is sifting arguments on it, the Minnesota Tax Study commission was told at a regional hearing at Rochester.

The proposal has been made unofficially in several of the recent sessions of the legislature as a result of the fiscal "pinch" for general operating funds at the same time that the trust funds showed big surpluses that could not be used for the purpose for which they originally were ear-marked.

The question undoubtedly will come up again in the 1955 legislature, according to James P. McDonnell, president of the Minnesota Taxpayers association. Growing farm resentment against high personal property taxes, which include a small levy for state purposes this biennium, has sharpened interest in placing a ceiling on the funds, he said.

"... the availability of funds which cannot be used for any other purpose, no matter how great the need, encourages unsound spending for ime dedicated purposes and results in 'feast and famine' spending."

The "Little Hoover" commission recommended that the legislature "take steps necessary to discontinue the present dedication of funds to prevent further dedication of funds."

Water Activities Mark Aquatennial

Offered July 17-18 on Lake Calhoun, Minneapolis

Biggest splash of the Aquatennial this summer, July 16 through 25, will be the 10 lake activity events at Lake Calhoun in Minneapolis on July 17 and 18. The itinerary of events from the parade of obedience dogs to the celebration's climax, the gigantic fire works display on Sunday evening, promises fun for everyone.

The week-end will be filled with summer sports and play activities beginning at 9 a. m. and continuing until 9:30 p. m. each day. The Red Cross water safety show, the canoe ballet and performances by the Aqua Jesters will be numbered among the festivities. Many competing events will be held also including outboard motor races, the fishing derby and the yachting regatta.

Unique feature of the program will be an authentic display of Indian life at the Scout Indian Village. Indian teepees, scouts dressed as braves or chiefs and realistic Indian powwows around around the campfire will entertain visitors.

As the blue and white of the Aquatennial banner flies over Lake Calhoun, July 17 and 18 promises to be one of the most festive weekends of the summer pointing toward the theme, Minnesota, summer playground of the nation.

George J. Gibeau Quits as Red Lake County Engineer

At the last meeting of the Red Lake county board, George J. Gibeau, county highway engineer, presented his resignation effective July 15. Mr. Gibeau resigns in order to return to Minneapolis, where the family lived for some years while he was employed by the Minnesota state highway department.

He has been Red Lake county engineer since he was appointed in 1948 to succeed Clarence W. Turnell who resigned to become county highway engineer of Wright county.

Safety Leader Cites July 4 Holiday Toll

The average price paid by Minnesota for the privilege of observing the 4th of July during the past five years has been more than 10 lives lost in traffic mishaps, according to A. V. Rohweder, president of the Minnesota Safety Council. He cited these figures as the state readies itself for the long, four-day holiday week end which will see the roads throughout the state crowded with vehicles. The National Safety Council has predicted that a record-breaking 40 million vehicles will take to the open road during the week end.

"How many people will lose their lives in our state this coming holiday week end," said Rohweder, "depends entirely upon how much each individual motorist operates his car. If every driver will remember and observe the following simple suggestions, we can really have reason to celebrate because not a single life should be sacrificed during this holiday week end."

1. Be sure your car is in safe operating condition before you start your trip. If you're not sure, have it checked by a competent mechanic.

2. Start your trip in plenty of time to reach your destination without having to take unnecessary chances in abnormally heavy traffic.

3. Reduce your average driving speed by at least 10 miles an hour. You'll find that you will be able to drive with greater ease and be required to make fewer sudden stops.

4. Don't try to set a new endurance driving record for the week end. Stop when you feel tired or drowsy. The trip will be of little value to you or your family if it ends up in an accident which you could have avoided if you'd been alert and wide awake.

5. Make up your mind that you'll probably become involved in a slow-moving line of cars coming home. Don't try to fight it—resign yourself to driving at the average speed and you'll get home safely. Above all, don't try to pass a long string of cars—your attempt may end up in tragedy.

6. Observe all highway signs. They are your "signs of life" and are designed to make your travelling safe.

The coal char process involves the crushing of coal which in turn is fed continuously into a carbonization chamber in which heat temperatures are considerably less than coke ovens. After gases and tars are drawn off for use as coal chemicals, the char is removed and is used as boiler fuel for heating.

MUCH TO MINING BESIDES DIGGING

Between the ore veins on the range and the lake ore boats ready for the eastern steel mills, thousands of employees of Oliver Iron Mining Co. work at 450 different jobs, some of which involve only one person, many others of which require hundreds. Since there is only one old fashioned steam shovel in the whole vast array, Frank Tekautz at Soudan is the only shovel-craner left — sitting high above the earth under a steel umbrella . . . Bill Cummens is the Company's sole observer of water resources both above and below ground, and Ben Carlson, Virginia, is their only diamond setter-fitting cutting diamonds into rock drills. Shovel runners, timber men, locomotive engineers, truck drivers are among the host of other jobs between ore and steel.

Alone in a Sea of Sand

Do you ever feel alone? Does the vastness of the universe and the smallness of yourself threaten to overcome you?

In the Church you will find you are not alone. Here you will find others who share similar experiences, and working together, you will discover that fear need have no part in your life.

Make yourself a part of this great family. Look around you in God's world and realize that He is ever present, always ready to give strength and comfort. Through the Church you will learn to draw ever closer to God and His strength will protect you.

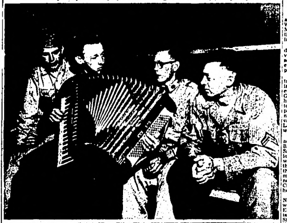
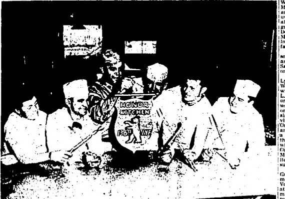
Company F Enjoys Training at Camp Ripley





Camp Ripley, Minn.—There's a lot more to soldiering than rifles and ammunition and marching and guard duty. There's recreation and eating and "spit and polish". That's what men from Co. F, 136th Inf. Regt., Minnesota National Guard, the Thief River Falls outfit, found during their stay at Camp Ripley during the annual 15-day field training exercise, which ended Sunday. Off duty recreation isnt difficult to manage if there is someone along who has a musical instrument. Four men and an accordion in a tent make a rainy night pass quickly. Shown in the top picture listening to Pfc. Bob Swanson squeeze out the music are (from left) Pvt. Gary Carlson; Cpl. Orlando Uggerud, and Bob's brother Nick Swanson.

There must be good eatin' in the outfit. Notice in the lower picture that "Honor Kitchen" award for the 136th Inf. That was the second time Co. F mess personnel won the award during the first week. Making with the crossed forks and spoons are (from left) Cpl. Dennis Bushaw, Pvt. Harlan Hallstrom, SFC Donald Meyers, Sgt. Maurice Russell and Pfc. Jack Tuff; while SFC Elton Cummings holds the plaque.

GET CAR READY NOW FOR JULY 4TH TRIP

Now is the time to start planning your 4th of July weekend trip, advises the Minnesota Safety Council. Although the big weekend is still a week away, it's not too early to make certain that the "old bus" is in shape for a safe, care-free trip. Take it to your favorite garage or service station and have it checked for adequate brakes, lights and tires. Have the windshield wipers checked and replaced if they are not in first class condition. Have any other repairs or adjustments made which are needed to put your car in the best condition possible, and when the big weekend rolls around you'll be able to take your family on an enjoyable trip, knowing that the only other thing necessary to make it a good trip is safe driving on your part.

50 [illegible] AGO

Editor's Note: The "Fifty Years Ago" column this week is lifted from a booklet published in about 1906 on Thief River Falls and the Surrounding Territory. It was made up of contributions by several citizens of the community of that time, including the history written by Ira C. Richardson. Mr. Richardson settled here in 1892 and was active in city affairs over a period of many years.

The Early History of Thief River Falls

(By Ira C. Richardson)

The site of the City of Thief River Falls was perfectly formed by nature for a large city. Excluding the depression in the surface made by the Red Lake River, there is not a natural elevation or depression of more than eight feet in the entire surface of the city; and the natural drainage is nearly perfect. The city lies on both sides of the Red Lake River immediately below its confluence with the Thief River; and, with the exception of a large steam saw mill, a meat market and a confectionary store, all business buildings are on the right, or west bank of the river.

A section of land popularly known as the "Chief's Section," slightly irregular in outline, bounded on the east by the Thief River about half the way and the other half by the Red Lake River just below the point where the two meet, was selected by the Indian Chief Moose Dung in 1863 and granted to him by the U. S. as pay for the part he took in perfecting arrangements for a treaty with the Indians by which they ceeded a large piece of their territory to the United Sates.

The fact that an Indian Chief picked out this particular section of land when he had more than a thousand to choose from, is good evidence to show that the place was one of strategic importance.

It was there that the Sioux of Dakota and the Chippewas of Minnesota joined in their great Sun Dance each year, and recounted their experiences and deeds of valor and by tradition perpetuated their history.

While the Indians are not a literary people, no one will deny that they knew their hunting grounds and the places where their people met most easily. The history of the United States shows that many of its great cities have been built where Indians were out to congregate.

The land upon which Thief River Falls stands was first surveyed in 1879.

In 1880, Frank Russell, who had married in Dakota, a Cree Squaw, came here and camped near the junction of the two rivers on the reservation. He was driven off by the Chippewas, when he located as a squatter, and built a log house in a grove at the west end of the iron bridge, but the following year he sold his improvements to John Baptiste La Bree for a white cow, a light wagon, $60 in cash and the promise of two lots when the ground should be platted. Mr. La Bree made final proof and on Nov. 17, 1882, deeded the farm to Carl Kretzschmar who had it platted and the plat recorded August 21, 1883. Mr. Kretzschmar was born in Germany and as a cook catered to the taste of the renowned Bismarck. He was one of the earliest settlers at Fergus Falls, Crookston and Red Lake Falls, Minn., was a townsite proprietor at Crookston and Red Lake Falls, and always an energetic worker and a generous giver for the promotion of the interests of the town where he lived. He was a builder to the extent of his means and always had the most perfect confidence in the future of Thief River Falls. He was the first president of the village and later was mayor of the city.

Shortly after filing the plat of Thief River Falls, Mr. Kretzschmar conveyed an interest in the property to Sarah La Bree, wife of John Baptiste La Bree, and the La Bree family continued to live on the land for many years. Mr. La Bree was a typical pioneer. He was a man of the western plains in his younger days, and was the first marshal of Crookston, Minnesota; and courageous enough to maintain civilization up to the line of an Indian Reservation. He was rough in speech and dress; but he was kind hearted and generous towards his white brethren. For some years he kept a trading post here where the Indians exchanged their furs and snake root for merchandise. He erected a very large log house that was open to all comers, and there are many people to testify to the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. La Bree. They reared a family of twelve children and their son Jonas was probably the first white child born where Thief River Falls stands.

On Nov. 15th, 1881, George Maxfield filed on the NE. ¼, SW. ¼ and Lots 2, 3 and 4 of Section 33 Twpt. 154 N. of R. 43 W., containing 155.75 acres. But his claim was contested by William G. Porter in 1883, and a bitter struggle followed for two and a half years; gun powder was poured down Porter's stove pipe and his stove blown to atoms and his brother Christopher so badly injured that he carries the mark to this day; and other desperate means were used to drive Porter away; but he was perfectly fearless, and, in November 1886, was permitted to enter the land. In July 1888, he platted lots two and three of this claim as Porter's Addition to Thief River Falls, and all the business part and most of the residence portion of the city on the west side of the river to-day are upon the La Bree and Porter claims.

Mr. Porter was born in Ohio and came to Minnesota when a boy. He came to Red Lake Falls, Minn., in 1880 as a laboring man. He was strictly honest and generous and had a host of friends who cheered him in latter years of his life when he was bravely and cheerfully combating a stomach trouble that cut him down in 1900.

In 1882, James Warner filed a pre-emption on some government lots in sections 33 and 34 just across the Red Lake River from the La Bree claim and in 1888 sold to Wiley Tindolph who soon after platted the land and called it Red Lake Rapids.

Dennis Connely settled on land in said section 34 in 1883 and afterwards platted Connely's first, second and third additions. In Red Lake Rapids, Knox's addition and Connely's addition a population of over 1500 people have their homes; and altogether that part of the city is indeed a very pretty residence portion; commonly it is called "The East Side." Mr. Connely came from Canada directly to this place and owns a farm of 320 acres adjoining the city that is one of the finest farms in the county. Mr. and Mrs. Connely have always taken a prominent part in church matters and have reared a family of six children. Mrs. Connely was clerk of the school district and Mr. Connely held different town offices in the early days; but both are better known for their generous hospitality than on account of any official acts.

Messrs. C. Anderson and John Hemmingsen also took claims in section 33, which completes the roll of the early settlers upon the present town site. The former early disposed of his claim, while the latter lived to rear a large family on his. He was a large hearted, public spirited man, freely contributing of his means to every enterprise for the public weal.

Patrol Steps up War on Violators to Cut Accidents

Two major changes in the operational policy of the state highway patrol, to expand and intensify its enforcement activities as a weapon against Minnesota's increasingly serious traffic problem, were announced today by Earl M. Larimer, newly appointed highway safety director and former chief of the patrol. The appointment of Larimer, effective July 1, was announced last Friday by Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann and concurred in by Governor C. Elmer Anderson.

After conferences with Governor Anderson and Commissioner Hoffmann, Mr. Larimer disclosed that the highway patrol is:

Placing a number of patrolmen in plain cars, with no distinguishing external markings, insignia, lights or radio aerials, to "crack down" on motorists who willfully violate the traffic laws when they think that no enforcement officer is in sight.

Putting into service some 40 additional patrol cars to be operated day and night by single patrolmen, at times and locations which previously have had to be covered by two-man teams.

Both measures will be in effect over the July Fourth holiday weekend—and from then on!

The two measures, Director Larimer said, will tremendously increase the law enforcement coverage of the existing patrol personnel. They mark a determination to redouble the organization's efforts to "bear down hard" on the 10 or 15 per cent of the motorists who wilfully disregard traffic regulations and common sense driving rules and constitute a constant hazard to the other 85 or 90 per cent of the motorists on the highways.

Patrolmen taking to the roads in the plain, unmarked cars will be shifted over night, or at any hour of the day, from one area to another whenever special enforcement problems arise or a high frequency of either accidents or law violations occurs.

The splitting up of two-man patrol teams, in order to place many more Patrol cars on the highways, has been made practicable by the completion of the new statewide two-way radio network. Prior to the installation of the net work it was considered impractical and dangerous under many situations for a highway patrolman to work alone, particularly at night. But with the new radio facilities now available an officer in a one-man car who encounters a particularly dangerous or threatening situation can radio to his nearest headquarters station and to other Patrol cars working in the area, and within a short time be assured of whatever help is necessary.

Loses Life Early Monday When Car Tips over in Ditch and Catches Fire

Tragedy struck in eastern Pennington county early Monday morning when Elner O. Eliason, 44, of Star township met a fiery death after the car in which he was driving alone to his home rolled over on its side in the ditch along a country road and caught fire.

The body of Eliason was burned beyond recognition, and it was only by process of elimination that Sheriff Arthur Rambeck, who investigated the circumstances, was able to establish the death victim's identity.

The fatal accident occurred in Reiner township 25 miles east of Thief River Falls on Highway 1 and one-quarter mile north. It was learned that Eliason had been in Goodridge Sunday evening with his brother Edward and a sister and brother-in-law from Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Omlid. They had returned later in the evening to the home of his brother and mother, Mrs. Carrie Eliason.

Elner left his mother's place shortly before 1 a. m. to return to his home, altho when the car ran into the ditch, it was not on the direct route to his home. The road alongside which the car caught fire is not heavily traveled, and it was not until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon that the charred body was discovered by Harry Sigerud of that vicinity.

Sheriff Rambeck surmised that gasoline leaking from the car's tank, instead of sinking into the ground, had remained on the surface of water in the ditch, and hence had burned for a considerable period when it ignited. The interior of the car was completely destroyed.

Funeral rites for Elner Eliason will be conducted Friday, July 9, at 2 p. m. from the Highlanding Lutheran church, with Rev. Raymond Brandt officiating. Interment will be in the Highlanding cemetery.

Eliason was born in Pennington county May 12, 1910, and was married to Miss Tillie Kotrba in Thief River Falls September 20, 1933. They lived on a farm near Highlanding for seven years and near Erie the past 12 years. Surviving his death are his wife, three daughters, Arlene, Shirley and Sharon; and three sons, Richard, Carrol and Harvey.

Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. Carrie Eliason, two brothers, Edward of Goodridge and Clary of Minneapolis; and eight sisters: Mrs. Henry Johnson, Mrs. Eddie Hyland, Mrs. Clara Johnson, Mrs. Lester Laurent and Mrs. Ted Omlid, all of Minneapolis; Mrs. Casper Jones, Mrs. Obe Omlid and Mrs. Oliver Omlid, all of Goodridge community.

Preceding him in death were his father and two brothers.

2 Girl Escapees from Sauk Centre School Returned

Two girls who had escaped the home school for girls at Sauk Centre turned themselves into the custody of Thief River Falls Police last Wednesday, June 30, apparently tired of trying to make their way about without money. Authorities at the school were notified, and Nancy McCarthy of Sauk Centre came here that evening and returned the girls to the school.

Jorgen Austad Files for Sheriff

Thru an oversight, the Times failed to mention in last week's issue that Jorgen Austad, employed in recent years by the Osborne-McMillan Elevator Co., had filed for the office of sheriff, now held by Arthur Rambeck, who is seeking reelection. No additional filings have been made during the past week.

Up-to-date Farming Practices Shown on Farm Tour Last Week

At Bratrud Clinic

DR. THOMAS G. MURN

Formerly of Ely, Minnesota, and graduate of the University of Minnesota medical school, whose affiliation with the Bratrud Clinic was announced this week by Dr. Edward Bratrud.

Dr. Murn interned in Minneapolis General Hospital, and served for three years with the medical corps during World War II, including 18 months in France and Germany.

Interested in obstetrics and pediatrics, Dr. Murn plans to engage in general practice for the present. He is married and the father of four children.

In spite of unfavorable weather, 18 farmers and businessmen participated last Wednesday morning in the annual inspection tour of recent farm developments, conducted under the leadership of Don Lawrence, farm planner with the soil conservation service, and County Agent Wm. Penning, in cooperation with the Civic and Commerce association.

First stop was made at the George K. Larson farm east of this city, where the group inspected a modern poultry-raising project, including a new house that accomodates 300 hens. The layout includes many labor-saving devices, such as overhead feed bins, water system and community nests. During the past year, Larson said, egg production has averaged about 70 per cent.

At the Mayard Mehrkens farm, the group saw an excellent dairy herd and some up-to-date crop management practices, including a hay field of mixed grass and legumes on which the forage can be harvested as dry hay or grass silage, or can be used for pasture.

Don Lawrence pointed out a field of oats, of which one-half had a much heavier growth than the other due to the fact that a green manure crop of alfalfa and grass had been plowed under. Other fields showed the benefits resulting from heavy application of manure. The group also inspected the barn, where a Grade A milk room and equipment is being installed.

At the next stop four miles west of St. Hilaire, Lawrence showed how the SCS tests soils samples for alkali in the field, and told of some of the measures that can be taken to correct the alkali problem.

The party next stopped at the Wilbur Hallstrom farm, where Hallstrom showed a fine flock of sheep, which he said had yielded

Jaycees Arrange to Sell Lunch at Pennington Fair

Nearly 50 persons, including members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and their ladies, shared in an outing last Thursday evening at the tourist park, and enjoyed a picnic supper. In a short business session, the Jaycees completed arrangements to operate a lunch stand at the county fair July 12 to 15, with Dick Meyer serving as chairman of the project.

Fred Forsberg Plant Topic at C & C Session

Manny Forsberg Tells of Operation of Plant Here Employing Fifteen Men

Information concerning the current operations of Fred Forsberg & Sons, local manufacturers of seed cleaning equipment, was supplied by Manny Forsberg at the luncheon meeting of the Civic and Commerce association last Thursday noon in the Rex Cafe. Ralph Luhman, vice president, conducted the meeting.

Forsberg said the company employs 15 men, and added that arrangements have been made with a firm in Buenos Aires, Argentina, to manufacture the firm's products on a royalty basis to supply the South American demand.

He stated that the company sells its machines in every state in the union, in addition to numerous foreign countries, and that among its regular customers are the Russell-Miller and International milling companies, the Cream of Wheat company and others.

Secretary J. M. Roche announced notice had been received that oral arguments would be heard in Washington July 20 by the Civil Aeronautics Board in connection with the application of North Central Airlines to discontinue service on its routes from Minneapolis to Fargo and Grand Forks, including Thief River Falls, Bemidji and Brainerd. It was indicated that these cities will be represented by counsel at the hearing.

Roche also reported that the C. and C. board had voted to urge members to write to Senators Thye and Humphrey and Rep. Harold C. Hagen, asking them to work for the repeal of Public Law 100 enacted in 1953, which reduces the size and

PETERSON NOMINATED AS GOODRIDGE POSTMASTER

Included in a list of nominations for postmasterships in Minnesota sent to the U. S. Senate last week by President Eisenhower is that of Clarence E. Peterson to be postmaster at Goodridge. Orville H. Wilson also was nominated for postmaster at Hallock.

Farmers Mutual Telephone Co. Goes Underground

Two miles of telephone cable to replace the overhead lines south of the city on the airport road were plowed underground in six hours of actual operating time last Wednesday. This operation, costing approximately $7,000, was the undertaking of the Farmers Mutual Telephone Co., a cooperative organization serving a large area extending over five townships south of the city.

This cable will be connected at the city limits to an overhead cable already installed by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company and will be in service by July 15. It contains 52 wires and will meet the requirements of dial service when that becomes available. The installation was made at this time because of a road improvement that would have necessitated the moving of the regular lines.

In the lower picture are the three officers of the company, Fred Koop, president, Willie Randorf, vice president, and Mons Engelstad, secretary. The company has 142 member stockholders who agreed several years ago to an annual assessment that would make possible a switch-over to dial service as soon as it is available. In three more years the company will be fifty years old, it having been organized in 1907.

Fire Insurance Rate Classification for City to Be Improved

City officials were notified late last week by the Fire Underwriters Inspection Bureau in Minneapolis that a recent survey of municipal water supply and fire fighting facilities had shown such improvement since the last survey in 1946 that the classification of Thief River Falls will shortly be advanced from Class 8 to Class 7.

The letter of notification, sent by W. J. Mooers of the Bureau, stated that it is not yet known just how soon the inspection department will commence the re-rating work, and added that local insurance agents will be notified later as to when the Class 7 fire insurance rates will become effective.

Fire Chief Roy Langevin said it is his understanding that insurance rates on residence properties will not be affected, but that commercial and industrial properties should benefit substantially from the new classification.

Commenting on the results of the survey, Mr. Mooers wrote, "Your city and its officials are to be commended for the accomplishments in the waterworks system, the fire department and fire alarm facilities. The actual grading revealed a good margin within the Class 7 classification, and with continued progress such as has already been made, there is every likelihood Class 6 can be obtained in the near future."

The letter goes on to outline the improvements, some of them involving a considerable outlay of money, that would be necessary to qualify for a Class 6 rating.

Local Youths Reported Doing Well on Green Giant Co. Pea-packing Project

The Thief River Falls office of the state employment service announced today that 24 high school and college youths from this city and surrounding communities are currently employed by the Green Giant Canning company in "Operation Pea-pack" in southern Minnesota. Sixteen boys are employed as a unit in the operation of a viner station near Mongomery, Minnesota. The other eight have been worked into neighboring crews.

This is the first year that workers for the yearly pea-pack have been recruited this far north. In other years, the various canning companies operating throughout southern Minnesota have hired as many local workers as possible and then filled in with foreign labor. This year the Green Giant company, in an attempt to eliminate the need for foreign workers, decided to extend recruitment of workers into northern Minnesota.

Mr. Dickie, division personnel supervisor with the Green Giant company, has informed the local employment office that the boys have been working out exceptionally well and have earned incentive pay of as high as 51% above standard production pay. When the pea-pack is completed, approximately July 28, the boys will be given a short vacation and will then return for full-time employment in the corn-pack until school starts in September.

If the Green Giant company and the boys concerned are satisfied in all respects, it is very possible that more extensive recruitment will be planned for the pea and corn packs next year.

113 Calls Answered by Police in June

Chief Cummings Reports Issuance of 226 Tickets

In his report on activities of the police department in June, Chief Elton C. Cummings states that the police answered 113 calls during the month. Six traffic accidents with under $100 damage were checked, while three others involved more than $100.

Eighteen arrests for drunkenness were made last month, with a total of 15 days served in jail, and one man was arrested for driving while under the influence.

A total of 226 tickets was issued for various traffic and parking offenses, of which 167 cases were disposed of in municipal court, and 59 are pending.

Chief Cummings expressed appreciation of the cooperation given by local citizens during the 50th anniversary celebration June 18 to 20, when, in spite of the huge crowds assembled in the city, no accidents of any consequence were recorded.

Eldevik Reports Employment Is up Slightly in City

Employment in Thief River in June totaled 2,657, a net gain of 24 over the figure for March 15, R. S. Eldevik, manager of the local employment service office, reported late last week.

He stated that the number of construction workers had increased from 128 in March to 253 in June, but that had been largely offset by the ending of teaching jobs in the schools early in June.

Eldevik said that plant shutdowns in other areas had forced a sizeable number of workers to return to their homes here.

Pioneer of Plummer Community Recalls Events 50 Years Ago

(By Mrs. Leonard Brekke)

The village of Plummer is celebrating the 50th anniversary of the coming of the Soo Line this week and these recollections of the early years in the community may be of interest to others. My parents, the Andrew Pedersons, were one of the first families to settle in the village.

They came from Crookston originally. When we moved here, we traveled by train to St. Hilaire. A party met us and we traveled to Plummer by horse and lumber wagon. The slough holes "were terrible." My mother held up the baby and the rest of us slushed in the water which was running over in the wagon box. So, the anticipations of Plummer were not bright coming from the city.

When the Soo Line was built, my parents were the first to live in the section house and Dad was the first section foreman. This was in the year of 1904.

The first depot agent was Percy Taggert.

The school was moved from the north side of Lilly Halvorson's and centralized to where the Presbyterian church is now.

Whenever a pastor was available (regardless of denomination) the school was supplemented for a church and we sat in the little school desks for worship. Rev. Stensgard and Rev. Flicky were two pastors of the early era, I recall.

Uncle Sam was here too! The post office was located where the Schoemackers have their residence. Charles Latta was the postal employee and also the printer for the "Plummer Pioneer" paper.

Lanager's Hardware was in the same location as it is now and the Hotel Scotland was on the north side of Wilfred Morrisette's.

We had to eat in those days too and the first trading post, Finrow's Store, was located by the Plummer Dam. Later the store was moved to where DuChamps are now located.

We would sell brush rabbits in the winter to Finrow's in barter for coffee, (Arbuckle coffee then 15c a lb.), syrup or whatever necessities needed.

Syrup came in bulk and we would get it in 5 gallon jugs. 5 lbs. of loaf sugar, 10c, 7 or 8 cents worth of peanuts was a load to carry home.

Mother would salt down a 20 gallon crock of rabbits for summer's use and that would be either fried or roasted each day.

Incidentally, there were no creameries. We churned our butter. In winter when the butter was colorless we'd grate carrots, let stand in water and squeeze through a fine cloth. With this we got our vegetable coloring.

There weren't any beauty experts to assist us in those days. Nor were there any davidow dresses in three lengths. But a gorgeous dress of calico could be purchased at Finrow's for 14 cents.

Aren't you happy to be living in 1954?

WATER SAFETY
a thoughtless moment can cost a life
THINK
Hang on to the boat if it should capsize until aid arrives. Don't try to swim to shore!

New Pasture Methods

Ever hear of "zero pasture" or "daily rotational grazing?" These are terms for two new systems of pasture management now being tried by Minnesota farmers. Both systems give good promise to better pasture feeding.

Rodney A. Briggs, the University of Minnesota's extension agronomist, defines "zero pasture" as a system that uses a central feeding lot. In one version of the system, green feed is made available to the stock each day—the pasture is brought to the cow.

In the second, preserved feed—silage or hay—is fed in the feed lot all year round. Those who've tried "zero pasture" say it wouldn't be possible of course, without modern automatic unloaders and self-feeders. Its advantages: no loss from trampling and manure contamination, plus no need for fencing.

The "daily rotational grazing" pasture system has proved successful on many Minnesota farms. It involves using electric fences so that animals have a fresh section of pasture each day. Fields are laid out in 5 or 6 rectangular rotation pastures.

The farmer strings electric fence lengthwise across one of the pastures and lets in the animals. Next day, the fence is moved enough to allow for another day.

Some farmers have found this system increases yields and animal intake and more than pays for the time and trouble of moving the fence each day.

Although both systems are quite new, they reflect some of the advantages Grandpa had in his day — that is, bringing in green material each day or staking a cow out on a new section each day.

Briggs tip to farmers thinking of revamping their pasture setup: "Weigh all the practical considerations — labor, machinery, and expense — before going "whole hog" on any new systems."

Aphids Causing Damage

Cool, rainy weather this spring has provided ideal growth conditions for plant lice — gardeners will be seeing a lot of this pest this summer.

Aphids or plant lice can do severe damage to vegetable plants including cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and melons, ornamental plants, shrubbery and even trees and field crops.

The fact that aphids are often attended by ants, especially on plum trees, leads people to believe that ants are doing the damage. Actually, Dr. Granovsky says, the ants are innocent. They are simply attracted by the sweet excretion, called honey dew, of plant lice. Some plant lice excrete so much honey dew they make leaves glisten and may spatter cars below the trees with sticky material. Following the path of the ants will often lead you to aphids, according to the University entomologist.

Most effective control of aphids is a 50-per cent emulsion of malathion, using from 1 to 2 teaspoons to a gallon. The lower side of leaves should be sprayed thoroughly, because aphids usually feed on the lower side. If the leaves are curled, the spray treatment should be repeated once every 10 days for two or three times or as long as insects may persist. Sometimes one treatment is effective if it is thorough enough.

If it is not possible to obtain malathion, a spray may be used of 1 teaspoon of nicotine sulfate and 1 ounce of soapflakes per gallon of warm water. Dissolve the soapflakes before adding the nicotine sulfate. Use only when fresh.

It's strawberry season again, and time to serve luscious, sun-ripened berries to the family as well as to freeze some for next winter. Its' very simple to preserve some of their good flavor for next winter by freezing strawberries. Tests at the University of Minnesota frozen foods laboratory show that frozen strawberries have a better flavor if they are sliced, then mixed carefully with sugar in a bowl so the sugar is practically dissolved before packing the berries in freezer containers. Use 1 pound of sugar to 4 or 5 pounds of fruit, or 1 cup of sugar to 8 or 9 cups of berries.

We have several bulletins in the office, dealing with canning and preserving, that you will want to have, since canning season is right around the corner. The two publications on freezing are very popular — Bulletin No. 244 "Freezing Foods for Home Use" and Folder 156 "Freezing Fruits and Vegetables." There are three publications on canning — Folder 100 "Home Canning Fruits and Vegetables" is prepared by the University of Minnesota. U. S. Department of Agriculture bulletins on this topic are "Home Canning of Meat" and Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables." If you plan to make jams and pickles, two U.S.D.A. bulletins are just what you will need — "Home-made Jellies, Jams and Preserves" and "Pickles and Relish Recipes."

Come down to the office or call in, and we will be glad to give you copies of the bulletin you will need.

Summer Care of Gladiolus

The gladiolus is one of our most popular cut flowers because it lends itself so well to arrangements of all types. Occasionally it is used for landscape effect.

* * *

Pick off all flowers when they are through blooming, to give the garden a more attractive appearance and to make bigger corms (bulbs) which will mean better blooms next year.

* * *

Good soil and plenty of moisture are needed to grow gladiolus successfully. The gladiolus does not require soils rich in nitrogen. If the soil lacks fertility, an application of a 5-10-10 fertilizer at the rate of 1 pound per 100 feet of row will give better blooms and increase the size of the corms. Apply it when the flower stalks show color in the lower florets.

* * *

A spray and disease control program is another requirement for successful growing of gladiolus. The thrip, the most common insect pest, can be controlled by using DDT either as a dust or spray. Thrips feed on the leaves, causing a rusty brown injury. Dried areas on the flower petals are also indication of thrip injury. Florets which have been injured frequently do not open properly. Spraying should be done at 10-day intervals.

* * *

When plants show early yellowing and browning of the foliage, with distorted blooms, they should be pulled and destroyed. This is generally an indication of diseased corms.

* * *

Gladiolus should be cut when the first two florets have opened. Make a slanted cut and plunge the stems into water several hours before arranging them. Be sure to leave at least four or five large leaves per plant to assure good corm production.

It was Abraham Lincoln who said that America is "our to preserve and our to transmit to the generations which follow us."

American Legion Jr. Club Wins 5 in a Row

Coach Ralph Skjod's American Legion junior baseball had an action-filled week, playing, and winning, five games. The local juniors will continue to be busy this week, playing four games. Following last evening's game against Stephen here, the juniors are slated to play a return game, at the Fair Grounds diamond here on Wednesday evening, against the Warroad juniors.

On Thursday, July 8th, the Warren juniors will play the locals at the Fair Grounds diamond; and on Friday night, at 8:00 p. m. the juniors will meet the Red Lake Falls juniors at Red Lake Falls' Riverside Park. The games here on Wednesday, against Warroad, and Thursday, against Warren, will get under way at 6:00 p. m.

The highlight of the week's play, perhaps, was the 6 to 2 win that the locals scored over Warroad in a game played at Warroad last Wednesday night. Righthander Jack Poole, on the mound for coach Skjod's club, collected fourteen strikeouts during the seven-inning tilt.

The week's most evenly-contested game was the extra-inning contest at Oslo last Tuesday afternoon, which was won on Rod Collins' tally in the 8th frame. Bob Hallamack held the Oslo club to four hits.

In a double-header played here on Thursday afternoon and evening, against Johnny Noah's Crookston junior's, the locals, behind the righthanded pitching of Larry Jorgenson and Harold Hjelle, defeated the Pirates, 7 to 4 and 9 to 1.

Numerous Drivers Penalized in Court

Three Are Fined $100 on Drunken Driving Charges

Three local motorists were penalized in municipal court during the week on charges of driving a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, and a half-dozen others were fined for less serious offenses.

Fined $100 on the drunk driving charge were Oliver Omlid, city, and Earl Bugge, rural Thief River Falls, who were brought in by the highway patrol, and Henry Jarshaw, city, arrested by police. Omlid was still in jail yesterday, not having paid his fine. He also was fined $10 and $4 costs on a charge of driving after his drivers license and privileges had been revoked.

Robert C. Carlson, 19, of 605 State av. N. pleaded guilty Monday on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, and was fined $25. A hit-run car had run into the parked car of J. E. Burley of Homer, Illinois, on LaBree av. near Fifth st. July 3, and the driver of the car was later identified as Carlson.

Others appearing in court were Donald Berg, city, careless driving, fined $10; Clarence Walker, Minneapolis, driving without a drivers license, $10; Clayton Bakke, Warren, careless driving, $10 and $4 costs; Clifford A. Lofgren; fined $50 and $4 costs; and Donald Cameron, Red Lake Falls, no valid drivers license, fined $10 and $4 costs.

Educators Deny Need of Trimming State Operations

There is no need to cut back state government services in Minnesota, a state in which industry is expanding and prosperity is growing, the Minnesota Co-ordinating Committee for Education asserted.

The committee, which represents seven educational organizations, charged a "gloomy group of campaigners" is trying to convince the state its economic future is dismal.

"Some organizations seek to persuade us that industry is speeding away from the state, that population is declining, income is dropping and the picture will grow darker unless taxes on business are cut," the committee said in a statement.

It quoted figures supplied by the state department of business development to support its argument that "this is simply not the picture of a dwindling economy." Among the increases were these:

Population up and still growing, per capita income up 50 per cent since 1945, employment increases every year but one since World War II, growth of the state's manufacturing industries and higher retail sales, bank debits and power production.

Golf's World's Series

This evening the Lincoln Life and the KTRF teams will be teeing off in a match that will decide the city golf championship. The Lincoln Life squad—Lloyd Bennes, Wes Johnson, Bob Tarnowski, and Hank Langard—won the city National league title; and the KTRF team—Wally DuChamp, Don Olson, Milt Reierson, and Arnold Trost—was the winner in the American league.

This evening's match should be quite a tussle, and we have an idea that the outcome will hinge on the number three and four players of the respective teams.

Lloyd Bennes, playing at number one for the Lincoln Life, has a five handicap while Wally DuChamp, the KTRF's number one has a seven handicap. If Wally will use his wood clubs off the tee, the odds will shift in favor of the Lincoln Life for then Lloyd should pick up a couple of points. The number two match, between Wes Johnson of Lincoln and Don Olson of the KTRF (and Don is beginning to sound like Casey Stengel, saying that the boys want to "break up" the KTRF team now that his team has won its second successive league championship), with Wes have a ten handicap and Don carrying a nine handicap.

But the two matches that will be vital will be the Bob Tarnowski vs. Milt Reierson, and the Hank Langard vs. Arnold Trost duels.

Not Half Over Yet

We had the Thief River Trap Shoot league ending their season with the matches that are to be held on July 15; but the fact that those matches will only end the first half of the schedule. The league will continue on into September, with, according to our computation, the wind-up being slated for Sept. 16th or the 23rd.

It appears that the interest in the league race is increasing with each shoot, and as a result of last week's matches, which found the Times team outpointing the Pharmacy squad, 123 to 111, the team standings are pretty even. The Pharmacy continue to hold the league lead, but their margin over the runner-up Johnson Bros., Baumann-Oen, Times and Wilson Bros., is only two points.

Last week's shoot was featured by the 25 scored by the Pharmacy's Rudy Sagmoen. Rudy's 25 was the first "perfect" score that has been registered in league competition, and it means that he will be losing some "birds" from his handicap. It's unfortunate that Rudy's fine score was a "wasted" effort, for in spite of that 25 the Pharmacy were able to total but 111 points, and dropped their match to the Times. After last week's shooting, Tony Dorn will be holding some strategy meetings, endeavoring to keep the Pharmacy in first place.

They're Reported to Be Good

Ward Nichols tells us that the Rocky Marciano vs. Ezzard Charles world's heavyweight championship fight pictures will be at the Avalon theatre on Sunday and Monday.

Advance reports are that the pictures are very good, and that they reveal that Marciano had to fight to retain his championship.

Baseball

Erv Warner's Halstad Pirates, the league leaders in the Norman-Polk circuit, won the baseball tournament played at Warroad on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, defeating the Warroad Lakers, 8 to 4, in the tourney finals on Monday night.

Incidentally, the Halstad club has agreed to play here when the Thieves dedicate their new lighting system at the Fair Grounds. That should be a ball game.

Harold Johnson announced that a pair of exhibition games have been arranged for the Thieves this week. On Wednesday night, July 7th, the locals will play the Lakers at Red Lake Falls, playing under the lights at the Riverside Park. And on Thursday night, July 8th, the Thieves will meet the Warroad Lakers at Warroad in a night game.

Terrebonne Flour Mill Destroyed by Fire Early Sunday

Property Was Owned by Carl O. Kankel and Jos. and Reaume St. Marie

Fire discovered about 2 a. m. Sunday completely destroyed the plant of the Terrebonne Milling Company at Terrebonne, about 11 miles south east of Red Lakes Falls on Highway No. 92.

Origin of the blaze is unknown, but it apparently started in the elevator section of the mill where it was first noticed by two boys returning from a dance, but by the time they turned in an alarm an explosion appeared to have spread the flames to all sections.

The supposition is that it may have been the result of heated grain as the roof of the plant was badly damaged by the wind storm of about three weeks ago and had allowed some grain to become dampened. The roof was under repair at the time of the fire.

The Red Lake Falls Fire Department immediately responded to the alarm but the structure was a mass of flames by the time they reached the scene and the mill and contents were totally destroyed.

The first mill was constructed at the Terrebonne site in 1884 and operated by Hannibal H. Ames. That mill burned in 1887 and before the new mill could be completed it was purchased by Henry Hennemuth and Richard Ohm. Hennemuth sold his interest to the late Charles O. Kankel and C. F. Kankel and Ohm later sold his interest to John Ziegler. The latter sold his interest in 1908 to Christ. Juhl. Kankel purchased Juhl's interest in 1912.

In 1915 the mill was again destroyed by fire and that same year Mr. Kankel rebuilt and sold an interest to Jos. W. St. Marie and they operated the mill until 1943 when Kankel retired because of ill health and his son, Carl A. Kankel has since been associated in the operation of the plant. Jos. W. St. Marie is president of the corporation; Carl A. Kankel is vice president and Reaume St. Marie, secretary.

The owners have not placed an estimate on the loss which is partially covered by insurance, and will not be able to do so until insurance adjusters arrive to place their estimates.

Swimming Warnings Issued by Doctors

This is the season of water accidents and the Minnesota State Medical association today issued a bulletin on swimming as one of a series designed to promote summertime safety in Minnesota. Previous bulletins in the series dealt with safety in boats and with vacation-time supervision of small children at home.

Today the doctors point out that the largest number of swimming deaths occur annually among boys from the ages 15 to 19. The reason is not chiefly because more teen age boys go swimming than other age groups. To a large extent the trouble lies in the fact that youngsters at these ages are likely to take more chances than other people.

Without adequate safety education they are likely to violate every rule for safe swimming on a casual dare, the bulletin says, and their skill and strength do not counter-balance the hazards of reckless behavior in the water.

Following are some basic rules for swimming safety as as provided in the bulletin and they apply to everybody, including the teenagers, the doctors insist.

1. Learn to swim, preferably under guidance of the American Red Cross or the scout organizations, the YMCA or YWCA or other recognized youth organizations. The age to start, if possible, is six or seven.
2. Emphasize the pointlessness and downright danger of taking dares around water. Here the parents can help the doctors believe.
3. Never dive anywhere without knowing the depth of water and condition of the beach. Shallow water, hidden rocks or piles can be and often are, fatal.
4. Never swim any distance alone, no matter how strong a swimmer you are.
5. Never swim after you are chilled or exhausted.
6. Never allow young children even to wade without close watching and always pick supervised swimming areas, if possible.

Seek to Introduce New Type of Fish

Canada Grayling Eggs Planted in State Lake

Minnesota anglers may some day have an entirely new species of sport fish on the business end of the rod, if an experiment now underway by the bureau of fisheries, Minnesota division of game and fish, proves successful.

The newcomer is the Montana grayling. Among America's rarer sport fishes, the grayling is related to the trout. The bureau has received 204,000 grayling eggs from the province of Saskatchewan, for introduction into Minnesota waters.

The eggs are now in the process of being hatched out at the Grand Rapids fisheries headquarters, according to Frank D. Blair, director, division of game and fish. Within a few weeks, they will be free swimming fry and will be stocked into a small isolated lake in St. Louis county.

Gabrielson Lake, near Orr, is a deep, cold water lake of about 15 acres. In anticipation of the project, the fisheries men under the lake rehabilitation program, poisoned out the entire fish population of Gabrielson, consisting of mostly panfish, for the purpose of creating an ideal condition for the survival of grayling.

"We should know by fall," Blair said, "whether or not the experiment will prove a success. If it does, further introductions could be made into many small, isolated, cold water lakes in the north and northeastern parts of the state."

Masons of northeastern North Dakota, southern Manitoba and northwestern Minnesota and their families will gather Sunday, July 11, at Walhalla for their eighteenth anual picnic and outdoor meeting.

The members and their families and the general public are invited to the afternoon religious service at 3 o'clock in Riverside park, when Rev. H. B. Donnelly of St. Vital, Man., a past grand master of Masons in Manitoba will give the sermon.

A special feature of the afternoon program will be vocal music by the Kem Temple Chanters from the Grand Forks Shrine temple, directed by Prof. John E. Howard. Gordon L. Paxman of Hamilton, grand marshall, will preside for the program.

The service will be followed by the family picnics in Riverside park, with members of the Walhalla lodge handling local arrangements and preparing coffee for the picnickers.

State Tightens Net on Motorists Causing Mishaps

"Negligent" Drivers to Lose Licenses for 90 Days to a Year, Says Larimer

A third "crackdown" step against motorists whose defiance of or disregard for traffic regulations causes accidents was announced today by Earl M. Larimer, Minnesota's new state director of highway safety.

Any motorist whose driving negligence becomes a contributing factor in a serious traffic accident will face suspension of his driver's license for a period ranging from 90 days to a year.

In announcing the highway department's decision to strictly invoke the "negligence" suspension authority provided by law, Larimer invited the cooperation of all local law enforcement officers and the courts "to make this another truly effective weapon in Minnesota's war on the causes of traffic deaths and injuries."

The new highway safety director, who for a decade previously had served as highway patrol chief, started off his new accident prevention job last week with the double-barreled warning that the patrol was immediately stepping up its traffic law enforcement coverage by (1) putting on 40 additional patrol cars to be manned by splitting two-man patrol teams up into one-man units, and (2) placing a substantial number of patrolmen on the highways, day and night, in unmarked cars for the specific purpose of apprehending those motorists who "watch for the cop" and willfully violate traffic laws when they think no enforcement officer is in sight.

The newest and latest step to further tighten the net of apprehension around accident causing violators, Mr. Larimer announced, will operate under the legal provision which authorizes the commissioner of highways to suspend, without preliminary hearing, the license of any driver who, accident records or court actions show, "has been involved as a negligent driver in any accident resulting in the death or personal injury of another, or serious property damage."

THE FIRST YEAR'S RECORD

The first fiscal year under the control of the Eisenhower administration ended June 30 and the first year's record is being carefully scrutinized for its accomplishments and its shortcomings. In the record of that first fiscal year there is both success and failure.

The administration has kept its promise to reduce spending. It has failed to keep its promise to balance the budget.

Commendable progress has been made in cutting government costs. In January, with half the year gone, it was estimated that expenditures for the year still would total 70.9 billion dollars. The actual totals were estimated on June 30 as being 2.4 billions less than the January estimates. The cuts have been made without upsetting the economy of the nation and apparently without impairing the national security.

But while spending has been curtailed, tax receipts have also dropped. They will be nearly three billions less than was estimated six months ago and the deficit for the year probably will be slightly in excess of three billions.

Commenting on the governments present financial condition, Senator Byrd, Virginia democrat, states that it will not be necessary at this time to increase the debt limit. It is his opinion that, barring unforeseen developments, we can get along within the present limit. That is encouraging. If we are almost holding our own we actually are making some progress.

GOODBYE CALIFORIA

Senator William Knowland of California has proclaimed that if the present Red government of China is admitted to membership in the United Nations he will resign as leader of the majority group in the senate. He then will demand that our country withdraw from membership in that organization.

The people of other free nations will of course resent such an ultimatum, as we would if they told us what we had to do or else. It smacks of the very kind of dictatorship we are objecting to.

Knowland's statement puts us in a position where we hardly known which way to go. We are opposed to Red China or any other satellite of Red Russia being admitted to the United Nations. On the other hand if this would lead to the resignation of Mr. Knowland as leader of the senate Republicans we might be inclined to yield on the Chinese question. Under his leadership the senate has sunk to a low level.

With all its shortcomings the United Nations still offers the only real hope for the survival of the free nations of the world. It is a democratic organization and nothing would be more pleasing to the Reds than to see it destroyed.

To join with other free nations in vigorous opposition to those who would create a world dictatorship is one thing. For us to say, however, that all of the other free nations of the world must do as we tell them to do, is quite another thing. If we were to proceed in this way we would offer the world little more than they would get from the Reds.

In the management of the affairs of the United Nations we are one of the directors. We are not the only director, and only as we offer sound leadership in support of reasonable policies will we command respect.

Now that Senator Knowland has let it be known that the United Nations must do his bidding or we will go our own way, we presume that if congress does not go along with him in his demands his next step will be to have California secede from the Union.

EUROPE UNITED—OR WEAK

Chancellor Adenauer, head of the West German government, used a radio address to his own people last week as an appeal for French ratification of the European Defense Community treaty. He commented sympathetically on the French people's fears of the new German army but he pointed out the urgency of the need for defense action. Further delay would increase the dangers and the countries that had already agreed on a united program could wait no longer.

It was a friendly appeal for the approval of a plan that was proposed originally by the French themselves. He went as far as he could in giving his neighbors assurance of his own good faith in this joint effort.

It is to be hoped that the French will now respond with prompt action. With or without their approval, the plan will be adopted. Without their support however it will lack the unity that is essential if it is to make an impression behind the iron curtain. A really united Europe would be a powerful influence for world peace.

Selection of a Duluth man to head the government's St. Lawrence Seaway Corporation gives assurance that this project will be in friendly hands. Cities located on the Great Lakes are starting to recover from the surprise of finding the project they have been dreaming about for a half a century suddenly become a reality. They already are starting to feel the benefits as long range planning for both public and private development progresses.

The Pennington County fair has long been handicapped by inadequate grandstand facilities. That fact will make less difficult the additional handicap of this year's still more limited seating space. Maybe it was a good wind that destroyed the old stand. All will agree, we are sure, that it had served long enough and deserves its retirement. Now we will be forced to do what we probably should have done some years ago—build a new stand. Fortunately it is not now necessary to rebuild in haste. A new grand stand is only one of several vexing problems with which the fair management is confronted. Now is a good time to give consideration to all of them.

Minnesota's double-holiday traffic toll was low and it is fair to assume that Earl Larimer's program of stricter enforcement had something to do with it. The new state director of highway safety announced there would be forty additional patrol cars checking on traffic and some of them of the "plainclothes" variety that could not be distinguished as police cars. Reports indicate that this announcement had a salutary effect and that traffic slowed down to a 60-mile crawl.

New Hopes For Peat

Interest in development of Minnesota's vast resources seems to be growing. Many attempts have been made down through the years to make profitable use of peat. Most of these efforts have centered in the admittedly difficult task of reducing the heavy water content of peat so that it can be utilized for fuel. Not a few investigations have failed to find a commercially feasible way to do this.

Now scientists are seeking another course in the effort to utilize peat. In the recovery of chemicals from peat deposits, rather than in the processing of peat for fuel, lies the chief hope for profitable commercial use of Minnesota's peat resources, many of the experts now say.

Through New Methods

Plans have been announced for a new peat research project which offers considerable promise. Iron range Resources Commissioner Edward Bayuk reported recently that arrangements have been made for a $200,000 study of Minnesota peat, financed through private funds, by a coporation comprised of Iron Range and Duluth residents and New Jersey and New York interests. The company is leasing for its test the state's Floodwood Experimental Peat Plant, which has been idle since 1949.

Bayuk says the corporation plans a new approach in its research and for this purpose has engaged a German scientist to direct the activity. The new research will be aimed primarily at converting peat into cellulose and a variety of other products and determining whether it would be economically sound to produce them for commercial use. The work is expected to begin soon after the arrival of machinery from Germany, possibly in July.

Chief purpose of the new project is intensive research for utilization of the chemical compounds found in peat deposits and improvement in methods of extraction and isolation of cellulose and chemicals.

Peat deposits in Minnesota are said to be rich in cellulose, a basic material in rayon, paper, film and celluloid, explosives and plastics and many other products. Possible by-products include humic acid, resins, phenols and pharmaceuticals.

Older Workers Asset

Jarle Leirfallom, our state commissioner of public welfare, called a conference of state and county welfare officials the other day to consider the growing problem of caring for our aged persons. The number of aged persons in Minnesota, as in other states, has become a matter of real concern. One of the interesting comments came from David J. Winton, President of the Winton Lumber Company, who, contrary to many business men, looks upon the older worker as an asset. A lumberman, widely known both here and in Canada, Winton said:

"We have learned in Canada in our experience with older persons that there is a big reserve of efficient, effective work in some men beyond 65. We feel retirement should be a matter of physical and mental age, not age in years, and we think idleness is a large part of the troubles of the aged."

Winton said that his companies in Canada had allowed older workers to continue their employment as long as they could do their work effectively. He said that the older employee often can carry his part effectively and economically to a greater age in years than industry ordinarily thinks of as wise and suggested that industry may be depriving itself of a real asset by retiring men at a certain age regardless of a man's age in body and mind.

Facing the prospect that its supply of timber soon would run out, the Winton Company in Canada began setting up a retirement plan in 1946 to help meet the expected decline in employment. It established a pension plan for older workers, later put in a severance plan to aid men with long service and now is setting up a charitable and educational program to meet special needs.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q: My husband, a World War II veteran, died recently. Would I be eligible for VA death pension if my yearly income falls below the $2,700 limit? I have a young child.

A: You would be eligible only if your husband had a service-connected disability at the time of his death. His disability, however, need not have been the cause of his death.

Q: I am a disabled Korean veteran, and I'm planning to take on-the-job training under Public Law 16. Will VA furnish me with supplies I need to pursue my training?

A: Yes, within limits. The kind, quality and amount of supplies will be limited to those commonly required to be owned personally by non-veterans taking the same training. If your disability warrants it, you may be issued special equipment to help you do your job.

Q: I am a Korean veteran who was totally disabled in service. I intend to apply for the special GI permanent-plan insurance available to disabled Korean veterans. Would it be possible to have my premiums waived because of my total disability?

A: Yes. You should apply for a waiver of premiums at the same time you apply for your insurace. But be sure to pay the required premium with your application, and be sure to continue to pay premiums until VA tells you your waiver has been granted. If it is granted, you will get a refund of premiums paid under waiver.

Q: If I get a GI business loan, will I have to operate the business myself? Or could I turn it over to someone else to run?

A: You will be required to devote your personal labor or supervision to the business, either on a full-time or part-time basis.

SHINGLES OR ROLLS, ASPHALT IS A DURABLE ROOFING

Patch, patch, patch is no way to keep a snug roof on the home. When THIS protection gives way the entire home is in serious danger. Not only do I lay some stress on the quality of asphalt shingles but the price is rock bottom. You couple low price and good quality with a low-interest monthly payment program (which will include both material and labor) and you have our sincere attempt to really serve. Color samples of both roofing and shingles are here for inspection and I'll hustle out and measure the job for a rock bottom estimate. A telephone call will do it. Obligations? None!

WALL PLANKING

Whether basement, attic or remodeled den there are several low-cost but mighty attractive ways to resurface a wall. One is insulation planking. This heavy, fibre product submits color selection, ease of application. If cedar or pine is selected your width pattern may vary to please your taste. And while planking would be an improper term one shouldn't overlook the beautiful plywood panels for room resurfacing. There has never been a time when I could offer so many really beautiful room finishes at costs that will invite comparison. I have booklets and folders that show all of these treatments in color. Just give me a hint of interest and I'll show my wares all the way.

they like 'em ROUND

Watch your cattle eat round baled hay, packaged exclusively by ROTO-BALER. You can tell immediately how well they like the better quality, cured in round bales.

And it costs less to bale, too. It's wrapped with inexpensive binder twine — field travel is reduced by picking up big double windrows. Get ready now. Hay time will soon be here.

Our Land

Sawdust Valuable

Most wood and sawdusts, of course—are slightly acid. These acids disappear when wood and sawdust rots. You can thus add needed acid to your soil by adding sawdust, says Marvin E. Smith, extension forester at the University of Minnesota. If used on land planted to crops sensitive to acid conditions, it may be advisable to use lime along with sawdust—particularly if the soil is slightly acid already. Your county agent can help find a good farm use for sawdust.

28,000 Baby Trees

You've heard of the Sand Dunes State Forest—77 square miles of slightly grassed sand dunes north of Elk River. Well E. E. Bjuge, Sherburne county agent, Mrs. Ella Kringlund, 4-H club agent, and about 600 area 4-H'ers and school children had their annual tree-planting field day last month. They'd planned to hand-plant about 15,000 young trees, but they went over the top with 28,000. Luckily, state forest officials had large stocks of tiny young trees on hand for the eager youngsters. Visit this area sometime. It's a striking example of what man can do with trees, patience and non-agricultural land.

Grass—Most Wonderful Food

A prominent Nebraska rancher, Bruce Snyder, gives a poetic picture of the merits of grass. Snyder recently said grass is nature's most wonderful feed—"It's vitaminized, proteinized, laborized and best of all, it saves my poor old back." He explained this last statement by pointing out that preparing dry hay involves four operations—cutting, stacking, hauling and feeding.

Feed Your Soil-Builders

Clovers are soil builders and give high quality, low-cost feed only when they are "fed" properly. Hunger signs are similar for red, Ladino and alsike clover, says Paul M. Burson, University of Minnesota soils authority. If you can tell these signs on one, you usually can spot them on the others. Among symptoms are neat white dots or streaks, yellowish and reddish leaves and ragged leaf edges.

Freedom's Holy Light

The Fourth of July is a great day in the United States of America. On this date in 1776 the Thirteen Original Colonies declared their independence from the British government in which they had lost confidence. They assumed their right, as they themselves expressed it in their Declaration of Independence, to live under "the laws of nature and of nature's God."

This freedom has carried down to this very day. And that is why happy little faces, such as those in this picture, can look hopefully out from the shadow of the Stars and Stripes to safety, and justice, and law and order in government and society.

Government by the people can endure only when it is in the hands of godly men and women, of good citizens, of officers and officials who respect the Christian principles upon which all good and sound democracy is laid.

The Church and the State are true partners in democratic living. Over them both Freedom's Holy Light is a welcome and necessary beacon. A representative government in the hands of good officials protects the inalienable right of freedom of worship. And the Church builds in men the character, the moral tone, the spiritual stamina, which make them worthy of being entrusted with a free government of free people.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

Strip-Crop All at Once?

A question often asked on rolling southeastern Minnesota farms is "should I strip-crop all this hilly stuff at once, or do it over a period of years?" One farmer, Emery Loqua of Goodhue County says, "If I were starting my layout over again, I'd arrange my cropping program so that strips could be put on the entire farm at one time. It's far easier that way than doing it in chunks." He started to lay contour strips on his 160-acre farm three years ago. Because of a hay storage, he has been laying out about 25 acres each year for strips. This year he plans to complete the job.

Pigeon Grass Spray

Pre-emergence spraying of corn doesn't kill pigeon grass in Minnesota, reports R. S. Dunham, University of Minnesota agronomist who specializes in weed control. What's the answer? Harrowing with a spike-tooth harrow after corn is well-rooted is effective, Dunham says. After the corn is laid by, spray with five pounds TCA per acre, using drop nozzles to wet no more than the lower six inches of stalk. If you're troubled with broad-leaved weeds that can be checked by spraying, mix four ounces of 2,4-D with each five pounds of TCA. If the weeds aren't up, use a pound and a half of 2,4-D with five pounds TCA per acre.

How to Use Wood Waste.

How and where can you profitably use wood waste? Well, wood in the form of sawdust is an excellent source of much-needed humus. You can use sawdust as a mulch, livestock bedding, in compost, or put it directly in the ground. Sawdust and chips, plain or in manures, are good mulch for hay and pasture land. They quickly sift down to ground surfaces and don't interfere with haying as do strawy manures. These tips come from Marvin E. Smith, extension forester at the University of Minnesota.

A Timely Tip

"The land is ours only in trust. We must try to pass it on to our children and grandchildren in better condition than when it was passed on to us."

Over the past two years, oil operators have laid more than 9,350 miles of crude oil and products pipe lines. Pipe lines cost roughly $30,000 a mile to lay—one indication why the oil industry needs large sums of money to operate and expand.

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

The excitement of political campaigning often tends to overshadow and obscure public attention on efforts to adopt amendments to our state constitution.

It may be wise, therefore, while the election season is still in its early stage, to note the content of the four amendments which will be on the November ballot. Adoption requires that 60 per cent of persons voting in the November election vote in favor of the particular amendment.

This means that if one fails to vote on the amendments, and customarily many thousands of voters do fail to do so, he has in effect voted for the defeat of the measure. This makes the amending process extremely difficult, and not infrequently amendments widely supported by those informed about the issue are defeated because of lack of information among the larger body of voters.

Probate Court Proposal

Under existing constitutional provisions (Article 6), each county elects a probate judge for a term of four years. His jurisdiction is limited to "estates of deceased persons and persons under guardianship," and he is not required to have any special training or qualifications for the position, nor can the legislature prescribe such qualifications.

Amendment No. 1 on this year's general election ballot provides two major changes in the probate court system. First, it enables the legislature to prescribe qualifications, which would mean, in effect, that judges of probate would, in the future, have to be lawyers who had been admitted to the bar. Second, it would enable the legislature to extend the jurisdiction of the probate judge, thus making much fuller use of this position and bringing some relief to the overburdened state judiciary.

This amendment is widely supported by the judiciary and by the bar generally, although it is opposed by probate judges who would not qualify for the positions they now hold if qualifications were established by the legislature.

Ending Double Liability

Article 10 of the state constitution provides that stockholders in state banks are liable "in an amount equal to the amount of stock owned by him for all debts" of the bank. This provision, in the view of bankers and other sponsors of the amendment fastens a double liability on stockholders and seriously complicates banking procedures in the state.

Amendment No 2 is designed to correct this situation by deleting the provision quoted above, although the legislature will continue to have the power to determine and regulate the liability of stockholders.

A statewide committee, under the chairmanship of K. O. Sattre, president of the Blue Earth State Bank, who is a former state banking commissioner, is planning a campaign in support of this amendment.

Adopting New Constitution

The proposal likely to receive most public attention is Amendment No 3 which is aimed at facilitating the calling of a constitutional convention for the adoption of a new state constitution.

The present constitution (Article 14) makes no provisions for the ratification by the voters of a new constitution adopted by a constitutional convention. To clear up any confusion on this point the amendment requires such ratification by a three-fifths vote.

The amendment also provides that members of the state legislature may serve as members of the constitutional convention. Under existing provisions they are prevented from doing so.

The Minnesota League of Women Voters is spearheading the drive in support of this amendment. At its recent conference in Bemidji the organization placed this drive high on its current agenda.

Eliminating "Short Term"

When vacancies occur in statewide offices or in the United States Senatorial office the Governor is empowered to appoint a successor. But, under the present constitutional provisions, the successor serves only "until the next annual election, and until their successors are chosen and qualified." (Article 5)

This means, in effect, that whenever a vacancy is filled by appointment there must be two elections, one to serve the regular term, beginning on the first Monday of January following the election, and the other to serve a "short term" from election day until the first Monday of January.

Amendment No. 4 permits the person appointed by the Governor to fill the vacancy until the first Monday in January.

Getting Majority Difficult

Constitutional amendments are often virtually non-controversial, such as Amendment No. 4, and yet even those of this type frequently fail to get the required 60 per cent of all those voting at the election. Thus, to succeed an amendment needs an extraordinary drive behind it, which means, in turn, extensive statewide education among the voters.

Until 25 years ago, few oil wells exceeded 3,000 feet in depth. Today, many wells exceed 10,000 feet. The deepest completed well to date is 20,521 feet—and that was abandoned as a dry hole.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Safety Education Starts Early

A leading cause of death in young children is accidents. While it is true that all children have accidents, and parents must learn to take the possibility in their stride, this is an area deserving of some thought. An attitude of "Well, he's going to have to learn to take care of himself, and the only way he can do it is through experience" does not solve the problem. The other extreme is equally undesirable—the parent who is overly solicitous that she never permits the child to engage in any activity and thereby inhibits the normal development of the child. What is a reasonable and useful viewpoint?

First, think in terms of the child's information and knowledge. Often a youngster does not have the foresight to recognize a dangerous situation, and here is an opportunity for parents to provide some awareness which might have to be gained through painful experience.

A child decides, for example, to stand up in a wagon. To be sure, the wagon is not in motion at the moment—but potentially it affords risk. Here is a chance for a parent to pull the wagon gently to show the child how it might be in motion, and how he might then fall. Or perhaps a youngster wants to reach for something on a high shelf, and his rocking horse is the nearest thing he finds to climb on. Or perhaps he wants to get a better view of something outside, and he climbs up on the window sill. These are times for the parents to turn potential accident into learning about safety measures.

Second, keep in mind that helping the child learn about safety need not mean instilling fears in him. Too often, a parent may feel that a warning builds fear, without realizing the possibilities of making the experience educational in more total sense. If the parent's attitude is one of pointing out the relationship between cause and result, rather than stressing danger and hurt, the child acquires some vicarious experience which helps to provide his own safeguards, and prevent accidents.

50 YEARS AGO

Editor's Note: The "Fifty Years Ago" column this week is lifted from a booklet published in about 1908 on Thief River Falls and the Surrounding Territory. It was made up of contributions by several citizens of the community of that time, including the history written by Ira C. Richardson. Mr. Richardson settled here in 1882 and was active in city affairs over a period of many years.

The Early History of Thief River Falls

(By Ira C. Richardson)

The site of the City of Thief River Falls was perfectly formed by nature for a large city. Excluding the depression in the surface made by the Red Lake River, there is not a natural elevation or depression of more than eight feet in the entire surface of the city; and the natural drainage is nearly perfect. The city lies on both sides of the Red Lake River immediately below its confluence with the Thief River; and, with the exception of a large steam saw mill, a meat market and a confectionary store, all business buildings are on the right, or west bank of the river.

A section of land popularly known as the "Chief's Section," slightly irregular in outline, bounded on the east by the Thief River about half the way and the other half by the Red Lake River just below the point where the two meet, was selected by the Indian Chief Moose Dung in 1863 and granted to him by the U. S. as pay for the part he took in perfecting arrangements for a treaty with the Indians by which they ceeded a large piece of their territory to the United Sates.

The original plat of Thief River Falls adjoined this Chief's section and to-day a large part of that section is within the city limits.

The fact that an Indian Chief picked out this particular section of land when he had more than a thousand to choose from, is good evidence to show that the place was one of strategic importance.

It was there that the Sioux of Dakota and the Chippewas of Minnesota joined in their great Sun Dance each year, and recounted their experiences and deeds of valor and by tradition perpetuated their history.

While the Indians are not a literary people, no one will deny that they knew their hunting grounds and the places where their people met most easily. The history of the United States shows that many of its great cities have been built where Indians were out to congregate.

The land upon which Thief River Falls stands was first surveyed in 1879.

In 1880, Frank Russell, who had married in Dakota, a Cree Squaw, came here and camped near the junction of the two rivers on the reservation. He was driven off by the Chippewas, when he located as a squatter, and built a log house in a grove at the west end of the iron bridge, but the following year he sold his improvements to John Baptiste La Bree for a white cow, a light wagon, $60 in cash and the promise of two lots when the ground should be platted. Mr. La Bree made final proof and on Nov. 17, 1882, deeded the farm to Carl Kretzschmar who had it platted, and the plat recorded August 21, 1883. Mr. Kretzschmar was born in Germany and as a cook catered to the taste of the renowned Bismarck. He was one of the earliest settlers at Fergus Falls, Crookston and Red Lake Falls, Minn., was a townsite proprietor at Crookston and Red Lake Falls, and always an energetic worker and a generous giver for the promotion of the interests of the town where he lived. He was a builder to the extent of his means and always had the most perfect confidence in the future of Thief River Falls. He was the first president of the village and later was mayor of the city.

Shortly after filing the plat of Thief River Falls, Mr. Kretzschmar conveyed an interest in the property to Sarah La Bree, wife of John Baptiste La Bree, and the La Bree family continued to live on the land for many years. Mr. La Bree was a typical pioneer. He was a man of the western plains in his younger days, and was the first marshal of Crookston, Minnesota; and courageous enough to maintain civilization up to the line of an Indian Reservation. He was rough in speech and dress; but he was kind hearted and generous towards his white brethren. For some years he kept a trading post here where the Indians exchanged their furs and snake root for merchandise. He erected a very large log house that was open to all comers, and there are many people to testify to the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. La Bree. They reared a family of twelve children and their son Jonas was probably the first white child born where Thief River Falls stands.

On Nov. 15th, 1881, George Maxfield filed on the NE. ¼, SW. ¼ and Lots 2, 3 and 4 of Section 33 Twpt. 154 N. of R. 43 W., containing 155.75 acres. But his claim was contested by William G. Porter in 1883, and a bitter struggle followed for two and a half years; gun powder was poured down Porter's stove pipe and his stove blown to atoms and his brother Christopher so badly injured that he carries the mark to this day; and other desperate means were used to drive Porter away; but he was perfectly fearless, and, in November 1880, was permitted to enter the land. In July 1888, he platted lots two and three of this claim as Porter's Addition to Thief River Falls, and all the business part and most of the residence portion of the city on the west side of the river to-day are upon the La Bree and Porter claims.

Mr. Porter was born in Ohio and came to Minnesota when a boy. He came to Red Lake Falls, Minn., in 1880 as a laboring man. He was strictly honest and generous and had a host of friends who cheered him in latter years of his life when he was bravely and cheerfully combating a stomach trouble that cut him down in 1900.

In 1882, James Warner filed a pre-emption on some government lots in sections 33 and 34 just across the Red Lake River from the La Bree claim and in 1888 sold to Wiley Tindolph who soon after platted the land and called it Red Lake Rapids.

Dennis Connely settled on land in said section 34 in 1883 and afterwards platted Connely's first, second and third additions. In Red Lake Rapids, Knox's addition and Connely's addition a population of over 1500 people have their homes; and altogether that part of the city is indeed a very pretty residence portion; commonly it is called "The East Side." Mr. Connely came from Canada directly to this place and owns a farm of 320 acres adjoining the city that is one of the finest farms in the county. Mr. and Mrs. Connely have always taken a prominent part in church matters and have reared a family of six children. Mrs. Connely was clerk of the school district and Mr. Connely held different town offices in the early days; but both are better known for their generous hospitality than on account of any official acts.

Messrs. C. Anderson and John Hemmingsen also took claims in section 33, which completes the roll of the early settlers upon the present town site. The former early disposed of his claim, while the latter lived to rear a large family on his. He was a large hearted, public spirited man, freely contributing of his means to every enterprise for the public weal.

Patrol Steps up War on Violators to Cut Accidents

Two major changes in the operational policy of the state highway patrol, to expand and intensify its enforcement activities as a weapon against Minnesota's increasingly serious traffic problem, were announced today by Earl M. Larimer, newly appointed highway safety director and former chief of the patrol. The appointment of Larimer, effective July 1, was announced last Friday by Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann and concurred in by Governor C. Elmer Anderson.

After conferences with Governor Anderson and Commissioner Hoffmann, Mr. Larimer disclosed that the highway patrol is:

Placing a number of patrolmen in plain cars, with no distinguishing external markings, insignia, lights or radio aerials, to "crack down" on motorists who willfully violate the traffic laws when they think that no enforcement officer is in sight.

Putting into service some 40 additional patrol cars to be operated day and night by single patrolmen, at times and locations which previously have had to be covered by two-man teams.

Both measures will be in effect over the July Fourth holiday weekend—and from then on!

The two measures, Director Larimer said, will tremendously increase the law enforcement coverage of the existing patrol personnel. They mark a determination to redouble the organization's efforts to "bear down hard" on the 10 or 15 per cent of the motorists who wilfully disregard traffic regulations and common sense driving rules and constitute a constant hazard to the other 85 or 90 per cent of the motorists on the highways.

Patrolmen taking to the roads in the plain, unmarked cars will be shifted over night, or at any hour of the day, from one area to another whenever special enforcement problems arise or a high frequency of either accidents or law violations occurs.

The splitting up of two-man patrol teams, in order to place many more Patrol cars on the highways, has been made practicable by the completion of the new statewide two-way radio network. Prior to the installation of the net work it was considered impractical and dangerous under many situations for a highway patrolman to work alone, particularly at night. But with the new radio facilities now available an officer in a one-man car who encounters a particularly dangerous or threatening situation can radio to his nearest headquarters station and to other Patrol cars working in the area, and within a short time be assured of whatever help is necessary.
